'THIRD DEGREE' IS DENOUNCED BY WICKERSHAM

Expert Raps Police Methods Here.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The Wickersham commission denounced the police of the nation for employing what it termed systematic, brutal third degree methods in the handling of prisoners arrested or taken in custody for criminal offenses.

The commission asserted that its investigations had disclosed that organized police brutality is practiced to some degree in cities and rural districts of half the nation.

Chicago and nine other cities were cited prominently as communities where police methods were used by police sometimes by prosecutors sometimes to extract statements or confessions from prisoners held in connection with unsolved crimes.

Physical brutality, torture, illegal detention, protracted questionings by relays of policemen, the wearing down of prisoners by depriving them of food and sleep, and refusal to allow prisoners access to counsel were among the "third degree" charged against not only the big police forces, but also police systems in small and rural communities.

Urges an Amendment.

The commission asserted that it considered its duty to be that of laying "before the naked, ugly facts"—not the public, so that public opinion could be mobilized to stamp out the practices.

It urged new legislation or a constitutional amendment to eliminate completely the relative of the fundamental principle of constitutional liberty as it is now described."

The Wickersham report asserted that the third degree is "thoroughly rotten" in both Chicago and New York. While stating that some diminution of third degree practices has been noted at Chicago, the commission declared that New York police methods were among worst in the nation. In New York Mayor Walker and other municipal officials evidently approve the use of third degree practices, the report said.

Work of Three Lawyers.

The commission's findings were included in a voluminous report on "Lawlessness in Law Enforcement," which represented the work principally of three lawyers employed by the commission—Zechariah Chaffee Jr., of Harvard university and Waller H. Pollak and Carl S. Stern of New York, assisted by numerous investigators. It cited court records and newspaper accounts of illegal police methods and of instances of "mistreated" criminal suspects.

In addition to its assault on the third degree, the commission assailed what it termed "unfairness in prosecution" by district attorneys and police. It also criticized present day court procedure as affording too many loopholes for the escape of guilty persons. To eliminate technicalities that aid the accused and make prosecution certain, the commission urged that congress write a new code of criminal procedure to meet these evils.

Would Serve as Model.

"Such a code might serve as a model for many of the states whose criminal codes especially favorable to criminals for the failure of criminal justice," says the commission.

Although lawlessness by police and prosecutors was flayed by the commission no mention was made of the alleged activities of federal and state prohibition and customs agents whose "third degree" activities and invasion of homes without warrants often has been the subject of condemnation in congress. The commission also refused to review the Mooney-Billings case, stating that inability to examine witnesses, and the circumstance that two of the men accused in the San Francisco Preparedness day bombing case now are asking a pardon made action by the commission inadvisable.

The investigators reported instances of police use of the third degree in the following cities:

Boston, Birmingham, Buffalo, Camden, N. J.; Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Denver, Detroit, Kansas City, Kan.; Kansas City, Mo.; Kenosha, Wis.; Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Newark, New Orleans, New York, Oakland, Cal.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Philadelphia, Richmond, Va.; St. Joseph, Mo.; St. Louis, San Francisco, Seattle, Wash., and Wichita Falls, Tex. Washington, and West Allis, Wis.

Of Chicago the commission report says:

WILL THIS EVER HAPPEN?

Prodigal Home in Glad Rags on High Horse

Franz Dunbar, a prodigal son who returned unrepentant and arrayed in glad raiment, had the tongues wagging yesterday in the town of Plano, in Kendall county. While the folks gossiped, Franz pitched oats with a threshing crew on his father's farm, four miles from town.

Queries as to his whereabouts since the morning of April 13, 1925, when he kissed his bride of two months, climbed into his flivver and vanished, he met with a tart "None of your business" and a suggestive shifting of his pitchfork. Meanwhile his wife was in tears, for since his return her husband has refused to speak to her.

A Triumphant Entry.

Saturday evening Franz galloped down the main street of Plano on a fine black horse. He wore brilliant cowboy regalia, chaps, ten gallon hat, boots, and spurs. He pulled up with a flourish before a cigar store, tossed the reins over his steed's head, stopped to buy a sack of "makings" and cigaret papers, and rode out of the town.

The returning husband met his wife, Agnes, and her mother on the road east of Plano. Mrs. Dunbar, who had given him up for dead, shrieked at the sight of him and fainted. He glanced casually at her, and rode on. He reached his father's farm, and met his father, Robert Dunbar, in the front yard.

"All the chores done, Dad?" he asked. His father said that they were.

"Well, I guess I'll put up my horse then," he said.

When he entered the house he greeted his mother and younger brother "as if he had left them only yesterday," his father said. On other subjects he talked freely, but when asked where he had been he left the room.

Franz's wife and her sister arrived at the farmhouse. He nodded pleasantly to them, but showed no particular interest in their presence and ignored their questions.

Father Is Baffled.

"Franz seems to act as though he hadn't been gone at all," said the father. "I can't understand it. Whether he's lived a blank life these three years, or just doesn't want to talk about himself, I can't figure out. I don't know any more about it than any one else."

Young Dunbar, who is 28 years old, was considered a model youth. He didn't drink or smoke. The morning he disappeared he arose at dawn, kissed his wife, and went out to do the farm chores. When she went downstairs to get breakfast she found the kitchen fire burning, but no sign of her husband.

TWO PLAY CARDS TILL THEY FREEZE TO DEATH IN ALPS

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, Aug. 10.—Scharzenstein mountain, one of the highest peaks in the Austrian Tyrolese Alps, today yielded the strange history of a 12 year old tragedy when two bodies as fresh and peaceful as those of men fallen asleep were found and tonight identified by the brother of one of the deceased as those of two prominent Viennese, Prof. Koban of Vienna university and Dr. Anlauf, an accountant of the Austrian National bank.

On the sunny afternoon of Sept. 8, 1919, the two men set out to ascend Scharzenstein and were never seen again until today. After several days searching parties were sent out. The closest examination of the whole area revealed only the men's names entered in the record book on the peak of Scharzenstein. Obviously they disappeared in the course of the descent.

The bodies now have been discovered lying in a hollow in the mountainside. Beneath a coating of ice they lay, between them an incompleted hand of whist with the stump of a candle which had burned to the socket. The tragedy is thus easily reconstructed. The two were overtaken by a violent storm which continued until their provisions and alcohol were exhausted. Knowing the fatality of yielding to the incessant demand for sleep amidst falling snow, they lit their last candle and played cards desperately while endeavoring to keep awake, but white death silently overwhelmed them.

EVANSTON JAIL CELLS FLOODED BY RAINSTORM

A heavy rainstorm that began in Chicago shortly before 10 o'clock last evening continued with slight intervals until after midnight. In parts of the city and the northern suburbs basements were flooded and several trees were hurled down by the wind and rain.

In Evanston the cells of the police station were flooded by water backing up through drain pipes. At least a dozen Evanstonians asked for assistance in pumping out their basements. Estimates placed the amount of rainfall at considerably more than an inch during a two hour period. Some hail was reported and there were brilliant flashes of lightning.

The temperature fell ten degrees to 65 between 9 and 10 p. m. The official forecast indicated that mostly fair skies will prevail today, with comparatively low temperatures. Tomorrow is expected to be fair and warmer.

$25,000 Loot Taken in Home on Gold Coast

Burglars late last night ransacked the home of Carroll E. Gray Jr., president of the Central Republic company, the investment affiliate of the Central Republic Bank & Trust company, at 229 Lake Shore drive, and looted it of all the gems and other valuables they could find. Early this morning Mrs. Gray was unable to give a complete list of all the articles stolen, but she said: "They took everything—I have nothing left for them to come back for."

The last remark was occasioned by the fact that the Gray home, then at 2648 Lake View avenue, was robbed just two years ago of jewelry and silverware valued at $35,000.

Loss at Least $25,000.

After a hurried survey of the disarray in her rooms left by the thieves, Mrs. Gray estimated her loss at not less than $25,000. Mr. Gray is in New York on a business trip, and she said she could not determine what valuables belonging to him were gone.

Mrs. Gray and her daughter, Jane, 14 years old, left their 14 room apartment on the tenth floor of the hotel at 8:30 o'clock to go to a movie. They returned home at midnight and found that practically the entire place had been ransacked. Rugs were overturned, drawers pulled out and thrown about, and furniture upset.

Two diamond rings, valued at $8,000 each, and a bracelet valued at $9,000, which she had left on a dresser, were gone.

Police Start Investigation.

The police were immediately notified and Sergts. John McGinnis and Harry Johnston of the Chicago avenue station were sent to the Gray home. A window was open from the fire escape into Mr. Gray's bedroom, but the police were uncertain whether the burglars had entered that way or had come up the elevator. To have gained entry by way of the elevator they would have had to pass the clerk in the office, it was pointed out.

Mrs. Gray said early this morning that after their heavy loss by burglary two years ago they had moved into the big apartment hotel believing they would be safe ten floors up and with fire escapes supposed to be burglar proof.

CHILDREN AND WOMEN DIE IN CROSSING CRASH

Waukegan Rd. Scene of Tragedy.

Two women, two men and three children were killed shortly before 6 p. m. yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad train on the Waukegan road crossing at the south edge of the village of Glenview. There have been numerous fatal accidents at this crossing.

The dead:

Bruno Woods, 23 years old, 3336 West 32d place, the driver.

Mrs. Helen Woods, 22 years old, wife of Bruno.

David Woods, 7 months old, their son.

Joseph Rutkowski, 29 years old, 2433 Grove street, Milwaukee.

Mrs. Martha Rutkowski, 29 years old, wife of Joseph.

Henry Rutkowski, 2 years old, their son.

Dolores Rutkowski, 7 years old, their daughter.

Identification of the dead was made in Glenview late last night by Walter Diterouckf, 3023 Fisk street, father of Bruno Woods. He said that his son had changed his name some years ago. He added that Mrs. Rutkowski was an aunt of Mrs. Woods.

Six Others Meet Death.

Six other automobile fatalities were recorded in Cook county yesterday, bringing the total for 1931, with the seven deaths at Glenview, to 689.

The Woods car was bound south. As it approached the crossing Woods slowed down. His motor, according to witnesses, stalled on the northbound track. The train, which left Western avenue for a nonstop run to Deerfield, was approaching from the southeast—the tracks cross the highway at an angle—at a speed estimated at 60 miles an hour.

Try to Save Children.

Both men jumped out of the car. They might have saved themselves, but they were still striving to pull out the panic stricken women and the children who were in the rear seat of the new maroon colored sedan when the engine struck them.

Woods and the other man were killed at the spot. One of the women and the boy were carried perhaps a hundred feet. The other woman and the little girl were swept for twice that distance and the body of the helpless infant was picked up at least two blocks from the scene of the crash. The automobile was converted into a mass of wreckage.

An investigation by Chief of Police Roy Miller of Glenview and by the county highway police indicated that the driver of the car had failed to pay attention to the flash warning signs at the crossings. There are no gates at this grade. Had his motor not stalled, however, it appeared to the onlookers that he would have had ample time to make a perilous passage in time to avoid being struck.

Returning from Milwaukee.

Relatives of the Woods family said that Bruno and his wife left their Chicago home Sunday to visit in Milwaukee. They were expected back this evening.

Woods was a night watchman and Rutkowski, it is believed, was a brakeman employed by the Chicago and North Western railroad. A union card indicating this was found in one of his pockets.

The license found in the wreck of the new sedan had been issued to Woods for a car of another make. His relatives said that he had changed the license plate to the new one, which he purchased only a month or two ago.

SIX OTHERS KILLED

The six additional victims of automobiles were:

Martin Clemente, 23 years old, 4147 Potomac avenue, killed when an automobile in which he was riding with Lowell Smith of Derby, Conn., collided with another driven by Robert Laznovsky, 5118 North Tripp avenue, at Elston and Miltmore avenues. Smith and Laznovsky were not hurt.

John Lietzan, 73 years old, 2254 Lewis street, fatally injured when he was struck in front of 2256 Southport avenue by a car driven by Morris Kling, 1119 North Harding avenue. He

BULLETIN.

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed on the north coast of the Seward peninsula about 11 p. m. last night (3 a. m. Chicago daylight saving time), today, after leaving Point Barrow at 11:53 p. m., Chicago time.

Messages received here did not give the exact location of the landing place, but indicated it was somewhere on Kotzebue sound. Hence the flying couple fell short of Nome, their immediate destination, by about 75 miles. Nome is on the south coast of the Seward peninsula. Advices said the Lindbergs planned to come here in the daylight.

Although first information did not give the cause of the landing, it was believed here that fog, which had settled over Nome, extended up the coast, and they came down rather than risk coming into a heavier bank later.

POINT BARROW, Alaska, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, the flying vacationers, turned their plans to the southwest today from this ice-locked post and resumed their flight to the orient by taking off for Nome at 11:53 p. m. [Chicago daylight saving time]. An hour after the plane left Mrs. Lindbergh radioed everything was "O. K." aboard.

The take-off was three days and two nights after the Lindberghs arrived here early Saturday from Aklavik, N. W. T., an almost equal distance to the southeast at the mouth of the Mackenzie river. The delay at Aklavik was nearly of similar length.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh were eager to continue their journey, they said before taking off, although residents here have outdone themselves in entertaining the distinguished visitors.

Clear Weather Reported.

A last minute weather report from Nome, with observations at 8 p. m., said the weather was clear, with a 16 mile an hour west wind. During the last twelve hours .18 of an inch of rain had fallen, but the skies had cleared there tonight.

Nearly the entire population of this settlement, eight whites and several hundred Eskimos, were on the banks of the lagoon when the plane lifted from the water.

Search Sea for Cramer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 10.—A squadron of Danish seaplanes and a fleet of ships today scoured nearby seas in search of Parker Cramer, Chicago flyer, and his companion, Oliver Pacquette, who took off yesterday from the Shetland islands and failed to reach Copenhagen. Grave fears are felt that the men have perished in the Cattegat, where searchers said the sea was so choppy that it probably would have destroyed their plane, had they landed there.

A squadron of Norwegian marine planes today searched the Skargaard from Oslo to Bergen, but found no trace of the plane. Tomorrow a big air cruiser, placed at disposal of the Copenhagen reception committee by the German Lufthansa, will search over the North sea.

Cramer was last heard of late yesterday afternoon, when a ship picked up a radio signal but could not make out the weak message.

Flyers Hop for Honduras.

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Hours after the takeoff it was discovered today that Capt. Lisandro Garay was making a nonstop flight to Tegucigalpa, Honduras.

The flyer had fuel enough for 0 hours in the air, or until 9 o'clock tonight [Chicago time]. He expected to make the 2,300 mile flight in about 24 hours, but when that time had elapsed he had not yet been reported.

ALL CUBA ARMS FOR CIVIL WAR; 15 DIE IN BATTLE

Island to Go Under Martial Law.

BULLETIN.

HAVANA, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Between 50 and 60 rebels late tonight were reported to be surrounded by government forces in the Guanabacoa section, a suburb of Havana, and soldiers and rural guards were awaiting a favorable moment to attack.

BY DEAN SANBORN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Aug. 10.—Faced by a revolution which, although first regarded as a minor uprising, now threatens to throw the entire island into open civil war, the government of President Machado took radical steps tonight.

The government announced that unless former President Menocal, Col. Mendieta and other rebel leaders capitulate by 4 o'clock tomorrow morning, they will be officially declared in rebellion and subject to prosecution by the army.

Plans to Suppress Revolt.

Meanwhile President Machado called a conference of his civil and military advisors. He was warned by captured rebels that Gen. Balderme Acosta, mayor of Marianao and one of the leaders of the rebellion in Pinar del Rio, planned an invasion of Havana province. The president also was harassed by outbreaks in other parts of his dominion and so called a conference of his civil and military advisors. Surrounded by the cabinet members and outstanding public men, he began drafting secret stragetic plans to quash the revolutionary movement.

Hundreds of prominent Cubans, alleged by the government to be friends of the revolutionary leaders, have been arrested and charged with treason. They are lodged in the Cabanas prison.

Planes Bomb Fleeing Ships.

Reports received tonight stated that army planes early this evening bombed several craft which were attempting to escape navy patrol ships off Port Santa Lucia on the north coast of Pinar del Rio.

Meanwhile, nine revolutionists and one corporal of the rural guard were killed at Guanabacao, east of Havana, during an engagement between a force of rebels, whose strength was not known, and loyal troops. Six persons were wounded.

In a clash between rebels and soldiers late today near San Miguel del Padrone, Havana province, five revolutionists were killed. The fight lasted for an hour. The rebels fled, leaving their dead on the field, but none was captured. No casualties were reported among the soldiers.

Capt. Gonzales Lanuza of the national army informed headquarters at 3 p. m. that troops under his command opened fire on a small group of rebels at farms known as Coca and Santa Teresa, two miles off Arroyo Arenas. None was injured but two prisoners were captured. The rebels dispersed. Another clash was reported at San Nicolas, near Guines, in Havana province, where soldiers fired on a group or rebels, wounding one and capturing five prisoners.

Arm Private Yachts.

Working with all possible speed in an effort to form an army and navy capable of putting down the revolt, the government was mobilizing available troops in the troubled areas. Private yachts, confiscated to form an emergency navy of patrol boats, are being armed with 18 pound cannon.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the house of representatives sanctioned President Machado's urgent request for immediate suspension of individual constitutional rights in all provinces of the island. The senate will meet to approve the measure and every official report at the palace indicates that all Cuba will be under martial law early tomorrow morning.

Latest reports indicate that the president will get no sleep tonight, as plans to combat the revolt are rushed with all possible speed. As early as possible in the morning he will sign the martial law measure and the document will be published in an extra edition of the official gazette, becoming effective immediately.

Military Takes Command.

All civil authorities will officially turn over their powers to the army representatives shortly after 8 o'clock in the morning, in accordance with the declaration of martial law in Havana City, Havana province and the province of Pinar del Rio.

The city and province of Havana are actually already under military control, President Machado having signed at 2 o'clock this afternoon decrees appointing Col. Frederico del Risco as commander in chief of Havana and province, and Col. Manuel Benitez as supreme commander of Pinar del Rio.

Nine hundred troops have hurriedly been mobilized in Pinar del Rio, and today occupy strategical locations along the 500 mile coast line, ready to repulse any further attempts at invasion from the sea.

Secretary of Communications Manuel Delgado ordered an emergency inspection of all telegraphic, wireless and telephone lines owned by the government, and later reported to the president that all are ready for transmission of all urgent dispatches. As an extra precaution, a day and night guard, composed of expert radio telegraphic experts, has been ordered.

The department of war and navy reported that the cruiser Cuba came into Havana early this morning, loaded up with coal and immediately sailed for an unknown destination. Its commander, Capt. Pedro Gallego, is acting under sealed orders to be opened on the high seas.

Orders Airplane Patrol.

Col. Julio Sanguily, chief of the army flying corps, today ordered every available plane to keep on constant patrol along the south coast, especially in Pinar del Rio, and for several miles out at sea, in search of both Cuban and foreign organized filibustering expeditions.

Reports received from army quarters in Oriente, Camagüey, Santa Clara, and Matanzas indicate complete order in all cities and towns, although extreme precautions have been taken. All roads leading to Havana are under heavy military control and all travelers are being searched for concealed weapons and documents.

At 6 o'clock tonight Col. Risco, military governor of Havana, issued the following orders for the governing of the city under martial law:

Military Orders.

1. All rebels who surrender their arms and give up to the military authorities in Havana province before midnight of Aug. 11 will be exempt from prosecution, with the exception of leaders of the revolt.

2. All police forces will continue in service as heretofore, although under military command.

3. Officers and privates of organized militia organizations will be subject to court martial along with other rebels, and any groups composed of 12 members or more which takes up arms against the government will be treated as an organized revolutionary force.

4. All individuals found in places frequented by organized rebels will be considered as traitors and tried by court martial.

Bar Crowds in Havana.

5. Gathering of more than three persons in one group is forbidden in Havana, and no one may leave or enter Havana city limits after 6 o'clock at night without a special military pass.

Reports late tonight indicate that Menocal, Mendieta and others are on board a yacht and navigating towards Chaparra, Oriente, where Menocal has a large number of followers. He was at one time general manager of the Chaparra sugar mill, the largest sugar factory in the world.

Cuba Mobilizes to Quell Revolt

President Machado announced last night that unless former President Menocal and other leaders of the Cuban revolutionary move capitulated by 4 a. m. today they would be considered rebels and the army would move on them. Arrow indicates Nipe; from where many of Menocal's followers are reported ready to march on Havana.

JURORS QUESTION 4 CAPTAINS IN POLICE INQUIRY

Four police captains were questioned last night by the special grand jury which for months has been investigating charges of graft and corruption in Chicago and Cook county administrations. They were David Fitzgerald, of the Morgan Park district; John L. Hogan, of Hyde Park; Dennis Malloy, of the East Side, and Hugn McCarthy, of Town Hall.

All but Capt. McCarthy had been previously questioned by the grand jury or one of its committees. When the session was over J. A. Farmar, foreman, said that Capt. McCarthy had not been asked about the incident of last Thursday when he was reported to have been found in a speakeasy by raiders from the state's attorney's office.

Authentic information indicated that the special investigation is rapidly drawing to a close. There were reports that the inquiry into captains' bank accounts would be finished this week. Sixteen of the district commanders already have been given clean records. Fifteen investigators working for the special grand jury were dismissed last Friday.

EARL FEARS TAXES WILL COST HIM GLAMIS CASTLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The earl of Strathmore, father of the duchess of York, King George's daughter-in-law, is the latest victim of taxation in England. At a celebration at Glamis castle this week in connection with the celebration of his golden wedding, Lord Strathmore said:

"My fear is that times will become so bad I may no longer be able to remain in residence at the castle.

"I do not think the people realize the enormous burden of taxation, local and imperial. This absorbs $400 out of every $500 I receive. On top of this comes the new land tax and when I think of the total effect of all this I sometimes feel afraid I may have to retire."

VERA CRUZ FIRES CATHOLICS FROM PUBLIC SCHOOLS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10.—The minister of education in the state of Vera Cruz today ordered the dismissal of all teachers in public schools professing the Catholic religion, or attempting to treat religion in any way in both primary and high schools. Arrests continue among priests remaining in the state.

A priest, Francisco Durand, was arrested yesterday, but was released when he proved that he belonged to the so-called "Mexican Catholic church," which is not in sympathy with the Vatican.

Yesterday a church in the village of San Salvador, Acajete, was set afire.

Car Stolen When He Parks It Before Police Station

Constable Leo Gielow of Oak Park parked his new sedan on Lake street, directly in front of the Oak Park police station while he went into the Municipal building to transact some business yesterday. While inside he invited several acquaintances to inspect the new car. When they reached the street the car was gone. A number of writs and other legal documents left in the car also were gone.

DRY AGENTS RAID EIGHT PLACES; 12 ARRESTS MADE

Prohibition agents last night made eight raids and arrested 12 prisoners who will be arraigned today before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker.

The largest plant raided was at 8823 Chestnut street, River Grove. Equipment confiscated included the following: 2,000 gallon recooker, 750 gallon receiving tank containing 200 gallons of alcohol; 1,000 gallon storage tank, containing 250 gallons of alcohol; 135 gallons of alcohol in 5 gallon cans, a 250 gallon condenser and a 200 gallon cooker. Joseph Lattze, 542 Noble street, was arrested as the keeper. He was hiding under the floor boards in the attic.

Other places raided were at 836 East 53d street, one prisoner; 632 Arlington place, two prisoners; 7505 Madison street, Forest Park, one prisoner; 1357 East 63d street, one prisoner; 5000 West 111th street, one prisoner; 5000 West 111th street, one prisoner, and 2313 North Clark street, two prisoners.

WILMETTE MAN IS SHOT DOWN IN MYSTERY ATTACK

Adolph Du Mont, 38 years old, 2008 Central avenue, Wilmette, was shot egrly today by one of five men who assailed him at Wilmette avenue and Main street, not far from his home. A bullet shattered his left arm near the shoulder.

At the Evanston hospital Du Mont said that the men, riding in a large blue sedan, followed his automobile for several blocks before forcing him to the curb. They then ordered him to ride with them. The shooting occurred when he resisted. Du Mont professed to be ignorant of the motive of his attackers.

SEEK TO SETTLE MOVIE LOCKOUT AT PARLEY TODAY

Swanson to Be Arbiter if Meeting Fails.

An attempt to settle the differences between the owners of 104 neighborhood movie houses in and about Chicago and the motion picture operators' union will be made at an arbitration conference today. The theaters closed Sunday night, locking out 5,000 employes, because the union refused to relax its rule requiring two operators at each theater.

Swanson Ready to Act.

Tentative arrangements for the meeting were completed last night following a confesence between State's Attorney Swanson and officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor, at which the labor leaders proposed arbitration. Representatives of both Saperstein and Maloy agreed to meet, although neither would discuss concessions. Mr. Swanson said he would act as conciliator in case the direct negotiations fail.

While the neighborhood theaters were dark last night, they were watched by the police. No disorders or violence were reported. Signs were posted at most of them attributing the closing to "unfair demands of the operators' union." The larger theaters in the loop and outlying districts, which have a separate contract with the operators, have not been affected by the controversy.

The trouble in the closed theaters centers upon an alleged contract, expiring next January, whereby, the union officials say, each theater must employ two operators at $90 to $175 per week. The exhibitors disagree with this interpretation of the contract and contend that they can no longer employ two operators.

Not Fight on Labor.

"This is not a fight against organized labor and we do not contemplate the employment of nonunion labor," Saperstein said. "In some of the smaller theaters the owners may try to operate their own machines, but the majority of the exhibitors are permanently through unless the union yields. They have been losing money for more than a year and they are not philanthropists."

Saperstein declared that 12,000 theaters in the United States are using only one operator. He denied the statements of union officials that it is dangerous for one man alone to handle a projection machine.

Called Attack on Union.

Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, one of the spokesmen for Maloy at the Swanson meeting, said the union looks upon the exhibitors' action as "an attempt to put the open shop in Chicago theaters." He described the alleged contract as valid and binding. Although the union is willing to make and has made some concessions, including a week's work free in June, he said, it is not willing to abandon the contract.

In the group which called on the state's attorney were John Fitzpatrick, president of the labor federation; Patrick F. Sullivan, head of the Building Trades council; Attorney Benjamin F. Feldman, representing Maloy. Assistant State's Attorneys Charles E. Lounsbury and Charles A. Bellows, who obtained the recent indictments against the movie union heads, also were present.

"We hope that an arbitration conference which we have planned will result in an agreement," said Mr. Swanson. "I have promised to help iron out the trouble if the conference makes no headway. Meanwhile, the public may be sure the theaters will be protected."

During the afternoon a group of the exhibitors headed by Mr. Saperstein and W. A. Steffes, national president of the association, called at Mayor Cermak's office. They said they wished to ask the mayor for protection of the closed theaters, properties worth $25,000,000. They departed, however, without seeing the mayor.

Draw Charges Against Maloy.

Spokesmen for the exhibitors denied that they sought the dismissal of Joseph Maloy, brother of Thomas, who is in charge of the city bureau licensing motion picture operators. The brothers were among those indicted recently on charges of racketeering.

Later in the day Mayor Cermak let it be known that formal civil service charges against Joseph Maloy have been drawn up, but have not been signed. The charges went from the hands of William Jackson, commissioner of gas and electricity, whose signature they await, to the corporation counsel, who sent them to the mayor. Mr. Cermak sent them back to the corporation counsel.

"This is a matter for the department head," the mayor explained. It was understood that the corporation counsel would rerefer the charges to Commissioner Jackson with approval as to their legal form.

MANY LIVES LOST AS FLOODS BURY MEXICAN TOWNS

TAMPICO, Mexico, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Heavy loss of life was reported in floods which struck Tampico today for the second time in ten days. Continuous rains caused the Panuco river to overflow, entirely submerging 30 villages along that and the Tamesi and Tempoal rivers. A large section of Tampico is already under water and inhabitants are being taken to safety in boats.

The greatest disaster occurred at Tempoal, Vera Cruz, when the Tempoal river suddenly overflowed last night, drowning many of the inhabitants who were caught as they endeavored to reach safety on the surrounding hills.

Thousands of inhabitants of villages inundated by the Tamesi river have taken refuge in trees and on housetops. The Red Cross of Tampico has sent launches to their rescue. A survivor who arrived here today said he saw several persons perish when the flood waters uprooted a tree in which they were perched. Disorders are feared at the town of Panuco, where thousands of refugees have congregated and where a food shortage has resulted. Part of the town is inundated.

PRESIDENT LETS 57TH BIRTHDAY GO UNOBSERVED

Strain of Office Shows in Hoover's Face.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—President Hoover celebrated his 57th birthday today by disregarding it. He did permit himself a more leisurely start from his Rapidan camp, getting back to Washington shortly before noon. But the rest of the day was the routine of work, conferences, and callers, with not even a table full of guests for dinner.

Mrs. Hoover hurried back from the dedication of the navy's new airship at Akron to be with the President. Surprise was occasioned by the lack of any celebration, as Mr. Hoover's birthday was the occasion for a party last year. So many inquiries were made as to the day's plans that the White House staff found it necessary to announce officially that nothing out of the ordinary would take place.

Balked in Passing Hoover Car.

The one eventful happening of the day occurred during the trip from the Rapidan camp to Washington, when a young woman tried to pass the President's car in violation of the secret service's self-established rule that no car shall pass the President from the rear. Blocked by the secret service car, she persisted for thirty miles, succeeding only when Warrenton, Va., was reached and the presidential party turned off on a side street for a short halt.

The President is a bit grayer; there are more lines of care in his face than there were a year ago today, but otherwise he is physically fit—perhaps more so than when he assumed the Presidency, March 4, 1929.

Before entering the White House Mr. Hoover was prone to pudginess, phlegmatic living and irregular habits of eating and sleeping. As secretary of commerce he worked at all hours, took no exercise, ate when he felt like it largely and hastily.

Observes Routine Schedule.

On becoming President he was warned of the grief ahead of him and the tremendous drain about to be made on his vitality. Mr. Hoover set up a schedule and has stuck to it. Up at 6:15 each morning, he reaches his desk at 8:30, works until lunch at 12:15, leaves his office at 4, dines at 8, and retires at 10:30.

In search of an efficient form of exercise he was recommended to try medicine ball. He dislikes it but takes a vigorous round of it every morning. By virtue of this regimen, he has reduced his weight from 210 to the neighborhood of 187. His waistline is smaller and his face firmer. His recuperative powers are unusual, even though his chronic trouble of insomnia still remains with him.

At 57, President Hoover looks back on a year of stress and forward to another one.

Says John Drury about Henrici's in his inimitable book, "Dining in Chicago," which is the most authentic guide to good foods properly served and, moreover, now is a "best seller":

"This grand old temple of the culinary art is known from coast to coast . . . Small wonder that Henrici's should be the gathering place of local and national celebrities . . . Theatrical stars have established a midnight rendezvous here. A la carte and reasonable."

The above and much more about Chicago's oldest and best restaurant you will find on pages 58 to 61 of that well-informed and competent writer's most interesting contribution to the current records of Chicago's accomplishments in the fine arts of cooking and serving.

BERLIN PADLOCKS HEADQUARTERS OF COMMUNISTS

Police Use Rubber Clubs on Mob in Streets.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—German communists today felt the wrath of the republican government as the result of yesterday's riots, when a mob of Berlin Reds fired on police in mass formation, resulting in at least sixteen deaths and fifty wounded.

First of all, police padlocked the headquarters of communism in Germany. A heavy guard of police was thrown about the Karl Liebknecht house in Bulow Platz, the scene of yesterday's bloodshed. At the same time the communist newspaper Rote Fahne [Red Flag] was suspended for two weeks.

This followed an emergency decree, ordered by President Paul von Hindenburg, banning all open air meetings in the Bulow Platz area. Violation of this decree will mean three months' imprisonment.

Police Wield Rubber Clubs.

Tonight police again massed at the scene of yesterday's pitched battle. The police searched houses for suspects and tore down Red bunting from communist headquarters. The officers used rubber clubs freely when crowds gathered and refused to heed the warning to "keep moving!"

Another riot occurred today at Neukoln, where a mob of communists raided Fascist headquarters. Four persons were reported critically wounded. The interior of the building was reduced to wreckage in the fight.

Berlin police have offered rewards totaling more than $5,000 for information leading to the arrest of the communists who started the Bulow Platz riot.

Rioting Is Gratified.

The failure of the radical extremists to overthrow the Prussian government at yesterday's plebiscite and in fact their effort was so hopeless was greeted with gratification by Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius upon their return today from Rome.

The chancellor issued the following statement:

"Most important of all is that 3,000,000 more Prussians voted for the plebiscite than voted for the opposition parties last September. That would seem to indicate that the radical wave is ebbing. It is interesting to note that in the large industrial centers the progression of radicalism is most marked. Things move more slowly out in the country, on the farms, and in the little communities."

The German statesmen were the butts of Fascist hoodlums on their trip through Germany, it was learned today. Fascists, both saddened and angered at the plebiscite vote, gathered at several railroad stations en route and shouted "Germany awake" as the chancellor's sleeping car rolled by.

According to dispatches from Munich, Adolf Hitler's Fascist headquarters tonight blamed the defeat in the plebiscite on the communists, who, they charge, "almost unanimously swept away from the polls."

Members of the Reichsbank will meet tomorrow evening, when it is expected that they will vote to reduce the discount rate from 15 to 10 per cent. Financial circles tonight are predicting that the Berlin bourse will reopen next Monday.

Youth Stabs 2 Policemen.

DORTMUND, Germany, Aug. 10.—A traffic policeman was seriously injured tonight when a youth drove a long dagger into his back, shouting, "This is from the starving people!" The youth stabbed another policeman through the hand before he was overpowered.

FRANCE IS HAPPY

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 10.—"Now we can go to Berlin."

That is the official reaction of France today to the crushing defeat in yesterday's plebiscite, by which radicals had hoped to dissolve the Prussian diet. The French spokesmen might add "and to Geneva," for while it cannot be said that the favorable result of the plebiscite is alone sufficient to induce France to disarm, an unfavorable result would have doomed the Geneva conference before it started. Instead of disarmament, there would have been feverish intensification of armaments and the massing of French troops close to the German border such as has not been seen since the war.

Feeling today among government officials and the press is just what it was at the close of the historic Bruening-Laval interview, with the added force that that embryonic accord had survived about the worst test it could have to face and now has more than a fighting chance of growing into a lusty infant.

When the German ministers left here for London it was taken as a matter of course that Premier Laval would return their call shortly. The alarming intensity of the fight against the republican Prussian government nipped all plans for the time being.

Now, it is understood, negotiations will be opened immediately to arrange a visit at the earliest possible date, which will probably be the end of this month.

American Rescues Kin of British Royalty

Lady Louis Mountbatten, whose husband is a cousin of King George V. of England, and who had a narrow escape from drowning at Cap Antibes, France. She attempted to swim to shore from the yacht to her host, Capt. Robert Cunningham Reid, but was seized with cramps. Stephen Sanford, New York clubman and polo player, dived from the deck of the yacht to her assistance and, aided by her brother-in-law, swam with her to shore.

Story of Rescue

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

CAP ANTIBES, Aug. 10.—Friends of Lady Louis Mountbatten today learned she had a narrow escape from drowning last Friday. Stephen Sanford, New York clubman and polo player, is the hero of an extremely timely rescue from the water after Lady Mountbatten was seized with cramps while swimming.

Lady Mountbatten is the guest of Capt. and Mrs. Robert Cunningham Reid at their seashore villa, and a luncheon to which Sanford was invited was given Friday aboard Reid's yacht, anchored about 100 yards offshore. Lady Mountbatten said she had an idea she wanted to swim ashore instead of going in the boat's dingey. But it was too soon after lunch and about half way in she was seized with cramps.

Answering her cries for help, Sanford dove from the yacht's deck fully clothed and swam rapidly toward the spot where Lady Mountbatten was struggling. He was followed closely by her brother-in-law, who aided Sanford in swimming to shore with Lady Mountbatten.

RALPH CHOOSES RUTH, BUT JEAN PAYS, SHE SAYS

Among the things which Mrs. Jean Mucherman of the Viceroy hotel at 4753 Kenmore avenue alleges she gave Ralph Pumphrey, 25 year old automobile salesman, were her affections, two automobiles and the key to the safe deposit box where she kept her money.

She charges that he trifled with the affections, kept one of the automobiles to help along his honeymoon with another girl and used the key to open the safety box and take $1,500. Pumphrey, who has been living recently at 7010 Cregier avenue, was arrested by Sergt. James O'Malley Saturday on a charge of larceny. Yesterday his case was called in the Felony court, but was continued at his request to Sept. 8.

"It was a hard blow," explained Mrs. Mucherman. "I loved that man and I trusted him. We had set the day for the wedding, but I didn't see him after the Sunday before it was to occur. Later I learned he had married Ruth Carney of 7226 Oglesby avenue. The last time I saw Ralph he told me he had used my money to buy Ruth a diamond ring and wedding ring."

Bug Spray on California Celery Poisons Chicagoans

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Two Japanese gardeners of suburban Inglewood received ninety day suspended sentences today in justice court after it was shown a carload of their celery had caused several cases of illness in Chicago because of too liberal use of a bug spray on the plants.

SEIZE CHICAGO MAN IN ST. LOUIS AS EMBEZZLER

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Edward Jordan Andell, 41 years old, until recently assistant to the first vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co. of Chicago, was arrested here tonight on a warrant charging him with embezzling $7,500 from the company. Andell, police said, admitted the embezzlement, but otherwise refused to discuss the case.

"I don't want to waste words in this police station," police quoted him as saying. "When I get back to Chicago I'll only have to tell it all over."

Andell, police said, rented an apartment here last Friday under the name of George Nierderly. In the apartment police found $5,680 in cash, three diamond rings valued at $10,500, seven trunks and seven large boxes, all filled with merchandise. Andell was trailed here by private detectives. He left Chicago July 31 supposedly for a vacation in the north woods, police said.

AUTO STICKER THIEF FINED.

The windshields on which E. R. Buell, 7068 Prairie avenue, had pasted two city vehicle tax stickers which he stole from a mail letter box, were taken before Judge Jay A. Schiller as evidence yesterday. Buell was fined $300 and costs.

TAKE PRECAUTION TO NIP DANGER OF CHILD PARALYSIS

Doctors Here Ask Blood for Serum.

So that Chicago may be ready should an infantile paralysis epidemic, such as the present one in New York, break forth here, a call for volunteers to donate blood for serum purposes was issued yesterday by the Samuel Deutsch Convalescent Serum center of Michael Reese hospital and Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, city health commissioner.

This appeal was directed to persons over ten years old who have suffered from infantile paralysis. Although enough serum is on hand to care for a moderate number of cases, Dr. Bundesen explained, it would in no way meet the demands of an epidemic. The serum center, with the cooperation of the health department and the Visiting Nurse association, he said, had already collected serum to meet the normal summer occurrence of the disease.

Action Only a Precaution.

Chicago is not facing the danger which large centers of the east are confronted, the health commissioner hastened to add, only a few more cases than usual at this time of year having been reported and the whole total for the year not exceeding thirty cases. He did, however, warn physicians to be on the watch for symptoms in the event that the epidemic might be working westward, as has been the case of epidemics in previous years.

The serum center was founded a year ago by the children of the late Samuel Deutsch and is closely affiliated with the Chicago health department. The center, it was pointed out, is the only available source for this serum within 200 miles of Chicago. Physicians are on duty night and day ready to respond to any call for serum, it was explained, or for aid and diagnosis or special examinations.

"Hundreds of persons have donated blood in the past without charge," said Dr. Bundesen. "Some of them have been lame and have had to be carried into the laboratory. There is no harm done to a person from whom blood is extracted and the procedure is painless. The donor is examined and found fit to contribute. Blood is taken from children only with the consent of their parents."

Tells of Symptoms.

Dr. Bundesen went on to stress the importance of watching carefully apparently simple illnesses in children. The serum, he explained, is most efficacious in the early stages of the disease. The symptoms of the disease are drowsiness, headache, vomiting, fever, oftentimes diarrhea, irritability, and pain and stiffness in the back of the neck and spine. Should parents observe these symptoms in their children they should call a physician at once, the commissioner said.

"The housewife can do much toward avoiding illness in her home by thoroughly washing all vegetables and fruits to be eaten raw," Dr. Bundesen added. "Water and milk are safe in Chicago because the water is chlorinated and the milk pasteurized.

Aids Rich and Poor Alike.

"One of the chief values of the serum center, and rightly so, is its service to rich and poor alike. The youngster whose father is unable to pay will have the same chance for serum as the millionaire's son."

Ten cases of infantile paralysis have been reported in Chicago since July 31, Dr. Bundesen said, an increase over the preceding thirty days. This increase is not looked upon with alarm, however, as August and September are recognized as "infantile paralysis months."

KILLED IN AUTO-TRAIN CRASH.

Three Rivers, Mich., Aug. 10.—Nate Beadall, Fort Wayne, Ind., was dead in a hospital here today and his wife in critical condition. The car driven by Beadall was demolished by a New York Central passenger train late today. The car stalled on a crossing.

DRY LAW VIOLATOR FREED FROM PRISON TO CATCH MURDERER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The justice department disclosed today that President Hoover has commuted the sentence of a Peoria, Ill., liquor law violator, Earl Ogden, in order that he may help catch an Iowa murderer.

Ogden has been free from the Leavenworth penitentiary under this executive clemency since July 21, but not until today was the President's action known.

EXPECT RANSOM TO BE PAID FOR GARY GAMBLER

Expectations last night in Gary, Ind., were that the abductors of William [Cully] Flanigan, boss of a gambling syndicate, would make an effort tonight to collect the ransom demanded for his safe return. Attorney J. G. Harris, representing Flanigan, his partners, and his family was said to be waiting for a call telling him where to bring the money. According to friends of Flanigan, $10,000 was available to buy Flanigan's release.

Calls from various racketeers had been received, promising Flanigan's safe return if the money was brought to certain designated places, but Attorney Harris was said to be refusing to deal with any one unless first given the opportunity of talking to the captive gambler. Yesterday it was understood he had heard from Flanigan over the telephone and was told he would be given instructions later where to make the payment.

The reported abduction of Henry Le Boeuf, reputed to be a Gary bootlegger, was found to be a mistake. Le Boeuf returned to Gary yesterday and claimed his automobile, which was in police custody, and was said to have declared he slept in the woods overnight.

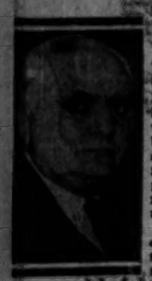
DEMOCRATS FROM DOWNSTATE BOB UP WITH BOOMS

Martin and Col. Sprague Are Mentioned.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Democratic politicians cast their optics yesterday over an assortment of downstate booms for state offices placed on display by visiting brethren from Egypt. John C. Martin of Salem was trotted out by his friends as a possible entry in the Democratic primaries in April for state treasurer.



W. H. DIETERICH.

Mr. Martin was on the ticket for that office in 1924, the year of the Coolidge landslide, when he ran almost 125,000 votes ahead of John W. Davis for President. For the last nine years Mr. Martin has been a director of the federal reserve bank at St. Louis. He is a native of Marion county, the champion pear county of Illinois, and he grew up in Salem, the county seat and old home of the late William Jennings Bryan.

Boom for Col. Sprague.

The visiting gossips also spread word that a boom for Col. A. A. Sprague for the Democratic nomination for United States senator is growing in southern Illinois. Col. Sprague, who is commissioner of public works in Mayor Cermak's cabinet, a position he also held during the Dever régime, was the Democratic nominee for senator in 1924, the Coolidge landslide year. He was defeated by Charles S. Deneen, but he ran almost a quarter million votes ahead of Davis for President.

Col. Sprague has been mentioned in the list of possibilities from time to time, and the southern Illinois tidings yesterday were that some of the elements which are supporting possible downstate candidates for governor are talking favorably of the colonel as a Cook county man for the other big job.

Campbell Gaining Strength.

The scouts reported that Bruce A. Campbell of Belleville and East St. Louis, who has announced himself as a Democratic candidate for the governorship, is already making considerable headway in the whole region south of the old Vandalia national trail.

Over in the Illinois river counties, they reported a boom is gaining momentum for Judge William H. Dieterich of Beardstown, whose position as congressman-at-large was abolished when the legislature remapped Illinois into 27 new congressional districts.

Edward J. Barrett, state treasurer, is regarded as likely to run for state auditor.

Boom for Senator Monroe.

Senator James O. Monroe of Collinsville is being boomed by some of the southern Illinoisans for secretary of state, while in Chicago Senator George E. Maypole has been listed as a possible candidate. For lieutenant governor a boom was sprung yesterday for Senator Harold G. Ward of Chicago.

In the gossip brought up ahead of "peach week" by the downstaters, Senator Andrew S. Cuthbertson of Bunker Hill and Maj. June C. Smith of Centralia, who presided at the judicial convention of the second district at Alton a month or so ago, were spoken of as possible candidates for attorney general in the Republican primaries.

Candidates for Title of Miss Fort Dearborn

MOSCOW, Aug. 10.—(AP)—A wireless message from the soviet icebreaker Malygin in the arctic stated that the ship had reached the island of Aldjer, base of the explorer Evelyn Baldwin. On the shore was found a bottle containing a letter written by Baldwin and dated July 3, 1902.

In the letter the explorer gave the position of a granite cache near by where he stored foodstuffs, arms, and ammunition "for those who might need them in the future."

The message also appealed for help for the steamer America, which carried the Baldwin-Ziegler expedition into the north in 1901. The vessel was lost in Teplits bay.

Baldwin Recalls Message.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—A white haired man of 59, Evelyn B. Baldwin, recalled today how twenty-nine years ago in the arctic wastes he wrote the message discovered yesterday by the Russian icebreaker Malygin. Baldwin said that [illegible] only one of several notes he left in the northland to "guide future explorers to hidden caches of provisions."

TYPHOON WRECKS 2,000 BUILDINGS; 5 KNOWN DEAD

TOKIO, Aug. 11 (Tuesday)—(AP)—Five persons were known to have been killed, many were injured, 2,000 buildings, including five schools, were destroyed, and more than 5,000 houses were damaged today by a typhoon which swept the island of Shikoku, Okinawa prefecture, better known as the Loo Choo islands, south of Japan. Many fishing boats were missing.

Ishigaki island, nearest, also was swept. Crops were ruined, telegraph lines were down, and hundreds of houses were destroyed or damaged there. Eight [illegible] vessels sank.

Holders of Participation Shares Oppose It.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A tabulation yesterday showed that the financial plan of Halsey, Stuart & Co. for the consolidation of the surface and elevated lines into one transportation system for Chicago and suburbs has been accepted by 87 per cent of the security holders, aside from the holders of participation certificates.

Owners of these certificates, representing stock in the west and north side surface lines, are opposing the plan. Of the $212,979,046 of other securities outstanding, holders of $184,-[illegible]3,170 have assented to the plan. This is said to be an unusually large amount and it is claimed that the financial plan was completed in a shorter period of time than has been taken by negotiations of such magnitude.

Adopted 15 Months Ago.

The franchise ordinance was passed May 19 last year and a referendum vote was taken on the following July 1. The percentage of voters who approved the franchise ordinance was approximately the same as the percentage of holders who have assented to the plan. This plan was promulgated Dec. 8 and declared operative on April 1.

Technically, the essential securities necessary to a reorganization are the first mortgage bonds of the surface lines and the elevated securities. Of these $147,130,350 and the holders of $133,217,470 have assented to the plan. That is 89.3 per cent.

SLUG WORKMAN IN LAKE COUNTY BUILDING WAR

The first violence in the labor dispute which has practically stopped all building activity in Lake county for the last week came yesterday with the slugging of Simon Hansen, 222 South Elmwood avenue, Waukegan, a non-union carpenter, and the arrest of one man and a police search for another.

Hansen stated that he and five other non-union men were working on a frame house being constructed by the E. J. Grant company of Waukegan when they were approached by about fifty union men.

When Hansen refused to leave the job, he said, two men jumped on him and beat him severely. John Morrissey of Waukegan was arrested and identified as one of his assailants. He was released on a $100 bond and will appear in court this morning. A warrant was sworn out for Robert Schultz, 311 Hazelview avenue, Waukegan.

Rehearse for Tribune Music Festival

A. J. Munson, directing 300 Norwegian Lutherans in the Hallelujah chorus from the Messiah in Christ Lutheran church in Logan Square. The singers will be heard at the Chicagoland Music Festival which will be held in Soldiers' field Saturday, Aug. 22.

300 LUTHERANS HOLD PRACTICE FOR SONG FEST

Inspiring song filled a little church in a busy district last night and sent away a group of 300 Norwegian Lutherans laughing and singing. Logan Square, on the northwest side of Chicago, is a noisy space. But inside Christ Lutheran church the congregation, preparing for the second Chicagoland music festival concert which will be held Saturday night, Aug. 22, in Soldiers' field, unaware of the rain outside, sang of the sunshine in their hearts.

The church auditorium echoed as Prof. A. J. Munson directed the men and women, boys and girls in the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic." They were singing as instructed by the Rev. Jesse E. Thorson, president of the Young People's Lutheran league of Chicago.

Another rehearsal will be held next Monday night at the same time at the Bethel Lutheran church, Humboldt boulevard and Dickens avenue.

The second rehearsal of the Massed Negro chorus will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at Igoe hall, 5536 Indiana avenue. More than 2,000 singers are expected to sing in this chorus which last summer thrilled 150,000 people at the first festival. The directors this year will be Prof. J. Wesley Jones, Prof. James A. Mundy, Prof. Edward A. Boatner, Prof. George R. Garner Jr., and Prof. William Henry Smith.

Tickets for Festival

Tickets for the festival may be obtained at the following locations: Lobby of Tribune Tower; Public Service Bureau, 1 South Dearborn; 1161 East 63d street; 6122 West Madison street. Admission will be 55 cents. Tickets may be obtained by mail, by a self-addressed stamped envelope, including the amount, to the Festival Ticket Bureau, The Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. 3 TUGS FAIL TO MOVE LINER FROM BRAZILIAN ROCKS

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Three tugs working the two hours between noon and 2 p. m., when the tide was high, failed today to budge the Munson liner Western World from her bed of rocks at Ponto de Bol. Another attempt was to be made at midnight.

Capt. Frederick Alers of the liner General Osorio, who took off the 37 marooned passengers, said he thought the possibility of refloating the Western World to be slim.

CRIME IN LONDON TAKES BIG JUMP, REPORT SHOWS

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Lord Byng, commissioner of the metropolitan police, today issued a crime report for 1930 which showed the highest adverse balance against the police in years.

LORD BYNG.

Simultaneously with the publication of Lord Byng's report, it was indicated that there will be a complete shakeup of the police organization. A strong plea for additions to the force will be made. The police are now administered under a system drawn up 50 years ago.

3,000 More Offenses.

Indictable offenses in London jumped nearly 3,000 during the last calendar year to 20,503, against 17,464 in 1929. Burglaries, housebreakings and larcenies showed a "disquieting increase," according to Lord Byng's report. The commissioner lifts part of the blame for this, however, from the shoulders of the police and places it to the negligence of the public.

There were 7,000 larcenies last year, 3,952 burglaries, and 2,865 housebreakings. Even bigamy increased, there being 105 cases, against 89 the year before. Murders increased from 10 to 21. In nine cases the murderers committed suicide. Only one murder was unsolved.

5,000 Automobiles Stolen.

The value of stolen property jumped by $250,000 to $4,075,000, but more than $1,000,000 of this was recovered. About 5,000 automobiles were stolen.

The city now has 1,000 fewer police officers than in 1921, although it has a greater population. It was recently announced that 400 men would be added to the force.

Another cause for the increase in crime, according to Lord Byng, is the great growth of suburbs, which are still under village police supervision.

GRIFFITHS BID FOR NEW CHICAGO P. O. IS LOWEST

Agrees to Erect Building for $13,606,970.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—John Griffiths & Son company of Chicago submitted the low bid for construction of the new Chicago postoffice, it was disclosed today when bids sent in by six contractors were opened at the treasury.

JOHN GRIFFITHS.

The Griffiths bid for standard buff limestone was $13,624,970. A second bid calling for the use of variegated gray and buff limestone was listed as $13,606,970. Both bids were for construction only and did not include installation of elevators or mail handling machinery.

The second lowest bid was turned in by Paschen Brothers, Inc., another Chicago contractor. The Paschen bid was $14,200,000, just $400,000 above the Griffiths proposal. Other bids, two from Chicago contractors and two from New York builders, ran higher, the top being $15,087,500.

Total Passes $15,500,000.

Immediately after the bids for the structure as well as separate bids for the installation of elevators and mail handling machinery had been opened, the question arose as to whether it would be possible for the government to award the contract on the basis of proposals submitted today. A hasty checkup disclosed that the three low bids, one for construction, one for elevators and one for mail handling machinery, reached a total above the $15,500,000 limit of cost for the structure. The combined bids amounted to $16,124,447.

George Griffiths conferred tonight with Maj. Ferry K. Heath, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of public buildings construction, and was told that the treasury would be unable to state whether it could accept any of the bids until a detailed study had been made. The treasury is permitted by law to award contracts when the bid is not more than five per cent greater than the limit of cost set by law. The low bid, however, is above even the limit of cost plus five per cent.

Assistant Secretary Heath said the treasury hoped it would be able to award the contract on the basis of bids received today. He did not deny, however, that the possibility exists that the government will advertise for new bids, thus meaning another two months' delay. It is possible that some agreement can be worked out between the government and the low bidders under which they will make concessions which will make it possible to let the contract.

Following his interview with the assistant secretary, Mr. Griffiths said he would be able to begin building operations within twenty-four hours after the contract was awarded, if it was given to his firm.

Lamson company, Inc. of Syracuse, N. Y., submitted the lowest bid for installation of the mail handling equipment. This firm offered to handle this assignment for $1,760,077. The lowest bid for installing the elevators was turned in by the Westinghouse Electric Elevator company of Chicago. This bid was $739,500.

The bids call for the construction of a building faced with the best limestone on the Van Buren street front and with a slightly inferior grade on the other three elevations. Indiana limestone was not directly specified, but undoubtedly will be utilized if the award goes to a Chicago firm.

W. Pratt, New York business man. Lynn Starling testified that Pratt told him he wanted his wife to get a divorce.

TEXAS GOVERNOR MAY CALL TROOPS IN OIL TROUBLE

Austin, Texas, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling of Texas tonight threatened to join Gov. W. H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray of Oklahoma in declaring martial law in an effort to relieve the chaos of the oil industry, suffering from the lowest prices on record.

In a statement the governor said that "many citizens of Texas feel that our conservation laws are being trampled under foot and are asking the chief executive to use the militia of the state to protect them. I sincerely trust it will not be necessary to do this, but that the legislature will find itself and finally pass such remedial measures as will meet the occasion."

ULTIMATUM IN KANSAS.

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The public service commission extended an ultimatum to Kansas refiners today that unless the price paid for Kansas crude were raised this week to a suggested price of at least 40 cents a barrel it would order a hearing to determine the nature and extent of a contemplated shutdown order for the state.

HOOVER URGES TEAMWORK BY SMALL PLANTS

G. T. Hodges Praises Value of Advertising.

Silver Bay, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—President Hoover, in a message read at the opening of the smaller business conference today, urged the merits of coöperation in the face of the depression.

GILBERT T. HODGES
[Harris & Ewing.]

The meeting was the first ever called specifically to consider the problem of the nation's 180,000 small manufacturers.

"I am interested to learn," said President Hoover, "that a conference of smaller industries has been called at Silver Bay to promote charting of industrial courses in the light of an exchange of thought and experience by the representatives of the moderate sized units in our industrial structure.

"Such stock taking of the factors of management, planning, labor safety, costs, production and distribution, should make for sound practices and stabilization in the smaller industries. And likewise it should have a substantial effect on industry generally when it is realized that the smaller industries employ more than half of the nation's industrial labor.

"The significance of your conference is clear. Business stability will be built not only on the foundations of the individual efficiency of the industrial unit, large and small, but upon their united effort in analyzing ther common problems and their cooperation in a sound program.

Expresses His Interest.

"I shall appreciate it if you will express to the participants in your conference my interest in their problems and my earnest hopes that your meeting will be a successful one."

The 300 business men also heard Gilbert T. Hodges, president of the Advertising Federation of America, urge the value of advertising in counteracting the business slump.

Mr. Hodges listed several companies which have attained marked success in the depression by virtue of such aggressive salesmanship.

Bad times, said Mr. Hodges, are nearly always the result of postponement of normal conception and they can be overcome only by the stimulation of a buying impulse that can be best done by advertising, for that is its true economic function.

Says "Buyers Are Made."

"Buyers are made, not born, and there are plenty of potential buyers in the country today with sufficient buying power to bring us quickly back to normal when once the country has been reënergized and released from the fetters of fear through the influence of intelligent advertising," Mr. Hodges said.

EX-WIFE AVERS MISS DIETRICH DELAYED SUITS

Actress 'Asked for Time' in 'Love Theft' Case.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 19.—[Special.]—Statements of Marlene Dietrich, German film actress, that filing of a love balm suit involving her and Josef von Sternberg, picture director, had been delayed so that threatened publicity might "club" her into settling, were denied today by Mrs. von Sternberg, the director's ex-wife, and blame for the delay placed by her on the actress.

Existence of the love theft suit, asking $200,000 and of a libel suit, demanding $100,000, both instituted in New York, were disclosed in alimony proceedings against Von Sternberg. Miss Dietrich later issued a formal statement declaring that although the suits were four months old they had been withheld from actual filing while negotiations came from the plaintiff that publicity could be avoided if she would settle.

Filings Delayed Sixty Days.

Mrs. Rita von Sternberg, plaintiff in both actions, declared that actual filing of the complaints in court had been delayed for sixty days at the specific request of attorneys for Miss Dietrich and that at no time had possible publicity been used as a "club."

It was pointed out by Moses H. Grossman of New York, attorneys for Mrs. von Sternberg, that the suits were begun on April 17 last by the service of papers on Miss Dietrich.

"The next calendar is in October," the attorney explained. "The suits will be filed at that time and they would have been filed on the June calendar if it had not been for the delay requested by the defense."

Suggestions of settlement, Mr. Grossman asserted, did not come from the plaintiff but, on the contrary, from representatives of Miss Dietrich within forty-eight hours after the suits had been instituted. Because of the suggestion in the New York courts, he said, the suits cannot come to trial for more than a year after they are filed.

The alienation suit, according to Mrs. von Sternberg, asserts that the director permitted Miss Dietrich to use his charge accounts in Los Angeles and furnished an apartment for her. The libel suit charges the actress was responsible for the publication of derogatory statements about Mrs. von Sternberg in an Austrian newspaper.

Miss Dietrich, her husband, Rudolph Sieber, and Von Sternberg characterized the suits as "absurd, unfair, and ungrounded."

Alimony Suit Brings Sensation

WIFE OF SCHOOL TRUSTEE IS ILL OF RARE DISEASE

Suffering from agranulocytosis, a rare disease which destroys the white blood corpuscles of the blood, Mrs. Lillian Caldwell, 31 years old, wife of H. Wallace Caldwell, a member of the board of education, was in a serious condition last night in the Blodgett Memorial hospital in Grand Rapids, Mich. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Caldwell underwent her second blood transfusion. She received 200 cubic centimetres of blood given by her husband. She became ill a week ago at the Caldwell summer home near Douglas, Mich.

Dr. Walter Theobald, 307 North Michigan avenue, a blood specialist, who flew to Grand Rapids from his office in Chicago, said that the disease was very rare and that he knew of only six cases of it on record. The only known method of treating the malady, he said, is by means of blood transfusions.

Mrs. Nancy Hatton, 51 years old, wife of Prof. A. R. Hatton, head of the political science department of Northwestern university, died last March of the disease.

Mr. Caldwell, formerly president of the school board, said that arrangements had been made for a blood specialist to fly from New York to the Grand Rapids hospital.

IDENTIFY INJURED BURKE GANGSTER AS BANK ROBBER

Witnesses of the $2,500,000 robbery of the Lincoln [Neb.] National Bank and Trust company last September yesterday identified Gus Winkler, gangster held prisoner in a hospital at St. Joseph, Mich., following an automobile accident, as one of the bandits, officials of the bank announced.

Earlier in the day Winkler, a former companion of Fred Burke, who now is serving a life term for killing a St. Joseph policeman, had denied complicity in the robbery. He made the denial in a conversation with Max Towle, county attorney from Lincoln.

Winkler, Towle said, admitted that he knew where the bonds taken in the holdup were disposed of, but denied that he took part in the robbery.

A Sunday afternoon on a Lincoln Park boat in the nineties—seems a bit out-of-date today, as do noisy, mechanical refrigerators compared with Electrolux.

Complicated parts no longer needed in an automatic refrigerator—Electrolux has no machinery at all

THE MODERN kind of refrigerator—Electrolux—is automatic without any machinery at all. A tiny gas flame and a tiny flow of water take the place of all moving parts in this remarkable refrigerator.

Therefore it makes no sound. There's no friction, vibration or wear. The refrigerant is hermetically sealed in rigid steel and needs no renewal. The gas flame is completely protected by an automatic shut-off. Connections for gas and water are through concealed flexible copper tubing and are quickly made.

No stopping and starting in Electrolux. The chilling action is continuous. It has all these advantages, yet costs no more to buy than the mechanical kind—and much less to use. Operating cost is about five cents a day. That's why so many thousands of homes now have this refrigerator.

You can see it at the showrooms of your gas company. You get famous gas company service if adjustment should be needed. Eleven different household models, from 3 cu. ft. to 20 cu. ft. capacity. Complete information is yours for the asking. Write to us, or phone Wabash 6000 today.

CERMAK URGES LUXURY TAX TO AID CITY'S POOR

Use of Gas Levy Money Is Asked by Whealan.

Two proposals for getting funds to save Chicago's destitute citizens from cold and hunger during the coming winter were made yesterday in tentative form by Mayor Cermak and President Emmett Whealan of the county board.

SAMUEL INSULL JR. [Keehns Photo.]

The mayor suggested a tax on luxuries in a formal statement issued after a conference with Samuel Insull Jr., head of the United Charities. President Whealan suggested a restriction of road building activities for the next year, and the application of half of the $70,000,000 which the state collects annually from the gasoline tax to charitable purposes. Both proposals would require legislative action.

Discusses Relief Problem.

Mayor Cermak, in his statement, discussed the relief problem in general terms. Specific proposals for relief, including, probably, a public drive for funds by various private charitable organizations, will wait for the reorganization of the governor's commission on relief and unemployment, scheduled to take place next Monday.

Asked what goal would be set in the appeal to the public for relief funds, the mayor replied: "They can't get too much money."

In his statement the mayor said:

"I feel it my duty as mayor to call to the attention of our citizens the critical situation of a very large number of deserving people of our city who are in destitute circumstances because they cannot get employment.

"Every one knows that the long continuance of the general business depression throughout our nation has reached a stage which demands immediate and definite action to relieve distress."

Many Home Owners Affected.

The mayor then pointed out the predicament in which many small home owners find themselves. Although many of them, out of work, have added to their burden of finding subsistence for themselves and their families, the task of paying taxes and meeting payments on their homes, they are barred from public aid from county funds by the rule denying relief to any person owning real estate. A number of private charities, he said, have adopted the same rule.

Referring to the eviction problem which was brought into the foreground recently by communist disturbances on the south side, the mayor said:

"Careful inquiry should be made before an eviction is ordered to ascertain the circumstances of the family, their ability or lack of ability to pay the rent demanded, the size of the family, how long its head has been out of work, and all those things which any charitably inclined person would want to know before he extends financial assistance."

He pointed out that any measures for governmental relief will require some time to be put in operation, due to the necessity of approval by the legislature, and urged all citizens to contribute to private charities at once.

FRANCES WHITE.

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Frances White, musical comedy actress, today filed a voluntary petition of bankruptcy.

The actress listed her liabilities at $13,189 and assets of $7,500 in unliquidated claims. Among her debts are $1,000 to the Shuberts, $57.60 to the Park Central hotel, $290 to the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles, and $1,200 to the United States income tax department.

At the time Miss White was arraigned in the west side court for failure to pay the taxi bill she said that she had no money. The large salaries that she had received when at the height of success, she said, she had spent.

E. L. RYERSON PUT ON COMMUNITY TRUST'S BOARD

$118,350 in Charities for 1930 Reported.

The appointment of Edward L. Ryerson, president of Joseph T. Ryerson & Son, Inc., manufacturers of iron and steel, as member of the committee of the Chicago community trust to succeed the late Bernard A. Eckhart was announced yesterday.

He is a director of the Northern Trust company and the Quaker Oats company. He is a trustee of the Chicago Sunday Evening club and the University of Chicago, president of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies, and a member of the board of directors of the Chicago Commons, the Chicago Plan commission, and the Glenwood Manual Training school. He is a member of the Chicago, University, Commercial, Commonwealth, Saddle and Cycle, and Onwentsia clubs.

Reports on 1930 Work.

With the appointment of Mr. Ryerson the trust made public its annual report for 1930. Distributions during the year totaled more than $118,350, which was shared by 76 charitable and educational institutions. Twenty-one hospital and health organizations received $27,634, nine educational institutions $26,198, eight character building institutions $23,912, five homes for the aged $16,003, three family relief groups $10,990, twelve children's relief groups $4,498, and seventeen miscellaneous organizations $10,069.

All of the charitable groups receiving aid are in Chicago and the vicinity. Four of the schools were outside of the area—three in Illinois and one a mountain school in Kentucky.

The report reveals that the community trust holds $2,445,000 in 19 trusts, with an appraised market value in excess of $4,000,000. This includes the entire $1,041,000 estate of the late Harry B. Lusch willed to the trust late in the year. The trust maintained the funds without material loss, according to the report.

Has Additional $1,000,000.

The trust has an additional $1,000,000 which is not yet available for charitable use, as income is still being paid to the family or relatives of the donor.

Members of the trust's committee serve without pay. The committee acts as a living representative of the donor to conserve the fund and apply the income in accordance with his wishes. The committee selects charities to receive disbursements when none is specifically named by the donor and also selects trust companies to administer and invest the principal of the donated funds.

Wounded by Stray Bullet as He Puts Away Cat

Michael Cervenka, 47 years old, 4823 South Loomis street, was wounded yesterday evening by a small caliber bullet, believed by police to have been a stray shot from some youngster's rifle, as he was putting his car in a garage in the rear of 4830 South Loomis street. Just before he was shot Cervenka had an altercation with Dominick Zittello, 5118 South Richmond street, a contractor whose men had dumped some materials so that they blocked the alley into which Cervenka drove.

$90,000 BUDGET SAVING PLEDGED BY CITY COURT

Chief Justice Bonsteby of the municipal court after a conference yesterday with Clerk Gill and Bailiff Horan announced that the court will retrench in its expenditures to an extent proportionate to the 15 days' pay which each city employé is being docked. The saving would be approximately $90,000.

Five associate judges of the court will be appointed today by Judge Bonsteby to formulate the retrenchment program which will be submitted on the other judges when a quorum can be gathered. As many of the judges are on vacation it was said that it may be another month before a quorum can meet.

PLEADS A DATE WITH HOOVER TO STAY STOCK QUIZ

But Campbell, Wheat Expert, Must Testify.

New York, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—A business appointment with President Hoover for Wednesday was offered today by Thomas D. Campbell as a reason for postponing the district attorney's investigation of the General Industrial Foundation corporation. Campbell is a former director of the corporation and one of the largest wheat growers in the United States.

Mr. Campbell was questioned briefly regarding a series of checks made out to him by the corporation and totaling $62,575.

He appeared restless as he was directed to return for further examination tomorrow. He said: "I've got an appointment with President Hoover on Wednesday to present him with a 10,000 word report on the present wheat situation. It will be embarrassing all around if it is not finished."

Produces Richey Letter.

To substantiate his statement, Mr. Campbell produced a letter from Lawrence Richey, secretary to the President, which read:

"The President will be glad to see you at 11:30, Aug. 12."

The letter was signed "Larry."

"You can't hold the President up," Mr. Campbell said.

He added that he had been closeted with Owen D. Young for four hours on Friday for a conference on wheat.

Mr. Campbell thought his examination should be postponed, but he was told to return tomorrow for further questioning. He was, however, assured that he would be able to get free in time to keep his appointment with the President.

The checks to Mr. Campbell were issued during the period between November, 1930, and last May. They bore the name of Edgar K. Alpaugh, treasurer of the corporation. It is this corporation which was recently named defendant in the suit of Mrs. Ella de Bevoise Patterson for $588,887.50.

Charges Stock Fraud.

Mrs. Patterson was one of the principal stockholders in the corporation. She charged that Ernest Suffern, the president of the concern, and Philip J. [illegible], in charge of stock sales, had induced her to part [illegible] a large block of stock in the Curtis Publishing company and purchase their stock instead.

Mr. Campbell explained the checks by saying that $40,000 represented the money extended to him by the corporation to back a generating and oil refining system. In return, he said, he gave Suffern a note on his farm.

As a director of the corporation he received 10,000 shares but no salary, with a 40 per cent interest in the profits, he said.

AUTOISTS MUST HAVE STICKERS OR FACE ARREST

City Clerk Brady announced yesterday that the members of the police force and employes of the city's license bureau have been ordered to arrest all motorists, beginning today, who do not display on their cars one of the new vehicle license stickers. Ample time has been allowed, he said, for all automobile owners who obtained their metal license tag legally to receive the stickers which have been mailed to them. As the stickers were mailed only to those who obtained a metal tag from the city clerk, it is expected that those who are operating their cars with stolen tags will be caught.

INDICT LUKE LEA, SON, 4 OTHERS IN BANK COLLAPSE

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Col. Luke Lea, Nashville publisher, his son, Luke Lea Jr., and four others were indicted by the Davidson county grand jury today on charges of conspiracy in connection with the affairs of the defunct Liberty Bank and Trust company.

Others indicted are E. P. Charlet, secretary-treasurer of the Tennessee Publishing company; R. B. Moseley, auditor of the company; J. B. Ramsay, president of the defunct Holston Union National bank at Knoxville, and W. S. Chappell, former cashier of the Liberty bank.

The indictments charge they conspired "to cheat and defraud the Liberty bank of its property."

The case was presented to the grand jury by Seth Walker, who Judge Charles Gilbert appointed attorney general pro tem after the regular prosecutor had failed to comply with a court order, directing that he draw an indictment, charging the Leas with conspiracy.

Prosecutor Ignores Court Order.

Under the Tennessee law, conspiracy is a misdemeanor, carrying a maximum penalty of 11 months and 29 days in jail or a $500 fine, or both.

The indictment set out 12 overt acts. It is alleged among other things that through an alleged agreement on the part of the Leas and the late R. E. Donnell, president of the bank, the Leas "were able to maintain what is commonly known as "kite of checks" on certain dates in August last year.

Donnell Commits Suicide.

Donnell committed suicide shortly after the bank closed last November.

The state read letters indicating Lea and Davis considered the purchase of one or more banks so their securities might be sold for cash and Lea's securities substituted therefor.

One letter mentioned such a plan while others bearing on the labyrinth of financial transactions of Lea, Davis, the Central Bank and Trust company and other corporations were read.

The letters read so far are those of Col. Lea and Luke Lea Jr. The letter containing the reference to the purchase of one or more banks was written on letter heads of the Nashville Tennessean. It was addressed to Davis and signed by Luke Lea Jr.

Owens was cross-examined by R. B. Williams, counsel for Davis.

Deposits of Certificates.

With regard to cashier's checks and certificates of deposits issued to the elder Lea by the Central bank, Owens said Davis personally instructed him with regard to only one issue, which was issued in blank.

Giles L. Evans, attorney for the elder Lea, cross-examined Owens. He traced $300,000 worth of certificates of deposit, issued to the Bank of Tennessee on Oct. 8, 1930, and alleged in the bill of indictment to be a part of the $1,300,000 Lea is charged with misappropriating.

Evans brought out that the certificates bore no indorsement, had had their signatures cancelled and appeared not to have been used or cashed.

TAXI DRIVER SENTENCED.

Sidney Wolfson, 1123 South Mozart avenue, a cab driver, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the bridewell, fined $220 for carrying a revolver and held to the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny yesterday by Judge Rooney in the Felony court. Mrs. Lillian Maggard, 921 Sunnyside avenue, said Wolfson took $300 in cash and jewelry from her when she hired his cab.

THE ADVICE OF EXPERIENCED SMOKERS IS

TRY THIS

TRY it when your taste "goes dead." When your cigarette, your food—nothing tastes right.

It's all a matter of putting your papillae in proper condition. Your papillae—the numberless tiny taste-buds clustered on your tongue.

When they're in good order, science says, they give keen, all-day zest to your smokes.* They multiply the flavor enjoyment of your food.

Care for your taste-buds, your papillae. Care for them by avoiding dry mouth, a condition of recognized prevalence.

If you enjoy smoking a lot—and who doesn't!—chew Wrigley's frequently. Wrigley's between smokes, by stimulating a free flow of saliva, keeps the taste-buds moist and fresh and definitely relieves dry mouth. Thus, scientists say, the sensation of taste is intensified.

If you'd like more enjoyment of your cigarette and your food, keener appetite and better digestion, chew Wrigley's regularly between smokes and between meals.

At the cigar stand, take your change in Wrigley's.

MONEY IS NEEDED TO CURB BOMBER, SWANSON SAYS

Policeman Foils Attack on Restaurant.

The prime necessities in apprehending and convicting bombers are money and police work, State's Attorney Swanson and his chief investigator, Patrick T. Roche, said yesterday.

Their comment came as a result of a bomb which was extinguished by a policeman early yesterday morning as it lay on a window ledge of the restaurant at 43 West 22d street. Another bomb of the same type was found in the same place last Tuesday, the police reported.

To aggravate the situation came reports that two stench bombs had been cast through barber shop windows on the north side, causing little damage but rendering the place untenable for hours. Both bombs were ascribed to union troubles.

Money Needed for Task.

"It takes money and police work to catch bombers and send them to the penitentiary, where they belong," declared Mr. Swanson. "All the important prosecutions successfully conducted by my office have been the result of investigation made by our own people. We are primarily a prosecuting agency but we had to do our own work in the most important bomb convictions ever accomplished—the convictions of four men now in prison."

Investigator Roche expanded upon the point made by his superior.

"In order to catch bombers it is necessary to have men 'set in' with the bomb mobs," he said. "To set them in costs money and it takes time for them to win the confidence of the bombers so that their services will be valuable. If money is not available for that purpose, we have additional odds against us at the start."

Policeman John Corcoran of the Pokin Inn station extinguished the restaurant bomb. He was patrolling the alley behind the place and saw the sparking fuse in the darkness. He pulled out the fuse and put the bomb in a pail of water.

The first stench bomb was hurled through a plate glass window in the barber shop of Fred Bittner, 4215 Fullerton avenue, sending Bittner from his bed into the street, gasping for breath. He told the Cragin police that he withdrew from the union a year ago and had received several threats since. The damage was estimated at $160. The second bomb broke the front window in Joseph Lio's shop at 412 North State street. He told the police he had been operating a non union shop.

Colonel Stokes Departs for East on Retirement

Col. Marcus Stokes, chief of staff of the 6th corps area, who is retiring from active service, left the Grand Central station yesterday for Washington, D. C. Col. and Mrs. Stokes will tour Virginia and the Carolinas. Gen. Frank Park, commander of the 6th corps area, and a number of staff officers who served under Col. Stokes' command were at the station to bid him farewell.

SWANSON TO ASK SONSTEBY'S HELP IN NEW BOND LAW

Action Follows Charges Made by Assistant.

State's Attorney Swanson said yesterday that he would call the attention of Chief Justice Sonsteby to the nonenforcement of the new bonds man law in the Municipal court and ask his coöperation in eliminating unlicensed bondsmen. Swanson's action follows a charge made by Assistant State's Attorney A. C. De Witt that Municipal judges were ignoring the law.

"Copies of the statute, which provide that professional bondsmen may operate only after posting a $3,000 bond and obtaining a character certificate from the Criminal court, have been furnished all Municipal judges, according to Prosecutor De Witt.

Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden, the acting chief justice, suggested yesterday that it was up to the state's attorney's office to enforce the law.

"The law has been in force only a few weeks," Judge Padden pointed out. "It strikes me as a little early to begin crying about its nonenforcement. The law makes it a felony for professional bondsmen to practice without licenses. If Mr. De Witt knows of instances where bondsmen have failed to secure licenses, why doesn't he prosecute them?

"I know of no instance where bondsmen have imposed on Municipal judges as Mr. De Witt claims. If he knows such instances, he should have cited them.

As for the Criminal court, where De Witt said professional bondsmen found the rules too stringent to permit their appearance, it was discovered yesterday that thirty bondsmen conducted business there and only six of these had procured licenses. Mr. Swanson announced he would assign an assistant to eliminate the unlicensed bondsmen.

DEMOCRATS LINE UP POSSIBILITIES FOR WARD CHIEFS

The appointment of ward committeemen to control patronage in the wards left without such officials by the recent remapping of the city's fifty wards was considered yesterday at a meeting of the managing committee of the Democratic party of Cook county.

The change in ward boundary lines in some instances threw two committeemen into the same ward, leaving some of the new wards without committeeman representation. In the wards where there are no committeemen now new ones will be appointed by the managing committee, and in the wards where there are two committeemen now the committee will decide which one will be recognized and given patronage.

Patrick A. Nash, chairman of the Democratic county central committee, and City Controller Szymczak have been mentioned as committeemen, as also have been County Treasurer McDonough, City Clerk Brady, and Congressman Sabath.

"THIRD DEGREE" IS DENOUNCED BY WICKERSHAM

Report Attacks Chicago Police Methods.

was an exception when a suspect was not subjected to personal violence.

"At the time of the Leopold-Loeb case, when an innocent school teacher was arrested and beaten until he falsely confessed, public attention was focused upon the third degree. An order was issued against it by Capt. John Stege, who was in charge of the detective bureau under Commissioner Russell. Well informed persons, however, state that this order had little permanent effect.

"Violence against suspects still exists, although it is said to be diminishing. Some informants believe that this diminution is partly due to apprehension of retaliation: there are said to have been instances in the past where, after brutality was used, the victim's friends or gang have found out which policemen were responsible and taken revenge.

"The belief is expressed by competent observers that corruption and influence protect certain suspects; that fear of reprisal protects others and that this protection, due to fear of reprisals, is increasing. Violence is regarded as general and prevailing in cases outside of the protected groups of suspects.

Methods Employed.

"The methods described as in use in Chicago include the application of rubber hose to the back or the pit of the stomach, kicks in the shins, beating the shins with a club, blows struck with a telephone book on the side of the victim's head. The Chicago telephone book is a heavy one and a swinging blow with it may stun a man without leaving a mark. [The use of this practice is described by a responsible eyewitness of more than one occurrence]. Other methods stated to be used are suspending a prisoner upside down by handcuffs or manacles and the administration of tear gas.

"The frequent participation of prosecuting attorneys in the third degree sessions is stated by several informants.

"Illegal detention and detention incommunicado are said to be common. The police are slow about bringing prisoners into court or even booking them. As far as the records show, men are usually produced in court and not later than 48 hours after the entry of the arrest; but in fact, the true date of the arrest is often not entered on the police blotter.

"An advance period of 'kidnaging prior to arrest' makes the records wholly untrustworthy. Men are frequently not booked at all and there is no record of their being in custody. 'Losing' men for days at a time is common. This absence of records blocks attorneys when they go to police demanding to see their clients.

"The arrests are at times without any legal basis, as in a recent drive after a gang outbreak, in which 2,000 persons were rounded up. They were crowded into cells so closely that it was impossible to sit down, even on the floor. After varying periods of confinement they were released.

"Such a drive is a gesture on the part of the police to satisfy newspaper demands for spectacular action.

"The Chicago public at the present time is much more concerned with the reduction of crime than with official lawlessness. Much crime in Chicago is committed by brutal ruffians; the public are less inclined to blame the police for beating up such men than for letting them get away scot free. The reduction of the evils of graft, leading to nonenforcement of law, is felt to be the first step in reform. It is said that only after these things are accomplished can attention be given to brutality and lawlessness of the police and other officials.

Some Hope of Reform.

"The local civil liberties committee is planning a study of the third degree, but it is still to be made. The bar association has a committee on lawlessness, but we have no information as to its activities.

"One counteractive force which may prove of benefit is the scientific crime detection laboratory of Chicago, a nonprofit corporation affiliated with Northwestern university. Its managing director is Maj. Calvin Goddard. Its services are open to all police departments. The directors believe that scientific methods are the best remedy for the third degree and other brutal practices.

"The directors suggested to the Chicago police department that they try out the 'lie detector,' but a leading official said 'here's the best lie detector' and extended his clenched fist.

The report goes on to give instances of police brutality in Chicago as described in opinions of the Supreme court of Illinois:

The 'goldfish room' appears in Judge Dunn's account of the uncontradicted testimony of two men arrested in 1921 for causing an explosion in a laundry building. [People vs. Sweeney, 304 Ill., 502, 511, 136 N. E. 637 (1922). Conviction reversed.]:

"Sweeney testified . . . that he was taken to the central station by three officers. He was kept there about 15 or 20 minutes and was then taken to Chief Hughes' office.

He "Sees the Goldfish."

"'The three officers said, as they took him across the street, that they would "show him the goldfish." They "showed him the goldfish," which was a beating. They dragged him around by his hair and started beating him with a rubber hose.'

"In 1930 Vinci, charged with murder, was detained incommunicado and questioned during the greater part of three days and four nights by the state's attorney, two of his assistants, his secretary, and several police officers. The conviction was reversed."

Another Case Cited.

After citing a number of court cases indicating third degree practices, the report goes on to say that:

"In a robbery case where the arrests took place in 1924, the prosecution offered no evidence in contradiction of the statement of one defendant that, immediately before he confessed, he was struck in the face by a police officer and two of his teeth were knocked out. The loss of the teeth was indisputable; although the officer charged with the assault was present in the courtroom, no attempt was made to deny the charge. A new trial was granted."

The report states that "the field investigation shows that conditions are not very different today.

Other cases cited by the report included that of Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, arrested in 1927 at Mount Vernon, Ill., in a weakened condition, upon a charge of poisoning her husband and the wife of a clergyman. She was reported subjected to long grilling by the state's attorney and a newspaper reporter.

About 4 a. m., the report said, the clergyman, arrested as her accomplice, was left alone with her, alleging he had made a confession and urging her to do likewise in order to save them from mob violence. The report said the minister apparently took no appeal, but that her conviction was reversed.

Of Illinois generally it was said that 19 third degree allegations in appeal cases had resulted in proof in 10, with all but one of these convictions reversed.

Other Side of Picture.

It is admitted, however, that "relay questioning gets results," and the report goes on to state:

"The police point of view must be understood. Despite the occasional influences of politics and corruption, most policemen are to be conceived as conscientious and hard working. They risk their lives continually, and if an occasional slap on the face will mean sending a hardened criminal to prison, why should it not be used, even if by mistake force is now and then applied to an innocent man? Harshness ought on the whole be reserved for old offenders, but the officer must be governed by his discretion in the individual case and it is impossible to lay down strict general rules covering all situations. Unprovoked brutality should not be condoned, but an occasional punch in the jaw helps preserve respect for the police. 'It is strange,' said one official, 'the effect that a slap on the jaw with the open hand has.'"

Reforms Recommended.

In its recommendations the commission urges that:

"Establishment of a statutory minimum time for the preparation of the defense.

"Simplification and clarification of the law relating to the admissibility of evidence of offenses other than that for which the accused is on trial.

"Allowance of comment upon the failure of the accused to testify.

"Giving to the trial judge power to comment on the weight of the evidence.

"Giving of power to appellate courts to reduce sentences without a new trial."

FEE SYSTEM JUSTICE SHARPLY CRITICIZED IN WICKERSHAM REPORT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—"Fee system justice" is sharply criticized in the Wickersham report issued today. The report stated that in many states justices of the peace and similar judicial officers are paid wholly or in part out of fines and costs derived from convictions in the courts.

"For instance," states the report, "the mayor of an Ohio village near Cincinnati had criminal jurisdiction over liquor cases by statute, which provided that half of the fines should be paid to the village treasury. A village ordinance gave the costs to the mayor as compensation for hearing such cases, in addition to his salary; deputy marshals who secured the evidence were given 15 per cent of the fine collected, detectives another 15 per cent and the prosecuting attorney 10 per cent. If the accused was acquitted there were no fines or costs and there was consequently no compensation for that case. During a period of seven months the mayor and his associates had shared an income of over $5,000 from liquor convictions. At length the United States Supreme court, in Tumey vs. Ohio, set aside one of these convictions as unconstitutional.

"The court opinion shows that a similar practice exists in Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Nebraska, North Carolina, and Texas, and that in Virginia the fee on conviction is twice that on acquittal. The same practice formerly prevailed in Alabama, Illinois, Indiana, and Oregon."

These who suffer from hay fever or bronchial asthma will be glad to learn that at last science has succeeded in discovering the basic cause of these two maladies.

Fortunately for all who suffer from these diseases a way has also been found to overcome this basic cause, the individual instead of simply relieving these disease a way has also been done in the past.

Because of this discovery, thousands of people have been freed of their asthma and hay fever.

CHICAGO POLICE HEADS DENY USE OF THIRD DEGREE

Alcock and Norton Assail Wickersham Charges.

Charges made in the Wickersham commission's report to President Hoover that "third degree" methods and police brutality were practiced in Chicago brought sharp denials yesterday. The commission was challenged to produce proof of the charges. Acting Police Commissioner Alcock said he had never heard of the commission making any investigation in Chicago or of its getting information from any authentic source. At the offices of the Chicago crime commission no one had heard of the national commission making any inquiries here concerning police methods.

COMMISSIONER ALCOCK.

As understood by Commissioner Alcock the Wickersham commission based its conclusions partly on the statement of "one of the best informed persons on Chicago practices" to the effect that it was the exception when a police suspect was not subjected to personal violence.

Alcock's Comment on Report.

Commissioner Alcock expressed a desire to get first hand information from "one of the best informed persons on Chicago practices," whoever he may be. As to the crime survey and appealed case, he said it is common custom for lawyers representing criminals to charge that the defendants were abused by police and forced to make confessions.

"I wonder if they heard anything from any person whose word could be believed," Alcock remarked. "Racketeers and crooks don't like me and they might be expected to say things about me or about the department not to our credit.

"One of the first orders I gave when I assumed command of the police department was that no prisoner was to be mistreated in any way. I served notice that any police officer, no matter what his rank, would be suspended and brought before the trial board if charged with any brutality.

Opposed to Third Degree.

"The third degree method is not effective and is merely an indication of inefficient work on the part of the police. I also issued an order prohibiting unnecessary arrests and both orders have been obeyed. We don't want persons arrested unless there is evidence against them and no confessions are needed or wanted."

The Wickersham report said "the third degree is thoroughly at home in Chicago," and it mentioned the rubber hose as one of the torture instruments. It said prisoners are often beaten on the head with telephone books which stun without leaving a mark. It declares that tear gas is used and that suspects are sometimes suspended head down.

Norton Denies Charges.

Chief of Detectives Norton denied that any such methods are in use. No third degree methods have been used in his time at the detective bureau, he said, and he has no reason to believe they were used previously.

"It's the old, old cry of the thief," Kevin said. "The criminal usually admits his guilt when he is arrested and is confronted with witnesses who identify him and with other evidence which shows him he can't mislead the police. Then, when he gets a lawyer, the lawyer has him repudiate the confession and claim he was beaten. This sometimes gains the sympathy of juries."

Mayor Cermak said he has been in public life in Chicago for more than twenty-five years and from his own observation the Chicago police "are a kindly, decent lot and as humane as any other class of persons." He said he didn't believe Chicago should have been included by the Wickersham commission in the list of cities using the third degree and added that nothing of the kind would be condoned as long as he is mayor.

State's Attorney Swanson said his experience convinces him that there is no justification for the accusation against the Chicago police.

Recovers Jewels

MRS. IRENE ANNE COLEMAN.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Milan police today recovered jewelry left in a taxicab there by Mrs. Irene Ann Coleman, better known by the stage name of Ann Murdock.

The jewels, which were in a small handbag, were valued by Mrs. Coleman at about $4,000. The loss caused considerable excitement in the Italian press because their value had been reported to the police as $500,000.

Mrs. Coleman, who left Milan for Rome yesterday before her property was recovered, departed tonight for Paris by way of Milan, where she will claim the handbag and jewels. She expressed annoyance at the publicity given "this insignificant and stupid affair."

POLICE CHIEFS RESENT CHARGE OF BRUTALITY

Fume at Wickersham Crime Report.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Officially, members of the executive committee of the International Association of Chiefs of Police maintained a professional silence about the brutality charged against their calling by the latest Wickersham commission report.

But unofficially, the session of the executive committee held here today was vocal in its resentment at what the law enforcement body had to say about the third degree and the extortion of confessions by torture.

It was the opinion of more than one of the police chiefs that certain paragraphs sounded as though they might have been penned by a criminal lawyer, so aptly were they calculated to make the work of the police harder and the conviction of the criminal more difficult.

The chiefs thought at least one of their number might have been included in the commission's committee of investigation. They felt that the report might represent high minded theory, but that it did not get right down to the problem of what to do with a criminal when you've got him.

"I suppose," said one rotund chief, "that you mustn't ask a guy about how he got the blood on his hands."

"I should say not," chimed in another equally rotund colleague. "You should not question the dear boys about how they happened to kill the old lady."

"Don't you fellows know," put in a third, scornfully, "that you shouldn't annoy a prisoner in any way? You should send out for some pumpkin pie and milk and feed it to him with a spoon."

Discuss Record System.

The chief matter for official discussion was that of the uniform records system. Approximately 1,200 police departments are now making monthly reports of crime in their communities to the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. This represents a 200 per cent increase in the number of reporting cities since the collection of these data was started by the association in January, 1930.

GUN TOTER GETS 60 DAYS.

Frank Watson, who admitted after his arrest outside a fish market at 4041 West Roosevelt road that he contemplated robbing the place, was sentenced to the Bridewell for 60 days yesterday by Judge J. William Brooks on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

JUDGE REDUCES JAIL POPULATION BY SENTENCING 11

Judge Joseph B. David yesterday continued his campaign in the Criminal court to reduce the population of the county jail. Of 43 defendants before him on 60 charges, the judge sentenced 3 to Joliet, 4 to Pontiac, 4 to the bridewell, placed one on probation, and continued cases against 31.

The three sentenced to one year to life at Joliet are members of a gang of six from St. Louis who confessed a score of robberies, including one for which a youth was sent to Pontiac, on their arrest here. Those sentenced were: Joseph Koepchick, 20 years old; Nick Bertwick, 23 years old, and Joseph Berkowski, 27 years old. Charges against Robert Fanning, another member of the gang, were nolle prossed for aid given to the state.

Fulsom Chastain, 23 years old, Frank Evans, 19 years old, and Eugene Vro, 20 years old, were sentenced to from one to ten years in the Pontiac reformatory for holding up a milkman. Judge David ordered $128 found on Chastain to be turned over to his wife, Vivian, who testified the money was not part of the $48 taken from the milkman, as she had given her husband $110 before he left home the day of the crime.

POSTPONE 1929 REAL ESTATE TAX SALES TO AUG. 20

Edward J. McCabe, secretary to County Treasurer McDonough, announced yesterday that sales of property for nonpayment of 1929 taxes, scheduled to have started in full force yesterday, had been postponed until Aug. 20. Three or four pieces are sold daily, however, to comply with the law which provided that sales start Aug. 1. The postponement was to give property owners a final opportunity to pay their taxes.

MacDONALD GETS 'MYSTERY' NOTE; ENDS VACATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Prime Minister MacDonald tonight suddenly left Lossiemouth, where he was vacationing, for London. He was watching highland games when an important message caused his precipitate departure. He was not scheduled to return to London until Aug. 24.

The prime minister has been closely studying the British economic report since he went to Lossiemouth on Aug. 1 and it is believed that he was so impressed by the seriousness of the situation report that he decided discussion by the cabinet should be started immediately.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden is also coming to London from Tilford tomorrow and it is understood that Mr. MacDonald will discuss the situation with him first.

RAILWAYS AID PLANS FOR U. S. FAIR BUILDING

Dr. Hugh Brown, director of the bureau of reclamation of the department of interior yesterday conferred with the representatives of northwestern and western railroads to enlist their cooperation in the department's building at the 1933 World's Fair. The Union Pacific, the Northern Pacific, the Burlington, the Great Northern and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroads were represented.

Dr. Brown said the department plans to have panoramas of the primitive irrigation work of the Navajo Indians, the work at the Platte and Salt rivers of the early Mormons, the 1902 development of the Yakima valley in Washington and the Boulder dam project. The department also plans to portray the work of the railroads in interchange of products.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

FOR BEER, AND WHY.

Matthew Woll of the American Federation of Labor, as chairman of its committee on prohibition, recommends to the executive council that a determined effort be made in the next session of congress to get a modification of the Volstead act. The Industrial Club of Chicago, composed of midwest employers, has voted for modification. Socially, economically and politically the welfare of the United States requires a governmental about face on the noble experiment, a confession of error and futility and a correction.

Such a correction is about the only thing within the power of congress to provide in the approaching days when nearly every imaginable loose screwed idea of industrial relief will be presented to it. The Volstead act assumes that adult American citizens are irresponsible, incompetent and untrustworthy. Many of them have accepted that estimate of themselves as true and are prepared to have the government take care of them, buy their grain and fabric materials, give them seed and fertilizer, feed them, their cattle, their man servants and their maid servants, hand them a dole, take care of their babies and treat them as blanket Indians, untaxed.

That's the culmination of a doctrine that the proper moral relationship between government and citizen is one of guardian and incompetent ward. The eighteenth amendment began an era in which the individual responsibility was transferred to the government at Washington, and the Cotton Stabilization corporation is as much a product of it as is Al Capone. It is time to snap out of it.

Congress alone cannot take the eighteenth amendment out of the constitution, but short of that there is a great deal it can do. It can repeal the Volstead act or it can modify the absurdity. It can restore malt beverages to legal trade wherever the states will permit it. The definition of intoxicating liquor in the Volstead act was taken by the prohibitionists from the brewers, who had phrased it as an excise stipulation to prevent the sale of malt beverages which did not pay the beer tax. The alcoholic content was reduced to next to nothing to prevent any untaxed competition with the taxed product. It was ironical to turn the brewers' guns on them under the eighteenth amendment, but prohibition has enough jokes without this one.

The ordinary beer of general use, as before prohibition, is not intoxicating in fact. An exceptional determination to make it intoxicating would succeed, but a country is not justified in keeping a sumptuary law to control exceptional antics. Even with the eighteenth amendment in the constitution a definition of intoxicating liquor which permitted a three to four per cent beer would be a reasonable interpretation.

Mr. Woll says he and his associates cannot see any other single government act which would give as much industrial relief as modification of the Volstead act. That is very likely true. Although in December it will be assumed that the government is the veritable wizard to do everything, the citizen now has only to look at the mountain of wheat and the mountain of cotton to see the probable consequences of more government miracle working.

A government admission that under American federal laws a citizen was esteemed to be of sufficient maturity in intelligence and character to decide for himself whether he wanted to use a malt beverage at this time would be a moral tonic for the restoration of individual responsibility and dependability. A nation of legal juveniles faces man sized problems with a government unwilling to concede that they can be trusted even with a bottle of beer. Small wonder that they seem to be headed for the dole and the federal soup bowl.

In addition to the moral relief a virtually new industry would be created, requiring machinery and farm produce and offering a new field of employment. Mr. Woll says "fully sixty industries would feel the electric thrill of orders for materials and equipment."

There is a deficit in revenue, and a larger one is anticipated by a government which is outspending its income. The tax on beer would wipe out this deficit. Just now, under Volstead, the grape growers of California are asking for additional subsidies from Washington to make their crops. Most of the grapes are going into wine products and the government knows it. When the wine is on the citizen's table it has three and four times the alcoholic content of beer and the government knows that. The ridiculous here reaches the sublime. A government which cannot take in enough from taxes to pay all its bills is giving financial support to the manufacture and sale of wine at a dead loss to itself, and it prohibits the manufacture and sale of a more temperate beverage more generally desired upon the manufacture of which it could collect a tax sufficient to balance its budget.

THE PRUSSIAN PLEBISCITE.

The sharp defeat of the combined effort of the communist and Fascist factions to break the republican government in Prussia is the most reassuring event in European politics for a long time. What the acute crisis in European finance needs more than anything else is renewed confidence in the stability of Germany, and the Prussian plebiscite will strengthen that confidence among other nations as well as among the Germans themselves, where it is needed. One has only to consider what the substitution of communist or Hitlerite control for that of the moderates would have meant to realize the importance of their defeat. It is to be hoped the support given to Chancellor Bruening will have a favorable influence upon French policy, an essential to European stabilization, as it will give assurance to the agencies committed to the relief of German financial and economic conditions.

The gratifying outcome of the voting also reveals the value of plebiscites. They are the best method, apparently, of disclosing the real political will of nations, at least among peoples who have developed political consciousness. Most of the political disturbance and instability which are shaking confidence and therefore retarding recovery in Europe are the product of inflammatory and irresponsible leadership, able to make sensational showing through its influence upon minorities. This leadership does not reach the solid mass of opinion upon which the fate of responsible governments should depend. It may under most favorable circumstances accomplish the temporary and disastrous overthrow of constructive forces, by coups d'état or putsches, and therefore is a serious peril to the welfare of peoples which it does not represent and to the peace of the world in general. The use of the plebiscite to expose its pretensions and forestall its devices is therefore of great value and importance. The Prussian plebiscite has accomplished this and reminded the world again of the admirable self-restraint under the most trying conditions, and the sound character and good sense of the German people.

ANOTHER AIR TRAGEDY.

Another tragedy in the air transport service emphasizes the need for more thorough and efficient regulation, if the public is to rely upon official supervision of commercial flying. The first report of the accident near Cincinnati indicates that structural weaknesses were responsible. After the accident in Kansas in which Knute Rockne and seven others were killed the aviation section of the department of commerce ordered the withdrawal of 35 or 40 of the type involved, and we then expressed the hope that the order indicated the beginning of stricter supervision. If there has been any better supervision the Cincinnati tragedy shows that it is still not up to its responsibilities. It would seem that machines are licensed which ought not to be or that mechanical inspection is slack, or both. Officials seem to be more disposed to minimize or evade exposure of the facts than to let the truth be known or deal energetically with deficiencies.

At the time of the Kansas casualty THE TRIBUNE said that in the present stage of air transport the strictest supervision and the highest practicable standards are due to the public, and we believe it has not yet had the benefit of them. We repeat this now. Perhaps it is impossible to bring about adequate supervision by officials. It is significant that where private industry has not been interfered with, as in automobile manufacture, enlightened self-interest has achieved protection in a remarkable degree. We virtually never hear of serious accidents caused by faulty construction of automobiles, and, while the airplane is a newer instrument subjected to some unknown stresses, the public is invited to believe it is out of the danger zone of its experimental stage and to be relied upon as a safe means of public transport. The government assumes responsibility for regulation and should see that it is an efficient regulation or retire and let the new industry develop its own conditions and pay, as it certainly would, for its own failures. Without the dubious safeguard of official supervision the public would be slow to risk itself in any service that had not proved itself competent.

But if we are committed to government control we repeat what we said at the time of the Rockne tragedy, that the whole rapidly expanding field of commercial service should be carefully and thoroughly surveyed, both as to equipment in use and as to conditions of operation, discipline of personnel, ground work, weather reports, conditions at airports, etc. This is an urgent duty of the department of commerce if it is to continue the regulation of commercial aviation. If it is to have authority it must accept responsibility and fulfill it.

Editorial of the Day

GUNS.

[New York World-Telegram.]

When machine guns blaze in western cities the question arises: Where do the gangsters get their machine guns? The answer is from New York City.

The police department has discovered that of 785 machine guns of the rapid fire variety sold by one New York City firm, principally to police and sheriffs, prisons, banks, business concerns, etc., 83, or more than 10 per cent, went directly into the hands of gunmen.

The machine gun fad has not yet struck this city. But the pistols are here with a vengeance. A high police official yesterday estimated that there are 150,000 pistols in the city in the hands of gangsters.

The owner of each, if caught, could be sent to jail for a maximum term of three years.

But when the owner of an illegally held pistol is caught the penalty, Inspector Joseph Donovan yesterday pointed out, is not three years in prison but in most cases a trivial fine of from $5 to $25.

"Such fines," Inspector Donovan said, "don't mean anything. The gun toters in this city are youngsters for the most part—mere boys ranging in age from 16 to 25. They need a lesson. Give a few of them stiff sentences and watch the rest of them quit trying to be gangsters."

The imposition of such insignificant penalties by the Court of Special Sessions not only must strike the gun toter as a joke but tends to nullify the effect of a law designed to curb the spread of gangsterism.

If the police estimate of 150,000 pistols is accurate the city of New York stands veritably under the shadow of the revolver.

The justices of Special Sessions and the prosecuting officers appearing before them have greater power than any others except the police to dispel this shadow. But it will do no good for police to arrest gun toters if Special Sessions is to turn them loose with fines of $5 to $25.

Gun toting has become so mixed up with gang activities that it can no longer be ranked along with other misdemeanors.

The courts and the prosecutors can strike at the gangster through the gun toter. But they can do this only by measuring the penalty for unlicensed gun toting in terms of the murderous violence guns produce in the hands of gangs.

SWIMMING AND MENTAL MALADIES.

J. E. DAVIS of the Perry Point Veterans' hospital proposes systematic swimming as a method of treating mental disturbances of several kinds. His arguments are usable in support of swimming in the treatment of many conditions not found in his list. He quotes Hawks as having found an increase of about 20 per cent in red blood cells and 45 in white ones after a short swim, say two minutes.

The first observation may show that short swims are of service in some forms of anemia. The second, that it may raise resistance in the face of threatened infections. To this Mr. Davis adds that a short swim is sedative in its action. If a person is nervous, agitated, and liable to have trouble in sleeping, a short swim may relieve the tension.

He quotes Stanley Hall as saying "the exercise of swimming is unique in that nearly all the movements and combinations are such as are rarely used otherwise and are perhaps, in a sense, ancestral and liberal rather than directly preparatory for future avocations." Swimming exercises muscles that are seldom given much opportunity in either work or play.

Mr. Davis' theme is the use of swimming in institutions for the insane as a means of reaching the mentality of patients hard to interest. It is especially valuable in the treatment of manic depressive insanities, dementia precox or schizophrenia, in certain stages of epilepsy, in the artificial adornments added by hysteria, and also by the negativistic attitudes of certain insanities and certain personalities not classed as insane. Delusions, such as that the arms cannot be moved or the mouth cannot open or certain movements cannot be made—such delusions frequently yield to the swimming cure. Some patients who will try to do certain things will become interested in swimming and by reason of that will recommence motions and acts that they had abandoned.

It has been found of service in the treatment of some of the after effects of sleeping sickness. The swimming pool treatment of the after effects of infantile paralysis is well established. It has been assumed that most of the advantage of this treatment lay in the mechanical field.

Mr. Davis' reason may indicate that much of it is mental—or, perhaps, spiritual is the better word—and this suggests that other disorders may be benefited by regular use of swimming treatments. Among these are: The after state of apoplexy, after-the-pain stage of locomotor ataxia, paralysis agitans, and spasmodic tics.

3. Is epsom salts any good for it to draw the water out?
4. I would also like to know what causes so many sleepless nights.

REPLY.

1. You have dropsy, probably as the result of heart disease, kidney disease, or both.
2. It is.
3. No.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My husband acted as co-signer on a $200 note. The man who got the money has left town. 1. We know we have to pay and are willing to do so, but have missed a few payments due to unemployment, but expect to be caught up with the payments by the time it is all due. 1. Correct.
2. We assume that the note includes the common wording authorising such charges.
3. We see no defense on the facts that you state.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

I WANT TO BUILD.

Some day, ere the weary winds of dusk
About me blow,
I want to build a garden,
A garden 'neath the southern sky,
Where roses glow,
And where the scent
Of orange blossoms passes me by.
Where all day long I'll hear the drone
Of humming birds, and questing bees
Will flit about my garden sweet.
I'll never hear the north's cold moan
Down there beneath my laurel trees.

And when at night the full moon shines
On me below,
I'll linger in my garden
And harken to the silver strains
Of music low,
As the peon lad
Strums his guitar down moonlit lanes.
And I'll feel the soft wind kiss my face,
As from the sea the breezes sweep
To whisper 'round my garden wall.
And shadows patterned like old lace
Will fall about me when I sleep.

NOTING THAT A SOUTHERN railroad president has come out for "Melvin Alvah Traylor, Chicago banker," for the Democratic nomination for President, we think it only fair to inform readers that Melvin Alvah Traylor is none other than our own Mel Traylor, Chicago golf enthusiast and good fellow. Without presuming to speak for the gentlemen two columns to our left, the Wake-Line, as such and as at present conducted, indorses the candidacy of Melvin Alvah Traylor for the Democratic nomination for President.

MOTORING.

Thirty-five hundred miles of the south by motor . . . through the beautiful Ozarks of Missouri, the plains of Kansas, the oil and zinc fields of Oklahoma, the rollicking ranches of Texas and we stop at San Antonio . . . Mexicans, dark-eyed señoritas, sun-blackened rangers, popeyed peons . . . and then a little Mexican restaurant where we had chili, hot . . . and then the road to the missions. We found one, one that was set back from the road, 'neath tall trees and quiet . . . we peeked in the door and there were the altar, lighted candles, beautiful lace . . . we went in, old wooden pews, years and years old, wasp nest in a corner, floor creaking as we tread softly . . . then came that strange feeling as we stood there, that feeling of being in a holy place . . . as we went out the door we placed a coin in the box . . . then back to things more modern.

SITTING IN THE LARGE, comfortable chair of R. H. L.'s luxurious studio, mishap has just befallen us. Opening the window to enjoy the cool breeze sweeping from Lake Michigan, a draft was created by the current of air between this window and the local room. Thus it was that while opening the mail and classifying the contributions, the brain child of a contributor was lifted and wafted away despite our frantic clutch for it. We watched it as it sailed from the fourth story window of this sanctum, finally coming to rest on the bosom of the not distant Chicago river. So, Helpers, this explanation: If your contribution is not published, it was the one which blew out the window and now is on its way to the Gulf of Mexico.

INFORMATION EN ROUTE.

Wake-Line: Two young chaps were motoring through the east recently and had to cross several toll bridges. They were going to Brooklyn and drove down First avenue while passing through New York City. The hour being late, they stopped and hailed a chap on the street. "Say, Buddy, can you direct us to the Brooklyn bridge?" "It's right ahead of you," he replied. "Is it a toll bridge." "It's the tallest we got," he answered.

THE FAITHFUL GUARD

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 11, 1915.

CHICAGO. — Detective Sergeants William Egan and Walter O'Brien—once wardmen for Capt. Halpin and powers in the inner circle administration of headquarters affairs—were found guilty of bribery last night. It took the jury only an hour and a half to decide that "Big Bill" Egan, known as "The Devil," and "Caroline," as O'Brien was known to the underworld, had accepted and solicited payments of protection money from Barney Bertsche and the lesser figures of Barney's clairvoyant swindling ring. Conviction on the bribery charges carries with it an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years' imprisonment. Capt. Halpin will be the next of the accused policemen to be put on trial.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States battleships New Hampshire and Louisiana at Newport, R. I., on orders from the navy department, proceeded with all speed to Vera Cruz, Mexico, to protect Americans and other foreigners imperiled by the latest crisis in that country.

LONDON.—German Zeppelins raided the east coast of England and dropped bombs, killing fourteen persons and wounding fourteen others. As has been the custom recently, the official statement did not tell the names of the towns visited.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 11, 1901.

PITTSBURGH.—The big steel strike is on in full force and the United Mine Workers' executive council has come to the aid of the strikers with a resolution calling upon President Gompers to assemble all the presidents and secretaries of the American Federation of Labor for the purpose of devising ways and means for giving substantial aid to the strikers. The Amalgamated association has used its power to the limit and all its men are supposed to be out now. President Shaffer stated that within the last few days he had offered to submit the entire dispute to arbitration and that the offer had been curtly refused by J. P. Morgan with the statement that there was nothing to arbitrate.

CHICAGO.—Dr. L. C. H. E. Zeigler, who advertised for bodies of 400 human beings on which he could operate, found many persons willing to accept his grim offer. Men and women in all conditions of life wrote to him and asked that he meet them and seal the bargain for the use of their bodies at death. He offered to pay $50 for each body and he expressed the belief that within six months he will have the 400 bodies for which he advertised.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 11, 1881.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Garfield's physicians in their evening bulletin declared that he had passed an excellent day and that conditions continue favorable. The afternoon rise in his temperature was almost a degree less than the day before. His pulse at 7 o'clock was 108, temperature 101, and respiration 19.

CHICAGO.—Ground has just been broken on Monroe street for what will be the highest building in the city. It will stand on what is known as the old Lombard block adjoining on the west the old postoffice building at the corner of Monroe and Dearborn. It will consist of nine stories and basement and will be about 136 feet above the pavement. It will cost from $175,000 to $200,000. Easy access to the various stories will be afforded by two elevators and every office will have a fireproof vault.

CHICAGO.—City Clerk P. J. Howard is the latest victim of the presentation mania. A mob of 75 persons preceded by a brass band called at Howard's home, 339 Center avenue. Ex-Ald. O'Brien hauled out a bundle and, after talking a good deal about it, handed it to Mr. Howard. It contained a diamond shirt stud, a chain and a watch charm. Mr. Howard said "thank you" and invited the crowd to eat and drink. The result was disastrous to the family larder, but the jewelry was very nice.

THE LITTLE RED MEETING HOUSE.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—In your amazing editorial of today entitled "The Red Invasion" there is much of interest to persons of social outlook. What actual evidence is there for the statement that this "foreign instrumentality" to which you refer is at work in Chicago—that it is financially supporting as well as organizing and directing groups throughout the United States? Under what law may these American allies be punished? I had thought freedom of speech and of the press to be a constitutional guarantee of which you were in favor.

Then there is the matter of force which you advocate. Historically considered, has force ever successfully suppressed a social movement? Russia and America have at least this in common, that their respective methods of maintaining their forms of government are based upon coercion. May not the mob scene among the Negroes of two days ago be a symptom not so much of what Russia is doing but what we ourselves are failing to do, with our much vaunted economic system? There is just as great a demand for necessities to feed and clothe people now as there was in 1928 and there are apparently plenty of supplies on hand to meet the demand, yet thousands are unhoused and unfed. Where is the leakage in the wasteful system? Is it not somewhere in the realm of profits? I suggest that we use our energy and you your editorial pen in searching our own souls and the soul of our economy rather than in waving a red flag?

OTIS G. JACKSON.

THE RED INVASION.

Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 7.—May I congratulate you on your editorial, "The Red Invasion," which sums up in a masterly way the present incomprehensible situation? Couldn't extra copies of that be sent weekly to our bonehead United States congressmen? I wish every one of them could be compelled to read it daily in the hope its significance would eventually penetrate!

You're a bit rabid on prohibition, but by and large I'm for you strong.

THE POLICE IN THE RIOT.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—In a recent issue of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE an editorial appeared praising the Chicago police for their conduct in suppressing the so-called riot growing out of an attempt on the part of persons seeking to move back into possession an aged woman who had been evicted.

To say and this article of praise was premature and designedly calculated to sway the minds of the public against the persons who were killed and arrested. A coroner's jury is now impaneled to investigate and make its findings on the causes of the death of the three men who were killed by the police. Certainly the press should withhold its editorial comment until the verdict of the jury has been returned. THE TRIBUNE will find itself in a very embarrassing position in the event that the jury finds that the conduct of the police was hasty, ill advised, and inexcusable.

Good police work can generally be accomplished and arrests made without the taking of lives of unarmed men. So far no facts have been presented that will show that there should have been an exception made in the handling of this case. Fairness will be shown to all persons concerned if the press will remain silent in its editorial columns until the jury returns its verdict.

A TEACHER'S PROBLEM.

Chicago, Ill., July 31.—Who can point the end of this woman teacher who has been served with a 30 day notice to move because she is in arrears for one month's rent and has occupied the same premises for 5 years, never before missing in her payments? Her savings are well nigh exhausted and she has no available cash either for moving or renting another flat. Her aged and infirm parents are wholly dependent on her for support. On the princely salary of $100 a month [when she received it] she was able to manage by living economically in the stove heated flat.

Now this family has no salary, no money, but has a 30 day record to practice. Perhaps cross word puzzle fans can solve the problem of where and how this family will live at the end of the 30 days and whether this teacher will be in good condition to receive an overcrowded room full of new pupils when school opens in September.

A WORRIED TEACHER.

CORPORATE SURPLUSES.

Chicago, July 29.—The poor United States Steel corporation, that supposedly blue chip stock of them all, has only some four hundred and forty-nine millions of dollars in its surplus. Just because dividends have not been entirely earned for a few quarters they must necessarily make a drastic cut of the dividends to the common stock owners. Why the cut will save them transportation millions a year, and they only have four hundred and forty-nine millions left.

President Hoover could become a very popular man with the masses if at the next session of congress he would sponsor a bill forcing corporations with such surpluses to either pay a large tax on such surplus or give it back to the stockholder to whom it belongs. The first way would help to reduce our national deficit and the other would help to put our country on the road back to prosperity.

STOCKHOLDER.

THE FOUNDING OF THE G. A. R.

Decatur, Ill., July 24.—I thought every one who knew anything at all about the Grand Army of the Republic knew that it was organized April 6, 1866, at Decatur, Ill., not at Springfield or Rockford or any other place. When in some way Decatur post, No. 1, lost its charter Rockford grabbed its number. And Rockford still pretends, or has it brought, that G. A. R. post No. 1 was organized at Rockford! ETAS BAKER.

THE ECONOMIC SIGNIFICANCE OF PRETZELS.

Chicago, July 31.—Why not have more pretzels? If all would eat more pretzels it would help to use up the surplus wheat, and with beer it would be an incentive for the farmer to grow barley and less wheat. The result: more men employed, more money in circulation, and more revenue for both local and national governments.

British Author Rewrites His First Novel

Characters Live On Into Another Book.

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

HENRY Williamson, English novelist and the author of "The Pathway" and "Tarka the Otter," has done a most interesting piece of work, one which, as far as the publishers know, no other has ever before attempted. He has entirely rewritten his first novel, "The Dream of Fair Women." Created in his youth, this novel naturally reflected the writer's youthful view, with the same characters and using the original idea of the first novel, with many of the same situations, Mr. Williamson now gives us a new story.

HENRY WILLIAMSON.

The characters themselves have changed, reacting in an entirely different way from similar situations in the early tale. Modern in spirit, it reveals the author's more mature and changed point of view. In style, interpretation of character and action the mature man has altered the fictional people of his youth.

"The Dream of Fair Women" does not finish the narrative of Willie Maddison, its chief character. The plot, with all the cast, is continued in "The Pathway," a book that appeared in 1928. Hence, the rather abrupt ending of this novel. In a valediction, however, the author tells briefly the fate of the various actors in his drama and even goes so far as to state that Maddison was a real character and that the book, "The Star Born," written by him, will be published by Jonathan Cape, Ltd., of London.

I suspect, though, that Mr. Williamson added this epilogue merely to explain the realism of his novel and that Maddison more as a symbolic figure than as a real man.

There are varying critical opinions about the worth of such a being as is depicted in this tale and in "The Pathway." J. B. Priestley, supported by Hugh Walpole's opinion says that Maddison was "half baked, with all the trappings of a prophet without the prophecy." On the other hand, Ernest Meynell's belief was that "The Pathway" would be read "by many to whom, like myself, it will be an experience for which they have been living as a preparation."

And the author himself states that, while he "should be sorry and guilty," if either if his sons developed into a young man like William Maddison, he is identified in one aspect, with his own life, for Maddison's "thought and utterance were peculiarly directed against those ideas which he believed to dispoil human life."

Maddison was a poetic, intensely idealistic individual, who sought escape from unpleasant realities in dreams of perfection, in communion with nature, and in an inner religious life that was always influencing his words and actions. To him Jesus Christ was a living man whose infinite compassion and understanding he sought to emulate. "Every man was Christ's brother, if only he believed in himself in spite of all teaching, all else—Christ's equal. The seeds of Christ lay under the asphalt promenade of every man's education and civilization. And what a discovery!" And all these thoughts he put into the book he was writing, "The Policy of Reconstruction or True Resurrection."

Idealist and dreamer as he was, he was constantly getting blows from life and suffering in consequence. Unlike a young friend who kills himself rather than live on when his illusions are gone, Maddison struggles on always trying to find an adjustment with life and always failing.

For the young friend "the world is dead. That which in the radiance of his hotly dreams is more splendid than his last forever. Time does not exist for him. There is no future. He can never look ahead. His is too fine a nature to bear the annihilation of its exalted dreams. There is no consolation for him. He has looked upon the loveliest in life, and rather than have the vision blurred, he takes it with him triumphantly to the shades of death. Ah, Maddison, woe unto the man who cannot learn to submit to life as it is, to disassociate aspiration from reality!"

That is the keynote of the book: Maddison is unable to disassociate aspiration from reality. His hopes and ideals are too tenuous, too unattainable. I suppose it is inevitable that he fall in love with a woman in no way worthy of him, a woman who has a husband and who has loved three or four other men besides. But his infatuation makes him blind, at first, to her true nature. Although she warns him, telling him she is "a rotter," he refuses to believe it, and at last when so much evidence accumulates that he can no longer close his eyes to the facts he still escapes complete misery through his imaginative concept of her. He thinks of her as "a little girl in a pink frock, a large eyed darling with a basket of red cherries, giving them all away with a shy sidelong smile," or as all compassion, "like a mother," or as sensitive to beauty and mirroring the natures of those closest to her—anything but in her true light. Not until the very end does he really face the truth.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

LILYAN TASHMAN.

LAWRENCE GRAY.
[Acme Photo.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Strange traditions from Haiti, related recently in great detail in W. B. Seabrook's "Magic Island," are being adapted to the screen by Walter Futter for the Columbia company here. The film, which is short, is called "Zombie," depicting a belief of Haitien voodoo devotees that dead men—bodies without souls—are brought back to earth and worked as slaves in rice and sugar fields.

They had to have some masculine appeal in "The Mad Parade," the unusual all woman film in which Lilyan Tashman, Evelyn Brent, Louise Fazenda and Irene Rich all did striking work, so they introduced a man's photograph. The photo was not identified by name in the film. All the film girls who heard about it wanted to know what one man, out of all the men in the world, could, by a mere showing of his features in a photo, invest a film with enough male appeal to compensate for the combined feminine charm of Lilyan, Evelyn, Louise and Irene. I asked the studio and they said the picture they used was of Lawrence Gray.

Sally Wants Young Fans to Tell Why They Like Baseball

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Isn't baseball news exciting these days! The White Sox are coming back with a vengeance. The Athletics whom the Sox will play on our party day are, of course, still holding their position at the top of the list. Aren't we fortunate to have been invited to see them when they come to town.

I'm looking forward to a thrilling game and I know you are, too. And how could it be otherwise with such artists as Simmons, to whom a home run is just another incident in the day's game; or Mickey Cochrane, star catcher on a star team, or Mose Grove, who gives the opposing team something to worry about when he tosses them over the plate.

Surely this will a day for every young baseball fan to remember. That is, you'll remember it if you win an invitation to our party on Thursday, Aug. 20, and to win an invitation you must, of course, write a crackerjack letter. The hundred boys and girls whom I shall select as my guests for that party will be those whose letters convince me they'd really and truly enjoy a major league baseball game. So if you can do that with a letter which will reach me no later than Thursday morning, have it include your name, address and age, you'll be quite likely to find you name listed among the winners when they are published next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

Peiping Gets Modern Cabarets from North, with Russian Debacle

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, Aug. 10.—The dance hall came to China via Harbin and other north Manchurian cities with the blowup of Russia. The girls of this cabaret life in time were driven by the competition of their fellow Russians into Shanghai, Tientsin and other treaty ports, but now even there they are being replaced by the Chinese flapper.

When the capital was established by the Kuomintang at Nanking, then the classic city of Peiping became just one cabaret after another. But rarely is a Manchu to be found in them.

Mr. Donoghue's announcement followed a conference with Victor J. Grabel, director of the band, and Perry Addleman, representing the association. The 70 piece band has been rehearsing for the last six weeks. The series of concerts, to cost approximately $35,000, is supported by voluntary public subscriptions. A meeting of the mayor's commission and officers of the band association will be held this afternoon to formulate final plans. The commission underwrote $25,000 of the expense.

Science Trails Tasty Steaks from Pastures

Breeds, Feeds Animals for Your Table.

Sooner or later the average citizen will be wise enough to take a squint at the succulent steak reposing on the plate before him at his dinner table, and know definitely where it came from. He'll know more about the past life of the animal that produced it than he will about some of the guests around his board. For science is taking the guesswork out of meat production.

Some of the problems of research now engaging the experts in the beef, lamb and pork markets will be up for discussion at the annual conference of the agents of state agricultural experiment stations and representatives of the United States department of agriculture at the Congress hotel during the next three days. Yesterday the program was outlined as the conference convened. Today, tomorrow and until noon on Thursday it will consist of round table discussion in various divisions.

Scarcely any phase of the meat industry has escaped attention in these three classifications: beef, pork and lamb. Not only do these scientists know the pedigree of the animals with which they are working, but they know which are the best breeds, which the firmest and tastiest meats, which run to fat and which cost the most to market.

They are concentrating now on determining which of the animals will be the wisest to breed in preference to others, with the ultimate object of producing the best meat and the highest grade at the price paid by the consumer, which at the same time returns the best profit to the producer.

Already these workers, whose chairman for the gathering is Dean W. C. Coffey of the University of Minnesota, have gone into numerous phases of the subject since their inception in 1924. They have studied the lands on which the animals graze, the food they eat, the exercise they get. They know which are the better types of barns and how much grain should satisfy each cow or calf.

They know, too, and are constantly learning more about the best methods of preparing these viands once the beasts are slaughtered. Methods of cooking and of serving constitute as important a part of their study as the strictly agricultural matters. For instance, they are discouraging boiling as the way to prepare many cuts, and recommending simmering instead. Basting a piece of meat is also being frowned on here.

E. W. Sheets, secretary of the conference, stated yesterday that one of the major items of progress in the study is the production of a 900 pound yearling calf for the market, produced in Missouri after lengthy experiments as superior meat. He is a representative of the animal husbandry department of the federal department of agriculture.

YVONNE GALL STARS IN RAVINIA CONCERT AFTER ACT OF OPERA

Yvonne Gall did noble service last night. When the single fourth act of "Les Huguenots" is given at Ravinia, there is so much extra time that it is necessary to fill in with a preliminary concert done by the Chicago Symphony orchestra and a soloist. Last night the soloist was Miss Gall, and she was also the Valentine in the operatic act.

I have many times spoken words of admiration about Miss Gall in opera. When as semi-occasionally happens, she appears in concert, my admiration is intensified. She is a singer of extraordinary ability and charm. She knows a lot of good French songs of all periods from the earliest to the contemporary, and she sings them with exquisite taste. Some of her numbers were graceful arias from the ancient operas of Paris, some were highly developed art songs by Dupare, Faure, Busser, and Gaubert, and these were the ones most liked by the audience. She repeated one and sang an encore at the end of the group. Finally there was a group of popular Grecian melodies put into song form in clever fashion by Ravel.

She had expert assistance at the piano by an uncommonly able accompanist, Wilfrid Pelletier, one of the Ravinia conductors. In between times the orchestra under the direction of Eric De LaMarter played Massenet's "Phedre" overture, which has begun to date a bit, and works by Debussy and Ravel whose tang is still that of the present generation. Latin Americans Say U. S. Press Fails to Understand Them

Harvey Ingram of the Des Moines, Ia., Register and Tribune spoke in favor of a universal fraternity of newspaper men.

GANDHI OPPOSES AMERICANS JOINING HIM AS DISCIPLES

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Many Americans have written to Mahatma Gandhi seeking to join his model colony at Ahmedabad and to practice his principles of self denial, prayer and service for others, but in no case has he encouraged them to come.

Gandhi replied today to a recent applicant, Euthymios Chagaris of Hoboken, N. J., that the severities of life and the sacrifices required at Ahmedabad were great.

"You should know the climate in India is not suitable for those brought up in the vigorous climate of the west," he wrote. "And then life with me is a very hard life and perhaps much simpler than you have imagined. However, if you have the means to enable you to come to India and to go back comfortably in the event of disappointment you may venture out and see for yourself.

"In no case is it necessary for you to profess Hinduism. The rule at Ashram [model colony] is to enable every one to make the fullest progress in the faith of his forefathers, the belief being that all great faiths of the world are equal for their respective adherents."

Few Victims Rally for War on Hay Fever

But U. of Ill. Hospital Expects More.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Of the 150 persons suffering from hay fever, or asthma, who are wanted at the University of Illinois Research hospital, 1317 West Polk street, for the purpose of scientific research, only half a dozen appeared yesterday.

Although the first day set aside for men and women volunteers in the experiment netted so few hay fever victims, physicians at the hospital were optimistic. The autumnal hay fever season usually begins punctually as clockwork on Aug. 15. Then the six weeks' experiment period will begin, but the hot, damp summer has made weeds more luxuriant, they said, with the result that each day now is bringing on more watery eyes, etc. By Aug. 15 they expect to have eight patients and 150 on the waiting list. Applicants may call each morning until then at the hospital.

Most of those who volunteered to spend four nights each in a hospital ward where the air is freed from pollen by means of a filter appeared to be good cases of hay fever, according to university authorities. One was weeping when he arrived. One was wheezing. Another, Casey Wollock of 1942 North Wincheater avenue, an unemployed war veteran, assured the physician in charge that he would be wheezing perfectly in a few days.

The free board and lodging offered to hay fever sufferers is not the only lure. Harold Heilinger, 27 years old, tailor, of 7543 Phillips avenue, for instance, offered himself just to get some sleep. A private patient of one of the physicians conducting the experiment, he learned of the air filter, and, if he can sleep in the purified air, intends to install one in his home.

It is possible that the physician directing the clinical phase of the experiment may take a bed in the ward for a night or two, as he developed hay fever last year when a beaker full of pollen blew up his nose in his laboratory, and he already feels symptoms coming on, he said.

Two of the 150 subjects of the experiment, who are to sleep in the pollen free ward at night and if able may attend to their regular duties and pleasures during the day time, have been chosen. They were admitted to the ward last Saturday.

One of them, Mohammed Suffie, a native of India, was carried in the hospital, unable to walk because of asthma, which often follows hay fever. Mohammed, explained physicians, exemplifies the general rule applying to hay fever and asthma victims that they are men of brain rather than brawn. Mohammed lay on his back, reading a volume of Schopenhauer as he breathed pollenless air. The other patient, John Starcovitch, 53 years old, has had eczema due to pollen for 20 years.

The present experiment was begun in a less pretentious way last summer, with a less adequate filter and only a few patients, it was explained. This will be the first experiment on this scale conducted in any hospital, it was said.

The entire study of proteins in pollen as related to the symptoms of tree fever, which occurs from March 15 to May 30; so-called rose fever, really grass fever, from May 31 to June 31, and hay fever is in an early stage, it was explained. Believing that if victims of hay fever and other allergics could rest at night, their resistance would be built up so that in tim they might lose their sensitivity to certain pollens, Dr. William H. Welker, head of the department of physiological chemistry of the university, suggested such a filter as will be used in the tests.

Only 10 per cent of hay fever victims so far have been cured, doctors explained. Symptoms are caused by the breathing in of pollen, which may float on the wind for 200 miles. Rag weeds cause 90 per cent of the hay fever here. Hundreds of tons of pollen daily are spread in the air of Chicago, approximately 1,000 grains of it occupying every square inch of space in the height of the season. Fifty per cent of hay fever victims ultimately develop asthma.

Although hay fever is related to migraine, some authorities say, in that migraine perhaps is an allergic disease, affected by certain foods, the test for hay fever is simple. Last year the Research hospital conducted an experiment in migraine, a severe form of headache, and after examining hundreds of applicants accepted one who, it developed, after weeks of tests, did not have a pure migraine. Both diseases have a hereditary background. With hay fever, skin on the arm may be scratched and a serum made from pollen injected. If positive, a bump will appear.

Tapering Silhouette Is Fashion's Latest Order for Autumn

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A wide shoulder line from which the silhouette tapers in to the waist, but slightly at the hips, and then tapering in again toward the knees is your figure order for the fall.

Though I don't imagine the wide shoulder is going to be taken up seriously. If you haven't them naturally, you're not going to go in for any shoulder padding, are you? But that long tapering line of silhouette from shoulders of any width is what your're going to go wishing you had when you get around to seeing yourself in one of the full length triple mirrors on fall shopping days.

Incidentally, is there anything quite so devastating as oneself before one of those three-in-one reflection givers if one's appetite has not been behaving lately? They can take the heart and the body and soul right out of your day. Now, if we've got to be more tapered—

Well, there's time for whittling down the hipline, and that's where concentration had better be applied for a few weeks. I should like to have statistics to bear up my suspicion that more excess weight pains are suffered over the swollen hip and the ponderous thigh than over any other local area susceptible to fat.

As women get on, there the fat seems to locate. The thighs particularly become weighted with a solid feeling burden of adipose. The tapering line from hip to knee is almost impossible with the kind of thigh just mentioned.

There is one best exercise for this tapered line we're after. I've given it before, but now that the fall dresses are calling for it, I'll repeat it. I know actual cases, not hearsay ones, in which this single exercise done 50 to 100 times morning and night will take inches off in a comparatively short time. Do it to music just by way of injecting a light note into a duty.

Lie flat on the back on the floor. Keep the head and shoulders as close to the floor as possible as you do this: Raise right leg, swing it over the left, stretch on it until you have it at right angles with the body, give another tug on the now stretched muscles and return leg to place. Then swing over with the left leg the same way. But do your rolling on the hips, not with the body.

Do this morning and night and just see what it will do for the too heavy hips and thigh.

Men Well Liked by Others Makes Best Husband Material

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Is it wise for a girl to marry a man that other men do not like? Or, can you judge a man's character by public opinion? Understand, this is not a young man I'm talking about. He is 40, to be exact. He has been around a lot, but hasn't any friends apparently and I notice he makes no hit when he meets new men."

"WANTONNO."

It's possible that a man might reach the age of 40 and, though of excellent character, be of that painfully reserved type that discourages friendly advances.

It's possible again that through no fault of his own, no deliberate fault, that is, a man's personality might be the sort that repels, yet on acquaintance he might prove all right.

But women being what they are and noticeably being full of pride about the men they annex as husbands, other people's opinions usually do matter. If their husbands are noticeably unpopular, the reaction is decidedly unfavorable in the woman's mind.

One of our noted judges says: "After the first flush of marriage happiness, the bride is going to judge her man by much the same standards as others judge him. If he hasn't measured up before to public opinion, the chances are strongly against his measuring up to her private opinion in the second year after the great event."

The judge gathered his convictions straight from the tales of women who sought divorce release from the men other men held no high opinion of.

If a pair could run off and live on a desert isle, it wouldn't matter much if only the wife found her man's companionship desirable. But since social contact cannot be escaped and because the wife's own popularity depends greatly upon her husband's place in the community, there should be time given to considering the advisability of marrying a man that other people do not like.

Three Chic Sweaters Suitable for School

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — The smart sweater has been getting younger and younger, and more girlish, until it has become the fashionable blouse for the girl who is of school age, actually, or in appearance.

Three of Hermes' new sweater blouses that would be perfect for wear at school are shown in the accompanying sketch, and they are quite as good for the girl who stays at home, provided she looks sufficiently young.

The one at the top of the sketch is made of white wool, knitted with the classic sweater stitch, and around the neck line Hermes places a roll that resembles a loose turtle neck. This roll is knitted in stripes that are white, turquoise, and black. Smaller rolls are placed at the edges of the short sleeves. The sweater ends at the waistline in a ribbed band.

In the center is a tuckin sweater blouse, also from Hermes, knitted with an openwork stripe in royal blue wool. The short, puff sleeve at the V-shaped neck line is knitted in blue and white stripes and is removable. The cap is knitted into a tam shape with a pattern of blue and white checks.

At the bottom is a long sleeved sweater blouse made of bright red wool, with a lacy yoke and lower sleeves of white wool. This blouse is not pulled on over the head, but opens by unbuttoning the red buttons at the back. The round neck line is trimmed with a cord of red and white wool having tasseled ends that are tied in a bow.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Two Dates a Week.

"Dear Miss Blake: Is it advisable for a fellow of 18 to go out with girls. If so, how often?

"WILLIAM."

Yes, boys of your age should have the companionship of girls. You may devote two evenings a week to them, for a start. William.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Overly Zealous.

My sister and I were idly discussing the queerness of the family who had recently moved in just next door. At that moment their house was in total darkness except for a dim light in the attic. That light had been annoying us all evening, and every evening since they had moved in.

During a lull in our conversation we became conscious of a strange muffled thud, like something heavy falling. Then a masculine voice sounded on the air. "Take that, and that, and that!" We noted no response, but the queer thudding noise continued. Then again the voice—this time louder and more excited, "Stand up and take your medicine like a man!"

About then we had heard enough. I was panic stricken, but my sister, who is the practical member of our family, rushed in and called the police. In about five minutes four burly officers were shouting and threatening to break down our neighbor's door unless admittance was given.

Just about that time we, who had followed along over, saw the door slowly open, and a young man stood before us. Addressing his remarks to the officer in charge, he asked:

"Whom did you want to see?"

"You!" the officer shouted. "What were you doing up in that attic? Come clean now, we've got the goods on you!"

A sickly grin overspread the youth's face.

"Just practicing with my punching bag," he explained. "Guess I got a bit too excited. Sorry," he said, looking directly at my sister and me, "if I have disturbed any one."

My sister and I crept softly home.

Flying Hobby of Miss Lynde During Summer

EVERYTHING about flying interests Margaret Emily Lynde, daughter of the Cornelius Lyndes of Winnetka, and she is hoping to add a lot of information about aeronautics to her already extensive knowledge of aeronautics. She is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Ferguson [Mrs. Lynde's sister] in Philadelphia, and expects during her stay to make a trip to Akron, where the autogyros are made. She won't be able to fly one herself, in spite of her well earned pilot's license, because it's necessary to take a special course of training, different from that of regular plane flying, in order to take one up alone. So she does hope to go up in one and find out all about them.

Miss Lynde gave up her job at Sky Harbor, where she has been working and learning to fly for more than a year now and is taking a month's vacation. She and her brother, Samuel Adams Lynde, drove east together, she for her visit with the Fergusons and he to go down for a visit with Mrs. Henry A. Gardner and her young people at Wrentsport on Cape Cod. Margaret Lindy has flown something like a hundred hours towards the 100 she has to go to qualify for her limited transport license. That will be all she needs to do any kind of flying she wants.

Do you call people who live in Santa Barbara, Santa Barbarians? Well, anyway—the Clarence B. One evening last spring, the conversation at Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Estey's dinner table ran something like this:

Miss Estey [youngest daughter of the household]—"Do you know what? I'm never, never even seen the ocean."

Dr. Talbot—"You haven't? Well, we must fix that. I'll just see to it myself that you see it this summer."

That was all there was to that, and Dr. Talbot didn't think any more about it. Elinor Estey did, though, and the upshot of it is that Elinor and her Daddy are now seeing the ocean and the other sights in New York City.

Kids Present Own Circus to Deliver Free Ice to Poor

It is generally understood that when an idea and a group of children get together something is bound to happen.

That combination out in Park Ridge, the other day, caused considerable excitement in the South Chester avenue neighborhood and likewise for THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, which was the recipient of $10. But to continue:

A parade of a dozen youngsters on tricycles, bicycles, and in wagons, headed by color bearers carrying the American flag, informed Park Ridge that a circus was coming to town. Later when the great event came along, a goodly crowd of ticket purchasers found that in addition to a circus there was plenty of homemade candy.

"Mary O'Rourke and Katherine Conners typed our tickets for us and sold our candy and cake for us," explained Noreen O'Rourke, who ended her letter with "Hoping to be a regular helper to THE TRIBUNE ice fund." Others taking part were Teddy Clark, Mildred and Howard Anderson, John Thomas, Mary K. Sweeney, Billy, Noreen, Agnes, Rita, David, Mary and Kathleen O'Rourke, Bobby Dorn, Peggy Thomas, Brahm and Ernest Malkawitz, Fred Orr, Bobby Stewart, and Bingo and Sally Colb.

Another circus crowd reporting a rushing business was that in Wilmette. George and Jack Redding, Vaughan Johnston, Susanne and Sally Jane Lyon gave the circus and earned $4 for the ice fund.

FLOWER OF THORNS

By Marie Conway Oemler

SYNOPSIS.

Sally Rutherford, the last of a proud old southern family, following the ruin and suicide of the grandfather has a struggle to keep the heavily mortgaged Oakleigh plantation. The estate of the Winstends adjoins Oakleigh. Henry Winstead holds the Oakleigh mortgage. His only son, Sam, loves Sally, but Sally is in love with Lowndes Jennings. Lowndes jilts Sally for the wealthy Gertrude Reinert. Sam asks Sally to marry him, although he knows she doesn't love him. Sally becomes Sam's wife in name only and Sam gives Oakleigh back to her as a wedding present. Sam goes abroad and tells Sally she can use him for her freedom. After Sam leaves Sally discovers that Henry Winstead had not taken advantage of her grandfather, as she believed, but had tried to save him.

INSTALLMENT XXXII.

WIPED OUT.

A few days after the dinner party which Henry and Sally hadn't graced, Mr. Jennings drove out to Winstends. Mrs. Jennings and her mother being guests at a hotel tea to which he was sure Sally hadn't been asked. Joe Dixon told him that Mrs. Sam was over at the greenhouse with McFarland.

She was petting a young plant when Lowndes appeared—a flushed, pretty busy Sally, more like the girl he had first known, and she shook hands perfunctorily as he came forward, then went on with her work. She was interested in the work, not him. With a few words of advice, McFarland took himself off.

"I rather hoped and believed I'd see you the other night."

"We sent regrets at once. We were sorry, but we weren't able to be present," she told him, matter-of-factly, pressing earth firmly around the roots of the plant.

"It was deadly dull when you didn't come and I knew you weren't coming."

To this she made no answer, but labeled the plant and put it aside.

He looked at her dangerously.

"You know my heart was breaking because I didn't see you," he told her in a low voice. The assistant gardener had left the greenhouse, which they now had to themselves. It was full of diffused glow of sunlight coming in through the raised panes of the roof. Some very beautiful roses were in bloom and he bent to sniff one large red blossom near him, carelessly.

At his words her lips curled. She raised her head from her work and gave him a straight glance.

"I don't know anything of the kind," she said shortly. "I should be sorry to know anything of the kind."

"Do you love the man you married, Sally?" he demanded.

"That," she told him vehemently, "is none of your business." She added: "It should be enough for you that I am married to him."

"It should be and it would be if I didn't know why you married him," he reasoned with her. "But you see, I do know. . . . God help us both! You married him because of me—because of my folly. You didn't love him.

With a sudden, savage, maddened gesture he caught her.

You don't love him now. You love me . . . even as I love you. My heart tells me so."

"Then your heart tells you a thumping lie!" said she defiantly.

"You say so, but you know better and I know you know better, Sally." She said, after a pause in which she struggled with anger and contempt. "I could never know whether or not I was really hearing the truth from you . . . except that once when Sam forced it upon you. I have not expressed indignation, anger, bitterness—for, on my soul, I feel none, Lowndes. I do not hate you, I do not love you. You are . . . you are wiped out!" she told him with terrible simplicity and truthfulness.

"Do you realise what you are telling me?" he asked hoarsely.

"I realise what I am telling you: the truth, Lowndes, the truth," she said sorrowfully. For she was suddenly sorry for him.

"I—I do not believe you. I cannot believe you!" he exclaimed. "You are talking like this . . . out of revenge. You are revenging yourself upon me! I—I made you unhappy—and you are torturing me!" He began to pace restlessly in the narrow aisle between the flowers.

"No. God knows there is no revenge in me," she told him pitifully. "That foolish affair between you and me . . . is all wiped out as though it had never been."

"No! No! No!" he protested passionately. Opposition always roused Lowndes.

"Yes, yes, yes," she insisted.

"But I love you!"

She shook her head. "It is useless. It is too late. It is wrong for you to say so now."

"It could never be wrong for me to say I love you, Sally."

"It is horrible of you to admit it, Lowndes. Remember Gertrude. She loves you."

"I married her, didn't I?" he asked savagely. "She's got me!"

"You married her and you should be faithful to her trust. And please don't forget that I am married to another man," she told him resolutely.

"Sally, Sally."

"Do please go now, Lowndes. It is foolish to talk like this. It makes me nervous. It distresses me."

"Is that all?" he asked, strangling.

"It should make me indignant," she admitted. "As it is, I can only feel annoyed . . . and distressed."

He stood regarding her a full moment—Sally whom he loved, who, he was sure, still loved him, but chose to deny it, to repel him! Out of revenge, he told himself. She had married Winstead out of revenge. And she was lost to him. So long as they two lived Sally must be lost to him. He couldn't bear it! With a sudden, savage, maddened gesture he caught her and crushed her against him. His lips fell upon hers savagely.

"You . . . want me . . . to believe . . . that madness!" he panted. "But I won't . . . I won't . . . I won't. I love you. I love you," and he kissed her—brow, eyes, lips, he kissed her desperately, with the ardor of a passion long denied and long repressed.

She struggled in his grasp, but he pinioned her arms. A sick, blind horror fell upon her. If she had ever had any doubt of her feelings for Lowndes, the last doubt left her now. Hatred flooded her consciousness.

"Beast!" she gasped through her bruised lips, struggling. I despise you! Coward! Liar! I hate you!"

And suddenly she tore one arm free and struck him a resounding blow across the cheek. He roared with mad laughter and sought to gather her into his embrace again. She retreated and he advanced. He was out of bounds, white lipped, all but insane. She seized the flower pot she had been handling and desperately hurled it at him. It struck him on the forehead and broke, scattering soil all over him. A red streak showed on his forehead.

The pain brought him to his senses. He stood still, trembling violently, blinking as one suddenly awakened.

"Sally!" he gasped. "Sally!"

"O, go, go, go at once!" she cried, at the end of her endurance. "Go, and never let me see you again!"

He brushed the soil off his coat mechanically. Then he put his shaking hand to his forehead, already beginning to swell. Almost stupefied, he stared at the broken flower pot, the broken rose cutting, the scattered dirt. Again he put his hand to his bruised forehead.

"I must have been mad," he mumbled. "I am sure I was mad."

"I know you were," said she hysterically. "Now will you go? Please!"

She was panting, disheveled. Her hair was tousled, her cheeks painfully flushed.

"Sally, I beg your pardon," he cried, ashamed. "You—roused the devil in me."

"It doesn't require much rousing," she told him bitterly. "Now will you go?"

"Good-by, then, Sally. And if . . . you have to condemn me . . . remember, I love you," he told her.

She did not answer, but waited for him to leave her. He lingered a moment more, looking at her imploringly. But she, outraged, humiliated, tingling with shame and rage, averted her gaze to avoid his. With lowered head, the red mark vividly visible on his forehead, he walked out of the greenhouse and made his way to his waiting car. He gathered a handful of bright foliage alongside the road, presently. He would explain to Gertrude that while he was gathering them for her beside a ditch his foot slipped and he struck his head on the fence rail on the other side of the ditch.

. . . . . .

Young Mrs. Winstead liked to visit the two schools on the place, one for the white and one for colored children, and the small hospital with its separate wards. There was, too, a library, well patronized; and a small Negro church. The Winstead employés were particularly well looked after.

Henry took a keen interest in Sam's people and on Sunday afternoons and holidays it was his custom to visit them in person. Lately he had taken Sally with him—this would be a part of her work, he told her seriously. She drove him in her small car, and this pleased Henry.

It was upon these visits of his that his daughter-in-law really learned to know Henry. His quiet, unobtrusive charity made her feel humble. Whatever complaint there might be, Henry heard in person and adjusted. Whenever help was needed Henry saw that it was forthcoming. One of these people told him of the tenant family who had lately moved to the country and were then living in a tumble-down shack behind a clump of trees at the end of a crooked small lane. Terribly poor, they were, his informant said, with a crowd of naked, hungry, barefooted children.

All Children Are Entitled to Sheer Happiness of Play

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"I never played when I was a boy," said a man to me one day. "My parents didn't believe in play. After school and on Saturdays I worked. Literally the only play time I had was when I sneaked off—and that I couldn't manage very often."

Those ideas used to be held by many people of puritanical heritage and also by some of European birth. Happily such ideas are disappearing, as parents and teachers come to realize the importance of play in children's lives—as they come to realize that children learn through play. Animals know that instinctively—see how the lioness plays with her cubs, the mother cat with her kittens and how the young animals play among themselves. We should know it consciously.

Yesterday we listed sketchily the ways in which play develops children. If you need convincing, you can find instances to fit each one. For instance: The little child playing with blocks, piling them up, fitting them into boxes, is developing his big muscles, his deftness, patience, perseverence and judgment.

The same child playing with others in a sand pile exercises inventiveness and imagination, the give-and-take that are part of pleasant companionship—or of his social development, if you want to express it that way.

Those who are playing games learn to be fair, to obey rules, to take turns, to be able to lose, to despise dishonesty and to admire good nature.

The use of various playthings and apparatus, sports like bicycles, scooters, slides, rings, tennis and swimming develop courage, persistence, alertness, ability to take chances, to exercise quick judgment, and so on.

And then there are those singing games for the younger child which make it necessary for him to be attentive, to coördinate his body to a sense of rhythm and to remember words.

All these kinds of play a child does for intense pleasure and interest. That would be enough in itself, if it were all. But we know that through all these activities he is learning—that they are doing their part toward his happy, well rounded development.

Brief reading on the nature of play and practical suggestions on play material will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FARM AND GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

NEW LAWN IN SIX DAYS.

How an entirely new lawn was constructed in six days by a Springfield florist for the Illinois State fair although temperatures ranged from 97 to 102 degrees might be thought to be a secret, yet the florist, when he finished the job, revealed it was a matter of care and attention rather than luck.

The state fair opening day, Aug. 22, was deemed rather near to attempt construction of a lawn by seeding, yet Director Stuart E. Pierson objected to the cost that sodding would have involved around the new Gov. Emmerson building, just completed. Bids for seeding the lawn were opened and the one accepted included a clause that the lawn would be satisfactory or there would be no pay.

Monday, July 27, workmen raked the proposed lawn to form a seed bed. The following day they sowed the seed. Friday, July 31, the first tinge of green appeared in the shaded corner near the building and on the following Monday the entire lawn showed green. Since then the lawn has been accepted as satisfactory.

Seed was mixed for the rush work and consisted of 40 per cent southern grown grass seeds of the varieties that do well in winter lawns to serve as a "catch crop"; another 40 per cent bluegrass and the remaining one-fifth lawn clover. Water was sprayed on the ground almost continuously through the heat of the day but no sprinkling was done late in the evening.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Teddie, aged 3, did not want to take his nap and cried so much he bothered the baby. Finally his mother gave him a good old-fashioned spanking, after which he went to sleep and slept two hours. When he awoke he was bright and smiling.

Mother said, "Now, you see how fine you feel after having a nap?"

Teddie replied, "Yeth, but didn't you and I have a terrible fight!" M. R.

Blames Pinching Shoes for Most Troubles of Feet

Los Angeles, Aug. 10.—(AP)—If there were no shoes which pinched the feet there would be little work for chiropodists, Dr. Frank J. Carleton, vice president of the National Association of Chiropodists, said today. That organization opened its 20th annual convention here. He described a properly fitted shoe:

"It should clear the great toe by half an inch, and the correct heel should be a shade less than two inches in height. The shoe should grasp the foot snugly at the waist and should cling to the heel. The joint of the large toe should rest at the widest part of the sole and there should be no over riding of the sole."

Founder Halts Kellogg Cancer Research Plans

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Dissolution of the K. Kellogg Foundation, established here early last year for cancer research, amounting to $100,000 annually, has been ordered by its trustees. They have made application for such action in the Superior court after only nine months of the intended five years of research had been conducted. The reason given by the trustees is that the multimillionaire cereal manufacturer wished to devote all of his attention to the W. K. Kellogg Child Welfare Foundation established last November by him in Battle Creek, Mich.

Summertime is cookie time—at least to the younger members of the family. Isn't it amazing what an enormous number of sweet cakes those eight, nine, ten and eleven year olds can consume in the course of one day? Apparently it doesn't daunt their youthful appetites at the meal hour, either. 'Way back when, in the days of the old cookie jar, grandmother had a struggle to keep it full for all the granddaughters and grandsons. However, it seems to be just as much a problem now as it was in the days of large families.

One mother I know did, what seemed to me, a mighty clever thing. The day following an unusually heavy raid on the pantry (by all the hungry youngsters of the neighborhood besides her own two sons) she announced that if there were any more cookies to be made the children would have to make them. Whereupon she laid out all the necessary ingredients for the boys, greased the cookie sheets, lighted the oven, and went on with her other kitchen tasks. The finished product was surprisingly good, and the boys have been making them at intervals ever since. They were even grateful to this mother for letting them have the fun of doing it all!—Just a suggestion, but well worth thinking about.

People, almost universally, are known for their prejudices against certain foods. But show me the man, woman or child that doesn't like some one variety of small sweet cake. We all have our favorites, of course. I like little "drop" cookies, chocolate ones with juicy walnut or pecan nut meats—the kind you consume five or six of without blinking an eye and completely forget the tyrant scale waiting for you upstairs. Drop cookies can be stirred up in such a jiffy. My best recipe for them follows:

CHOCOLATE COOKIES.

½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
½ cup sour milk
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. baking powder
2 cups pastry flour
2 squares bitter chocolate
¼ cup cold water
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. vanilla
1 cup chopped nut meats

Cream the butter well. Add the sugar, and cream both together. Add the eggs, well beaten. Dissolve the soda in the sour milk and add to the above. Then the melted chocolate and water. Sift the flour, measure, and sift with the salt and baking powder. Stir thoroughly. Add the vanilla and beat for three or four minutes. Add the nut meats a few at a time and drop the batter from a teaspoon on buttered cookie sheets. Bake in a slow oven about 15 minutes.

ROLLED BUTTER COOKIES.

1½ cups butter
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs
1 tsp. baking powder
Juice and grated skin of 1 orange
3½ cups flour

Cream the butter. Add the sugar and cream together. Then add the well beaten eggs to the sugar and butter. Stir in the orange. Sift the flour, measure, add the baking powder to two cups of flour and sift into the dough. Work in the remaining flour. Handle it lightly, keeping the dough soft. Roll and cut on floured board. Sprinkle with sifted granulated sugar and bake in a hot oven for seven or eight minutes.

Ice Box Needed.

"Mr. W. is ill, and Mrs. W. is trying valiantly to provide for their six small children. Two of the children, ages 6 and 8, are much undernourished and in order to keep their food in proper condition during the summer months it will be necessary for them to have an ice box. Do you suppose one of your readers has one to give? E. H."

The ice problem becomes such a staggering one for the poor in the summer time. Many times when they are able to procure ice free they have no place to keep it. Can you improve the situation here by donating the ice chest you are about to discard?

KLEENEX
DISPOSABLE TISSUES

WASHING handkerchiefs is no longer a necessary evil. This unpleasant task is ended forever—if you choose to join the thousands who have adopted Kleenex.

What is Kleenex, you ask? Kleenex is a remarkable tissue—far softer, gentler, more absorbent than you ever dreamed a tissue substance could be made. Tests prove it's twice as absorbent as an old linen handkerchief!

Always clean, fresh, dainty

Kleenex comes to you in dainty squares, handkerchief size. Conveniently packed, in a Cellophane-wrapped package that keeps every tissue fresh and sanitary.

And the cost is so very, very little. If you send your washing out, Kleenex will save considerable money, for many individual tissues can be used for the price of merely laundering one handkerchief!

There's no self-infection as with the handkerchief that's carried back to the face again and again. When you use Kleenex, all germs are destroyed, along with the tissue.

Try Kleenex for removing face creams. Authorities say it's best, because Kleenex is so powerfully absorbent that it blots all impurities from the pores.

Many home uses

Use Kleenex for wiping spectacles and razor blades. For dusting and polishing. Mothers find Kleenex invaluable in caring for babies.

Kleenex is so enormously popular that any drug, dry goods or department store can supply you. The package is Cellophane-wrapped for perfect cleanliness. A convenient arrangement permits them to be removed with one hand.

If you have Hay Fever...

COUNTY OPENS WAR AS THISTLES MENACE CROPS

Hunt for Violators of Weed Statutes.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Officers of Cook county officials to wage a serious weed infestation

EMMETT WHEALAN.

Canada thistle and other illegal weeds planned to shed their white, puffy seeds unchecked.

Forty commissioners in seven townships of the county bordering on Lake, Du Page counties, were notified by the county board to search for violators of the state noxious weed law, which provides a fine of not more than $100 for permitting this pernicious growth on either private or public property.

Thistle Found in Loop.

"Despite the recent hot weather conditions," declared Wheelan, "this pest has been germinating at a rapid rate. Given a good wind, their seeds will blow for 300 miles. Some of them have been found in the loop district.

"The real menace at hand, these are particularly dangerous, as it is practically impossible to separate this weed from crops. I am also in favor of Mr. Charles G. Sauers, superintendent of the forest preserve, who says that property of the weeds."

Wheelan stated yesterday that fifteen tractors had been operating during the hot weather, mowing thistles and other bad weeds. This method, he said, was temporary only, as some chemical treatment was believed to be considered for later use.

Scores the Subdividers.

Subdividers, who were violating the law set by letting thistles go to seed, were scrapers were blamed by him for the rapid spread of noxious weeds in recent years in Cook county. Some 5,000 acres and over a hundred farms in the county are reported to stop production each year by the pest.

First Johnston, assistant sanitary engineer for the Sanitary district, stated the district had been burning and mowing weeds along its properties.

Bug-Eyed Demonstration.

C. O. Barrett, in charge of the Cook county fruit bureau, declared he had been approached by P. S. Haner, state superintendent of plant inspection, with a plan for staging a demonstration of treating weeds on farms with sodium chlorate, sprayed by a machine. He expects to organize such a demonstration.

County officials expressed their unwillingness to order workmen to use the sodium chlorate spray, since the material is subject to fire hazard if it sets on clothing and is ignited by a match.

The townships in Cook county to be covered by thistle commissioners under Wheelan's orders are Schaumburg, Hanover, Barrington, Palatine, Elk Grove, Wheeling, and Northfield.

PLAN IS REACHED TO PREVENT CITY TEAMSTER STRIKE

The threatened strike of 550 city teamsters, truck drivers and helpers in the street department was practically forestalled yesterday after a conference between Mayor Cermak and union officials. Details of an agreement under which the employés demand for five days work and pay will be met are expected to be settled today.

Under the agreement the members of the City Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers' union, who now are working only four days a week on street repairs, will be on the job another day each week. As this work is financed out of the vehicle tax fund, Mayor Cermak said there will be sufficient money to meet the increased pay rolls.

The appropriation for street and alley cleaning, however, the mayor said, was spent so freely by the last administration in its primary fight that there is not sufficient money left to put the members of the union employed on this work on a five day week. The law department has been asked to decide if there can legally be made a transfer of funds from the vehicle tax fund to the street cleaning fund, the mayor said, and if that is possible the union men on street cleaning also will be put on a five day week.

BUCKLEY BANDIT GOES ON TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE

Watseka, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Joseph Jazorak, 36 year old shell shocked war veteran, went on trial here today before Circuit Judge Frank L. Hooper in the Iroquois county courthouse for the killing of Deputy Sheriff Henry Ennen in the holdup of the Buckley State bank July 16. Three tentative jurors were selected out of 60 veniremen examined during the day.

The defense indicated an insanity plea will be made for Jazorak, who is said to have confessed the slaying. Ennen was shot when Jasorak and two companions were surrounded by a posse of farmers immediatel yafter the robbery. The two confederates, Pierce Lanigan and Robert Felder, are serving sentences of one year to life in the Joliet penitentiary. They pleaded guilty to the robbery and were sentenced July 30.

Attorney Arthur Bohn, representing Jazorak, had advised a plea of guilty but the state declined to bargain by recommending life imprisonment for the plea. Subsequently Barratt O'Hara of Chicago was retained as chief counsel for Jazorak. State's Attorney A. Fred Kendall said he will demand the death penalty.

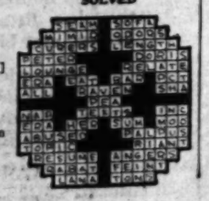
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



GIRL'S SUIT AGAINST YACHTSMAN TO BE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Gertrude Eugenie Salmon's $250,000 suit against Ross W. Judson, multimillionaire yachtsman and former head of Continental Motors, was revealed today as a personal injury action.

Herbert V. Barbour, attorney for Judson, made the revelation. He said a settlement was to be accepted by the girl and court action dropped.

Miss Salmon's claim arises, Barbour said, from a trip in Judson's dingey, a small boat, in Presque Isle harbor, near the Salmon country home, north of Alpena. Miss Salmon claims the dingey, bound for Judson's yacht, was brought to a sudden halt, throwing her backward.

She suffered injuries to her spine, it is claimed, which have affected her nerves.

Peter B. Boyle, her counsel, said several compromise offers were made before today, but were turned down. The settlement made today was "for $1 and other valuable considerations," but she will be recompensed for physician and hospital bills and for loss of a stage engagement.

SEIZE THIEF IN LOOP AS FOUR COPS OPEN FIRE

James Martin, 23 years old, 6108 Stony Island avenue, an unemployed waiter, was captured yesterday after a short chase during which four policemen emptied their revolvers at him as he fled from the First National bank, where he attempted to snatch a purse containing $406 from Miss Rosa Chiesea, 27 years old, 6339 South Elizabeth street, cashier for the Raklios restaurant at 18th street and Wabash avenue. Martin was not wounded.

The cashier had just entered the bank when Martin stepped up to her and attempted to steal the purse. She screamed and Harry Smith, bank policeman, started for Martin, who ran out of the bank and north in Dearborn street. Traffic Policeman John Gaffney, Rowland Rupright, and J. B. Moran joined in the chase. As Martin turned into an alley the policemen opened fire on him. He held his hands up in surrender as bullets bounded about him.

At the Central station Martin said he was desperate because he had been out of work three months. He said he had gone to the bank with the determination of stealing the first purse he could snatch.

MRS. M'LAUGHLIN DOOMS HORSE AS RESULT OF FALL

Oakridge, the horse which threw Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin Sunday, fracturing her left arm, is to be killed. Mrs. McLaughlin made this announcement yesterday from her home at 1215 West Old Mill road, Lake Forest, where she is recuperating.

Mrs. McLaughlin was returning from a morning's ride at the Knollwood club with her husband, Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, when she was thrown near the Laurance Armour estate at 395 North Green Bay road. She was taken to the Alice Home hospital, where the injured arm was dressed. Mrs. McLaughlin was thrown by the horse a year ago and suffered a fractured collarbone.

"Oakridge is 16 years old," Mrs. McLaughlin said. "I brought him from the east ten years ago. He was known as a splendid jumper and trotter. Recently his knees have become weak. I do not wish to destroy him but I cannot do anything else, as he might seriously injure some one in another fall. I don't know when he will be destroyed, but if I get up courage to end him in a day or two I shall order it done."

ONLY ONE IN 50 IN CHICAGO PAYS PERSONALTY TAX

Treasurer's Figures Given to Commission.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Only a fourth of the owners of personal property in Cook county are assessed for taxes, and fewer than a fifth of those assessed pay anything. Those who pay are only 4.99 per cent of the owners.

In Chicago the taxpayers of personal property taxes are relatively fewer. Only one out of 50 owners of personalty pay in Chicago. In the country towns one pays out of each five owners.

These are some of the deductions obtained from an analysis of personal property tax assessments and collections compiled for Cook county. The study was made of the 1929 taxes, due May 1 last, by County Treasurer Joseph B. McDonough and submitted to Gov. Emmerson's revenue committee yesterday afternoon as a reply to its query: How many are assessed for personal property taxes and how many pay?

Million Own Property.

The records show that there are at least 1,040,415 persons and companies owning personal property in Cook county, and only 265,601 are assessed. The figure of 1,040,415 is reached by a compilation of Tax Extracts of the number of families, retail shops, wholesale houses, and industries in the county. It excludes only, because not readily to hand, the hotels, railroads, banks, barber shops, shoe shining places, and several other lines of business which necessarily must own personal property. A comparison of property owners with the number of personal property tax assessments in Chicago, the country towns, and in the county is presented in the following table:

Number of	Chicago.	Country towns.	Cook county.
Families	828,743	144,211	972,954
Retail shops	43,623	6,727	50,353
Wholesale houses.	6,358	.....	6,358
Industries	10,399	671	10,871
Totals	888,886	151,609	1,040,415
Tax assessments.	187,670	78,531	265,601
Per cent assessed.	21.5	51.8	25.5

This 21 per cent within the city have been asked to pay $43,231,934.55 in personal property taxes, and the 51.8 of the suburbs within the county have been put down on the roll for $3,119,233.01 in taxes on personal property. Fewer than 20 per cent of those assessed have paid, but despite that the amount paid on the 1929 taxes is considerably larger than on the 1928 taxes, due July 1, 1930.

Figures for 1929 Given.

The number who have paid 1929 personal property taxes in comparison with the number assessed is presented below. The table also shows the percentage who have paid of those assessed, and in addition the per cent who pay of the total who own personal property:

Personal property—	Chicago.	Country towns.	Cook county.
Number assessed.	187,670	78,531	265,601
Number who paid.	18,573	33,575	51,947
Per cent of assessed owners who paid	9.9	42.5	19.5
Per cent of total owners who paid.	2.1	21.9	4.99

This shows that in proportion to owners of personal property, ten times as many pay in the country towns as within Chicago.

The governor's revenue commission, headed by Joseph K. Brittain, has not made any official recommendation on personalty taxes. Several downstate members, including Ray Wantz and John Watson, have urged a vigorous enforcement of the personal property law, while some Chicago members have argued that a strict enforcement would drive personal property out of Chicago.

Commission Meets Tonight.

The governor's revenue commission will meet tonight, but it is said the personalty tax problem would not be discussed, as advocates for funding of the 1930 taxes are pressing for an expression of the commission's view.

The country towns are not uniformly better than the city in the payment of personal property taxes. Of those assessed the percentage of those who pay varies from 9.5 per cent to 93 per cent. The minimum is nearly twice as high as the poorest paying areas in Chicago and the country town maximum is 4½ times as good as the best in Chicago.

Assessments in Towns.

The following table shows the personal property assessments in each town, the number who have paid, together with the percentage, according to the data of County Treasurer McDonough:

Worth	1,179	729	62.6

Chicago by Districts.

In comparison the same data is presented for the eight towns within Chicago, as follows:

Town—	No. of assessments.	No. who have paid.	Percentage paid.
Hyde Park	41,333	4,775	11.5
Jefferson	27,114	1,533	5.6
Lake	13,463	1,227	9.1
Lake View	29,930	2,263	7.9
North	16,960	2,026	20.7
Rogers Park	10,075	455	4.5
South	17,293	2,369	13.9
West	23,504	3,459	30.0
Totals	187,670	18,573	9.9
County totals	265,601	51,947	19.5

Of all of the 38 towns within the county, Rogers Park—just south of Evanston within the city—shows the smallest percentage of payers among those assessed for personal property taxes.

After making sundry comparisons, County Treasurer McDonough wrote the governor's commission: "This information probably will be as surprising to you as it has been to me."

VON ELM SAYS GOLF WITHOUT GOLD'S NO FUN

Grieves Over Days as an Amateur.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—The most pathetic story ever told of amateur golf has just been unfolded by George von Elm, the golfer, in a written protest against the cruelties imposed on the athletes by the rule of amateurism.

Von Elm is no longer an amateur, rather because what he calls a business man golfer at the conclusion of last year's national amateur tournament. Like Bobby Jones, he disowns the name of professional and these days lives or posed a special classification to accommodate their taste for excitements and their distaste for the word of the term "pro." However, a pro by any other name is still a pro, unless his game happens to be lawn tennis, in which case, of course, he is an amateur.

Golf Calls Him from Business.

The heartrending portion of Von Elm's story occurs when he tells of being passed up his business for five months a year in order to practice for and compete in the amateur golf tournaments in this country and abroad. He was in the insurance business, with offices in two widely separated cities, and in each of these cities he had a partner who did not play championship golf.

Under no compulsion to abandon his insurance business during the golfing season, his two partners stuck to its job and Von Elm tells, with a note of longing and a trace of self-pity, of the prosperous condition which his partner in Detroit was able to achieve while he, Von Elm, owing to his absences from the office, forfeited a degree of commercial progress and lost in comparative luck.

He argues for a subsidy of some kind, but does not get to the bold point of asking the sport of golf to make him as rich as those partners whose, which would seem to be the logical demand in view of his having pointed out the contrast. All he has the nerve to ask for, not for himself, but unhurtand, because he is out of it now, but for generations of amateur golfers not unborn, is a commutation of expenses, although, from the tone of his complaint, I gather that he would be inclined to accept some compensation for his lack of gain. Like a gentleman in a night club waiting for another gentleman to pick up the check, Von Elm seems to be waiting for the golf association to make a proper suggestion as to reimbursement for business opportunities foregone during his golfing season.

It's Tough to Have to Play.

I am glad Von Elm has led up to the subject, anyway, and hope that the golf association is gentleman enough to take the hint, because it does seem too bad that a young man should be required to toll his summers away at golf while his partners remain to enjoy themselves playing business and take their profits, too. I was about to bring up the topic myself but didn't know just whom to win the matter up with.

For a long time I have wanted to go in for competitive hammock-swinging, bathing and fishing during the months of June, July and August, but never have been able to indulge the ambition because there seems to be no athletic body with a good, substantial treasury and a liberal amateur rule to compensate me for the pay I might not receive during my absence. Other journalists, full of zest and pleasure-mad, would stay at the office, hanging out pieces day after day in an endless round of fun and I would return at the end of my vacation to find them driving new cars and pouring superior Scotch in penthouse apartments, while I would have nothing to show for my summer but some snapshots and a coat of tan.

Still, I must admit that up to now, nobody has tried to force me to go away to the mountains for the months of June, July and August, and I wonder who forced Von Elm to give up the insurance business to go traveling to the tournaments.

It's an Athlete's Trade.

Incidentally, while I would not care to suggest that Von Elm, himself, is more than a genius at insurance, it seems to me that the insurance and brokerage business attract a remarkably large proportion of the famous athletes, and that if a man is a famous athlete he is likely to find that these two trades are the easiest of all.

In a country which has made a cult of baseball, the athlete who wins a golf or tennis title or wins a lot of ball games or whatnot, in many cases discovers that insurance or stock or bond selling comes easy to him because there is a large element of people who feel honored to deal with him. This is merely another manifestation of that pride which the man felt who said he would never wash his right hand again because that hand had touched the head of John L. Sullivan.

I have heard an alternative suggestion which might have solved Von Elm's problem years ago, but I present it only by way of showing extreme opposite viewpoint. This suggestion is: "Don't expect to be a kid all your life. When you grow up, go to work."

Lightning Strikes Ed Dudley While on Golf Course

Oreland, Pa., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Big Ed Dudley of Concord was struck by lightning early tonight as he putted on the 34th green in the annual Philadelphia open golf tournament at the Manufacturers' club. The incident, together with a heavy storm that followed, canceled the day's tournament. Dudley was not seriously injured.

The Concord pro was leading the field at the time, having turned in 72 on the first 18 holes. He had a steel shafted putter in his hand when the lightning traveled down an umbella over him. The bolt apparently leaped to the club and into the ground.

A few minutes later the rain increased and the players hurried to the clubhouse. Dudley complained of his leg, which was growing stiffer. He said he did not believe he would be able to compete tomorrow.

The scores of the day were canceled by the committee in charge and winners will be determined on tomorrow's 36 hole play.

Upsets Become a Habit with Chief John; He Wins at 8-1

BY FRENCH LANE.

Some of these days Chicago race goers are going to begin to respect a 3 year old called Chief John, which races for John Marsch of Chicago. So far they haven't given him much of a tumble, although he romps along and wins numerous races at tall odds.

He shocked the scoffers in the Berwyn purse at Hawthorne yesterday. He gave them a genuine setback when he won the mile and a sixteenth battle and in the mutuels paid $18.96 to win, $6.46 to place, and $3.24 to show.

The colt made it a real day's work when he came from last place at the head of the stretch to win going away from the Lemar stable's Morsel by a length. A nose back of the two leaders was the faxorite Kincsen.

Wins Often at Good Odds.

Less than a week ago Chief John had beaten just about the same field. That day he paid 14 to 1. And only about a month ago at Arlington Park he rolled home on top and was at 11 to 1. Of course he's looked at a lot of flying heels in the meantime, but the folks who have played Chief John consistently are far ahead on the season.

Only five went to the post in the Berwyn. There was lots of backing for Kincsen, quite a plunge on Morsel, and Old Ironsides had some backers. Nobody seemed to want a ticket on Who Win, from Ald. Coughlin's stable, or on Chief John.

As the race started Ironsides, breaking on the fly, rushed into a lead that made him loom up as an almost certain winner. Kincsen was running second and Morsel was plodding along in third place. At times going down the backstretch Ironsides was four lengths in front and it looked like he could have pulled out into a much longer lead.

Morsel Takes Lead.

As the field hit the last turn Morsel began to move up and when he had straightened out for the run home his nose was showing in front. Kincsen was running second and the tiring Ironsides was dropping back so rapidly it seemed doubtful if he would beat any of them.

On the extreme outside Chief John began running like his old daddy, Sir John Johnson, used to run. He fairly bounded over horses. They were within 50 strides of the finish before he finally headed Morsel. He was going so fast he couldn't hesitate and make it a close finish. Ironsides wound up in fourth place and the only horse he beat was Who Win.

Chief John ran the mile and a sixteenth in 1:45, a little more than a second off the track record. It was good time and Chief John will begin to pick up some weight pretty soon. He was ridden by Jockey C. Corbett.

Sweet Scent Wins Tattler.

A fashionable band of fillies and mares met in the Tattler purse at six and one-half furlongs, and Sweet Scent was the winner by a length from Martha Jones, with the favorite, Voltagreen, third. Sweet Scent led nearly all the way and was drawing clear of her field as she neared the line of finish. She had been the second choice in the betting and was at $4.72 to win.

Only two favorites, Whizz James and Miss Marr, both 2 year olds, were able to win throughout the afternoon. So in 52 races since the Hawthorne season opened only 11 favorites have been able to nod to the judges.

GRIMM MISSES CHANCE TO CRASH INTO BIG SIX

With baseball's big six idle yesterday, Charley Grimm, Cubs' first baseman, had an opportunity to get into the honored group, but one hit in three times at bat was the best he could do with Glenn Spencer's offerings. As the result he still trails Bill Terry, who has the lowest average of the sextet, by two points. The standings:

INHOSPITALITY IS SOX THEME WITH EASTERN TEAMS

Faber Faces Washington Today.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox are fixing to be as inhospitable as possible to those ornery eastern baseball teams, the first of which comes to town this afternoon. The first callers are the Washington Senators and they will engage the resuscitated Sox in four games.

Red Faber, who has become a sort of grand old man of the American league in recent weeks, will seek to get the eastern clubs started on a schedule unsatisfactory from the eastern point of view. Red scored a 2 to 0 shutout over the Browns the last time he worked and says he'd just as soon give the second place Senators a similar tanning. Tomorrow Thomas will seek to prolong his victory habits and Thursday Frasier will seek to get back in stride after a relapse against the Browns.

With Welland in better form than he ever showed after his first day with the Sox several years ago, and Pat Caraway again doing his stuff, the Sox face the eastern clubs in better shape than they have been at any time this year. The recent internal flareup served to arouse the men and cause them to resent the ludicrous position in which they had been cast. No Sox team in five years has been bearing down quite so much as the present team during the last month.

Here Are the Figures.

They still have some grudges to settle with the eastern fellows for indignities suffered earlier in the season, as the following tabulation reveals:

Philadelphia has won 13 out of 15.
New York has won 11 out of 14.
[The three Sox victories all were won in the last series.]
Washington has won 10 out of 18.

The Boston comparison is more favorable to the Chicagoans, for the Sox have won 8 out of 14.

The Sox have won 42 games thus far this year and only nine of these have been taken from the straight, place and show teams in the league. The Sox won 62 games last year to finish in seventh place. They have 48 games in which to win 23 to beat their won and lost record of last year, and half of these are against eastern teams, with which they have won 17 and lost 40 so far this year. This showing includes the games with Boston, of course.

Get Better Breaks.

In addition to playing better baseball recently, the Sox haven't suffered from tough breaks so much as formerly. There even have been times when the luck seemed to favor the Chicagoans, something it never did during the season.

The Sox also have weeded out most of their double headers, which is a fine thing for an undermanned pitching staff such as the Sox have had and still have to some extent.

The net of these things is that the Sox have high hopes of playing better than .500 baseball during the stand against the easterners. If they do they may reasonably expect to have a good hold on fifth place when the travelers move back east.

SCHAAF FIGHTS SNYDER TONIGHT IN BOSTON RING

Boston, Mass., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Ernie Schaaf will test his newly discovered knockout punch against rugged Angus Snyder of Dodge City, Kas., tomorrow night in the Boston Garden's ten round heavyweight feature.

The Boston sailor, considered just another heavyweight until he flattened Jimmy Maloney twice in a few weeks, is favored to upset the Kansas youngster, who will be facing his first major opposition since he broke his left hand against Emmet Rocco last November. Snyder, during a brief but impressive career, always has managed to remain upright in every bout.

SOX PITCHER AND BRIDE

Pat Caraway, White Sox pitcher, arrives at Union station with his bride, the former Harriett Christenson, of Oregon, Ill., where they were married yesterday.

Pat Caraway, Oregon Girl, Are Married

Oregon, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Cecil ("Pat") Caraway, left hand pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, this afternoon married Miss Harriett Christensen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berndt Christensen of Oregon.

While their engagement was announced seven weeks ago, the date of the wedding had been kept secret and today's ceremony was a quiet affair. The bride was attended by her sister, Sylvia, with Elmyr Laughlin of Oregon the best man. The Rev. A. R. Bickenbach, former pastor of the Oregon Presbyterian church, officiated. The couple left immediately for Chicago.

The bride was graduated from Oregon High school, but for the past three years has been making her home in Chicago.

Pat Caraway is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Caraway of Gordon, Tex. He attended Texas schools, graduating from Gordon High. He was pitching for Topeka of Western league when he attracted attention of big league scouts.

WILFRID JONES WINS NATIONAL OPEN NET TITLE

Wilfred Jones of Boston, Mass., won the men's singles championship in the third annual national lawn tennis tournament at Washington park yesterday by defeating Dr. M. Goff of Wheeling, W. Va., 6-1, 7-5, 6-4.

It was an interesting match, although Jones' chops and hard service made it apparent early that he would win.

Attorney Henry E. Moore, representing the mayor, presented the Anton J. Cermak tropay to Jones.

In a challenge match for the Oscar E. Carlstrom trophy, donated by the attorney general of Illinois, Jones defeated Edward G. Brown of Chicago, 6-3, 7-9, 6-4.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 10.—The Lester Sweetland jinx over the Pirates is in temporary eclipse. Its effectiveness which had bowled over Pittsburgh four times this season was brought to a halt this afternoon when a wild throw by Lester Bell wiped out a Cub lead and sent the Pirates on their way to victory before a skimpy house of approximately 1,000. The score was 4 to 3.

Bell's blunder, from a Pirate viewpoint, was a sort of atonement for what he had done to them earlier in the game. With the Chicagoans trailing by one run in the fourth and with a mate on base, Bell banged a homer high into the right field seats. It put the Cubs in the lead by 3 to 2 and also completed their damage for the day against the pitching of Glenn Spencer. In the last five innings the youngster gave up only two hits.

Sweetland Is Wild.

Bell's decisive error happened in the eighth and let score a man who had helped himself to the fourth hit off Sweetland's southpawing. But in the absence of hits the Pirates enjoyed the extreme generosity of the ex-Philly. He walked nine men in eight innings, one of these being half of two runs with which his adversaries inaugurated the day's scoring. And in the ninth he walked another. This became the winning run when Bob Smith, who rushed forth as relief man in a bad situation, couldn't prevent a Pirate drive from arching out into open territory.

The beginning of the end came when Sweetland's tenth pass went to Lloyd Waner at the start of the ninth. He was sacrificed to second by Grantham. Smith was called in at this point to pitch to Comorosky, a right handed batter. As soon as Smith was formally announced, Comorosky was yanked for Brame, a left handed swinger. Smith fanned him. Then the second pitch to Traynor wafted out into right center and Waner dashed in from second with the concluding run.

At Philadelphia Today.

The Cubs moved on this evening in the direction of Philadelphia where they open a four game series tomorrow. Malone will try to tame the Phillies and Sheriff Blake probably will be assigned the job of stopping his former mates.

One was out in the second before Sweetland got himself into the mixup from which the Pirates extricated two runs. Paul Waner walked and Grosklos, the young collegian, doubled to left, P. Waner halting at third. As a matter of strategy Phillips was purposely passed, but the move didn't work out satisfactorily. Thevenow, instead of being an easy victim, doubled to left, P. Waner and Grosklose scoring and Phillips pulling up at third. Sweetland escaped further damage when Spencer lined to Barton and Baby Waner to Dan Taylor.

If Grantham hadn't gotten his glove in the path of a whistling liner in the third, the Cubs might have had something worth hanging on the score board. With one out, Sweetland walked, Blair popped to Traynor and English walked. Cuyler drove a low liner just a few feet inside of first base and Grantham, by making a leap, managed to get his glove on the ball and hold it.

A pass to Barton started the fourth, and the Cubs didn't quit until they were ahead by 3 to 2. The fourth ball to Barton was a wild pitch so he went as far as second and scored almost immediately on D. Taylor's single to center. Grimm was tossed out by Spencer and Hartnett popped to Thevenow. Then Bell spanked his homer into the second floor of right field, D. Taylor preceding him across the plate. Sweetland and Blair followed with singles, but English couldn't give them any help.

Sweetland Has Troubles.

Among the troubles encountered by Sweetland after the second was a shaky fifth in which he walked two

DE MAY SHOOTS 123 TO RETAIN CADDIES' TITLE

Sheppard 2d in Annual Tourney with 122.

Repeating his victory of last year, Harry De May of Oak Park Country club shot an 83—40—123 for the 27 holes and championship of the Chicago District Golf association caddy competition at Bob o' Link yesterday. More than 200 caddies, all under 18 years of age, competed.

In the team event, with 18 hole scores counting for the four caddies from each club, DeMay, supported by Harvey Sheppard, who has been undefeated as captain of the Austin High school golf team for the last three years, and was second in the all prep state championship this year, brought the District Golf association shield to Oak Park for the first time. Sheppard had a 81 and with Edwin Meyers' 96 and Walter Lawrence's 88, brought the total team score to 347 with Melinah trailing by six strokes with 353.

Medinah Makes Strong Bid.

Medinah put up a strong fight for the team event but was unable to match the strong playing of DeMay and Sheppard of Oak Park. Exmoor was third, with 357 and Indian Hill fourth with 364.

In the individual play, the six low players after the morning round played an additional nine holes for the championship. This took in scores up to 83 and included De May, 82; Sheppard, 81; John Anderson, Butterfield; Ray Grunt, Brookwood; Alex Drinka, Briergate and James Venuso, Flossmoor, all 83s.

De May Stars on Drives.

De May's experience and coolness brought victory for him. His drives were long and straight and his nerve in playing tough shots was remarkable.

In the caddymasters' event, Dave Melville of Illinois turned in a 76 to nose out George Blaar of Euclid Hill with 77, and Robert Munk of North Shore with 80. The team winners and low individual scores:

Fetz, Defending Titlist, Wins in City Golf Meet

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago's oldest annual golf event, the city amateur championship tournament, began yesterday on the greens and fairways of Jackson park where it has taken place for 27 years. A field of 112 competed in the championship flight, which was decided on the basis of match play for the first time in the history of the tournament.

The championship flight was restricted to players with a handicap of ten or under, while a first flight attracted 40 players with handicaps between 11 and 17. Another flight for golfers whose handicap is over 17 will get under way today and each of the three flights will carry a consolation bracket. Eighteen hole rounds will be played today and tomorrow, with 36 hole sessions starting on Thursday and continuing through the final battles Saturday.

Runnerup Is Victor.

Gus Fetz of the home club, the home made golfer who never took a lesson, demonstrated that he has designs on a second consecutive title by disposing of H. Hartung of the Curtiss Creek Country club, 8 and 7. Barney Lucas of Los Angeles, runnerup to Fetz last year, also won his first match, defeating J. B. Roche of Westward Ho, 4 and 3. Fetz will meet Charley Wolf of Wood Ridge today, while Lucas will be idle, having drawn a bye.

The field is one of the most representative of any tournament in the Chicago district this season, including golfers from several private clubs, daily fee courses and all of the public parks. Lucas headed a band of six pacific coast players who competed in the recent national public parks tourney at St. Paul, Minn., and dropped in on their way home. All won their matches yesterday.

Lincolnshire Four Win.

Ohio, New York, and New Zealand also were represented but failed to qualify. Four Lincolnshire players—Paul Smith, W. Dantolan, S. P. Brink, and H. C. Burkhard—scored a grand slam. Nineteen of the 27 Jackson park players entered won their matches.

HARRY HAINES IS ELECTED BY NET ASSOCIATION

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—Harry Haines of Decatur was elected president of the Central Illinois Tennis association at its annual meeting here today. The meeting was held in connection with the annual tournament, which has reached the semi-finals in the singles and the quarter-finals in the doubles.

280 PLAY TODAY IN JUNIOR GOLF TOURNEY TRIALS

The 17th annual Western Junior tournament, with an entry of 280 boys between the ages of 16 and 19, will begin with the qualifying round today at Midlothian Country club. This is the largest field in the history of this event.

Many prominent amateurs have advanced from the junior tournament ranks. Ira Couch of Glen View, won the championship in 1923. Johnny Lehman, Olympia fields, participated for several years, but never was able to capture the crown. Two years ago Fred Lyon, Pontiac, Ill., carried away the honors. He was captain of the University of Illinois team last season.

Champion Over Age.

Charles Collins of St. Louis, 1930 winner, is unable to defend his title because he is beyond the age limit.

The contestants need not be members of private clubs. There will be only one flight, the championship, in which 32 players will qualify after an 18 hole medal round. Match play will begin on Wednesday and continue through Friday, when the finals will be played at 36 holes.

Day Among Early Starters.

The contestants will play in threesomes with Winfield Day Jr., of Elmhurst, among the 7:30 starters. Day is only 16 years old, but has had a great deal of experience in competitive play. Living in Florida last winter, he attended school in the morning and worked on his golf in the afternoon. He competed in the $15,000 La Gorce open, but failed to qualify.

BROWN'S GYM TO SEEK TEAM TITLE IN A. A. U. BOXING

Brown's loop gymnasium is going after team honors in the Central A. A. U. outdoor boxing championships to be held at Northwest stadium, Irving Park boulevard and Milwaukee avenue, on the nights of Aug. 25, 26, and 27.

This club has entered 21 boxers with the registration committee of the Central A. A. U. It is the largest team entry received. Kid Howard's gym, also competing in this tournament, won the Golden Gloves championship last winter.

The following will box for Brown's gym:

Don Elder, Tommy Ganley, Steve Dobrich, George Angus, Barney Hassen, Nate Hassen, Joe Junta, Joe Marfield, Lawrence Gunn, Alfred Oskilanec, Bill Riordan, Frankie Kevel, Clem Ducobu, Val Pertinac, Al Harlib, Don Messina, Dan Neenan, Vic Petracca, Bill Petracca, Al Stillo, Johnny Norton.

Entries were received yesterday from Milwaukee, Kenosha, and Waukegan.

LONDOS THROWS SZABO.

Rensselaer, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Jim Londos, 205, claimant to the heavyweight wrestling title, won from Sandor Szabo, 208, Hungary, here tonight. He threw Szabo once in 17 minutes.

Al Espinosa's 144 Leads Qualifiers in P. G. A. Trials

Al Espinosa of Northbrook shot 74—70—144 to lead a small but imposing field at Edgewood Valley yesterday in the qualifying round for the National P. G. A. tournament to be held at Rumford, Conn., Sept. 14 to 19. Thirty Chicago pros and two from out of the city competed for the seven places alloted to the Illinois P. G. A. in the national tournament.

Espinosa was the only player able to negotiate the stiff Edgewood Valley course under par 72. After taking a 74 in his morning round he came back in the afternoon to shoot a par shattering 35—35—70.

Laurie Ayton of Evanston, veteran of many P. G. A. tournaments, again qualified for the national event by carding 74—72—146 for second place. George Smith of Onwentsia and Abe Espinosa of Medinah tied for third place with 147. The other qualifiers were Frank Walsh, Bryn Mawr, 149; Sam Bernardi, Briergate, 150, and Jim Foulis, Ruth Lake, 151.

Jock Hutchison of Glen View and Harry Cooper of Glen Oak were two stars who failed to qualify. Both were putting poorly.

Espinosa's afternoon round was studded with five birdies, two of them coming on the first nine and three on the last. He had deuces on both the par 3 fourth and sixth holes. On the fourth he sank an eight foot and on the sixth he holed a 12 footer. Another six foot putt on the tenth gave him a birdie 3.

His long drive on the 14th landed in a bunker and he took a 6, one over par. A 15 foot putt on the 16th gave him his fourth birdie. He three-putted the 17th for a 5, one over par. His drive on the 18th sailed 300 yards, enabling him to hole out in 3, one under par.

SUN bakes the HAIR!

WATER parches the SCALP!

Save your Hair from the effects of Sun and Water!

Keep it manageable, smart —and healthy—with Vitalis

SUMMER SUN and water sports torture hair. It becomes bleached, split, straw-dull, from the beating heat... a tousled, unmanageable mat from the soaking water.

Sun and water not only rob the hair of its natural attractiveness, but shorten its none-too-long life. They're a perfect team for bringing dandruff and thinning hair.

2-Minute Summer Treatment

Of course you're not going to give up golf and tennis and swimming just to save the looks of your hair!

But you certainly won't begrudge the 2 minutes it takes to rub Vitalis into your scalp before you start those hours in the open! Vitalis will protect the natural oils that keep scalp and hair healthy. If the sun is scorching hot, it's wise to use Vitalis again when you come in.

You'll never have "patent-leather" hair with Vitalis. Vitalis is pure and clean, and it keeps the hair softly lustrous, neat and in place. Rubbed into the scalp, it starts circulation and counteracts that dry condition which leads to dandruff and falling hair.

Your barber knows why the best shops sell more Vitalis than any other hair preparation. And your druggist has Vitalis. Get a bottle!

1 Swimming is the champion hair rougher and ruiner. Its soaking action leaves the strands listless and dry, turns them into an unkempt, unmanageable mat. Apply a protective rub-in of Vitalis before you swim!

2 If you're bareheaded on links, court or bay your hair takes an awful beating from the searing sun! The blazing rays parch and split it. Perspiration takes out its lustre, and leaves it brittle and lifeless. And a shower will do it no good. You need Vitalis and you need it now.

3 In the summer, sweat does its best to harm your hair. Under even the lightest, smartest straw, hair fibres soak till they're dull and lifeless. The healthy, vital oils that are so important to hair are washed away. Play safe. Use Vitalis.

4 The barber prescribes Vitalis for run-down hair just as the doctor orders medicine for run-down systems. Both barber and physician have your interest in mind and their advice is built on sound experience.

WISCONSIN FOX RIVER PROVIDES HISTORY LESSON

Indian Agency, Marquette Spring Lure Canoeist.

BY BOB BECKER.

Canoeists or outboard motor fans who plan to pilot their craft down the Fox river, Wisconsin, beginning at the northeast canal just outside of the town of Portage, should not miss two historical landmarks on the upper river. Inasmuch as the Fox has locks and still are being operated, the water traveler doesn't have to worry about delay in a day's schedule and can take time out to see these interesting old landmarks.

A few days ago, when we covered a stretch of the upper river, we were quite intrigued by both of these historical sites which take one back to former days.

The Old Indian Agency.

The first is absolutely authentic. It is the old Indian agency house, built in the fall of 1832 opposite Fort Winnebago and on a little hillock overlooking the canal connecting the Fox with the Wisconsin river.

The second landmark is what is known as Marquette's spring. It is walled with a huge, hand hewn cross of oak, 7 feet high. The spring is a few miles above Princeton and about 40 feet from the river. The story is that Marquette, who is known to have paddled the Fox river in 1673 with his pirates, camped at this spring.

Story Probably Is True.

It is more than likely that he did because the wise canoe traveler always tries to find a spring for his evening camp. Anyway, a cross marks the spot. We stopped to drink at the spring and see the cross. It is made of six inch oak beams fastened together in typical pioneer manner with round wooden pegs instead of nails.

The traveler who slips his craft into the water of the old government canal outside of Portage passes within a stone's throw of the old Indian agency house built by John Kinzie in 1832. It is being preserved and restored by the Daughters of the American Revolution and today is in excellent condition.

Trading Table in Front Room.

In the front room one can see a weather old trading table about as old as the house. Standing on the front porch of this quaint, sturdy building you can look through the trees to the site of Fort Winnebago, built in 1828.

Fishermen who want to travel down the Fox to see this famous old water route and use a rod and line at the same time will find September or early October the best time. There is no small mouth bass fishing in the river, although much of the natural cover of the fish has been ruined by recent government dredging operations.

NO RAIN CHECKS! FANS STICK, SEE BATTAGLIA WIN

The species known as the dyed in the wool boxing fan is not extinct. More than 200 proved that last night when rain intruded on Mique Malloy's state middleweight boxing tourney at White City. A little thing like a downpour could not interfere with the proceedings and the show was completed, although most of the 4,500 had departed.

When the Tom Patrick-Buck Easterling bout had been concluded a shower threatened to halt the show, but Clyde Chastain of Texas and Al Stillman climbed into the ring and proceeded to fight through eight close rounds. Chastain proved better able to stand on the slippery canvas and was awarded the decision.

Battaglia Knocks Out Morse.

Then Malloy appeared, his head protruding through a huge sheet of wrapping paper.

"We better put off the Frank Battaglia-Johnny Morse fight," he suggested.

But the two fighters would have none of that and the several hundred spectators who had stood through eight rounds of rain hollered for more.

So Battaglia and Morse skidded into the ring and in a jiffy the match was over. Battaglia caught the Cuban with a right to the cheek and he slid across the canvas to be counted out after 27 seconds of the first round.

Leach-Burns Bout Off.

The third bout in the middleweight tourney scheduled between Gary Leach and Johnny Burns was called off. Leach notified the promoter that his hand was injured. Malloy had Haakon Hansen ready, but the state commission refused to permit the Norwegian to accept the assignment. This resulted in Patrick and Easterling being matched for a six rounder and the former showed his appreciation by pounding out a decision, once tipping over Buck for a nine count with a terrific left hook.

In the other bouts Marion Matuszak shaded Knute Dane, another Chicago heavyweight, in four rounds; Dick Sisk of the south side continued his winning streak by outpointing Johnny Rich of Cleveland in five rounds at 145 pounds, and Biff Bennett of Fort Sheridan knocked out Walter Madey, south side heavyweight, in the third round.

Among those huddled around the ring when the impromptu sitting in the rain party was organized was Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the boxing commission. Rain streamed down his forehead, easily penetrating a newspaper he held overhead.

George Getz, also of the boxing commission, sought shelter under the ring along with at least 50 others. "Watching" the bouts from down under provided a steady thunder of beating hoofs, but little action until Morse made the planks creak when he took his tumble.

JOHNSON'S BOUT WITH PHELPS IS GIVEN SANCTION

The Illinois state athletic commission has sanctioned the ten round bout between Larry Johnson, hard hitting Chicago colored fighter, and Owen Phelps, Phoenix, Ariz., boxer, at Dunbar stadium, Friday night.

Because of Johnson's demand that the weight be no lower than 180 pounds, and the fact that Phelps' best poundage is 165, it was feared that the commission would not give its consent to the match. However, it was pointed out that Larry hasn't had a glove on for four months. Phelps recently beat both Battling Bozo and Curley Bellanger, each of whom scaled 180 pounds against Owen.

Johnson and Phelps are hard at work at a loop gymnasium.

The eight rounders and a pair of four will comprise the supporting card as follows:

Tom Patrick vs. Buck Easterling, 8 rounds, 175 pounds.
Ben Moore vs. Ed Wills, 8 rounds, heavyweights.
Marion Matuszak vs. Marion Matuszak, 6 rounds, heavyweights.
Al Stillman vs. Pat McLaughlin, 6 rounds, lightweights.

BILL HEINLEIN LEADS INDIANA GOLF WITH 69

French Lick, Ind., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Bill, in masterful mood, swept all before it in the opening round of the first annual Indiana men's state amateur golf championship tournament here today.

Bill Heinlein's 69—three under par—was a starter, giving the Indianapolis lad, present state junior champion, a one-stroke lead over the rest of the sixty-five contenders in the first of two 18-hole qualifying rounds.

Five others with such startling performances as holding out from 150 yards to sinking 30 and 40-foot putts, trailed him. They stayed clear of traps and rough, and when the ball did get off the fairway occasionally, no recoveries were splendid.

Miss Standish, Bedford, with a par 37; 16-year-old Bobby Dale, Indianapolis, with 72, and Phil Talbott, Bloomington; Fritz Cox, Terre Haute, and Bill Bozet, Fort Wayne, with 75's, were the leads who furnished today's duffs.

HALTS DOG TRACK RAIDS FOR RULING ON INJUNCTION

State's Attorney Swanson said yesterday that further raids on dog racing tracks in the county would be halted until he could get an interpretation of Circuit Judge William V. Brothers' restraining order, issued at the request of the Thornton Coursing club and the Sportsmen's club. The prosecutor's assistants will go before Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude today to inquire whether the language of the restraining order against the state's attorney construes pari-mutuel betting at the tracks as common gambling.

men. Grantham assisted in this situation by grounding into a double play. Another outbreak of serious proportions appeared in the seventh. Sweetland fanned two men and Spencer was given a hit on a ball fumbled by Blair. L. Waner and Grantham walked, filling the bases. This brought up Comorosky, a right handed hitter. He did well by the Cubs by bouncing to Bell, who touched third to close the inning.

The Cubs spurned a golden opportunity to do something in the eighth. Dan Taylor led off with his third hit, a single to right. Grimm bunted, and Spencer, after hesitating about where to throw the ball, finally pegged wild to Grosskloss, who covered first. Taylor hiked to third before the loose ball was captured. Then the depression set in. Hartnett popped to Grosskloss back of first base. Bell was thrown out by Thevenow, and Sweetland, who bears a good reputation as a hitter, struck out.

Bell's Throws Wild.

Pittsburgh's tying run in the eighth got its start from a single by Traynor, the fourth hit off Sweetland. He went to second on a wild pitch. P. Waner was retired. Bell then committed the blunder which proved so costly. He picked up Grosskloss' roller and gave it an underhand toss high over Grimm's head, Traynor scoring and Grosskloss going to second. Phillips was purposely passed and Thevenow walked because Sweetland couldn't get the ball over. Spencer lined into a double play to end the inning abruptly. Then the Cubs did nothing in the ninth and the Pirates did.

YEARLING SALES AT SARATOGA TO START TONIGHT

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The first of the yearling sales which will prevail during the month will be held tomorrow night, when approximately forty go under the hammer. In all, upward of 600 head will be sold by the Fasig-Tipton company in the evening, and by Christopher Fitzgerald during the day. The night sales will be held at the Fasig-Tipton paddock, as in past years, while Fitzgerald's sale will be held in the paddock at the race course.

It is expected by E. J. Tranter, president of the Fasig-Tipton company, that more than $1,000,000 will be received for the yearlings to be sold. In other years the sales total has approached the $2,000,000 mark, but a smaller number of yearlings and lower prices are expected to reduce the figures this season.

SOMERVILLE'S 142 LEADS CANADIAN AMATEUR GOLF

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 10.—(AP)—C. Ross [Sandy] Somerville of London, Ont., defending champion, put together two rounds of 70 and 72 to win the 36-hole qualifying round of the Canadian amateur golf championship today.

Somerville's total of 142 gave him the lead by seven strokes over his clubmate and closest rival, Jack Nash, who posted 74 in the morning and 75 in the afternoon for 149.

Tied at 150 for third place were Fred G. Hoblitzel of Toronto and the chief United States threat, Jesse Guilford of Boston. Guilford, after trailing Somerville by only two strokes in the morning round, fell off badly in the afternoon with 78, but qualified for match play starting tomorrow. Hoblitzel's total came from a morning 74 and an afternoon 76.

McINTYRE TAKES THIRD STRAIGHT INDIANA OPEN

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Clean stroking consistency today won for Neal McIntyre his third state open golf championship.

Played to a standstill for 108 holes by Ralph Stonehouse, a youngster who lacks just a little of the golfing finesse that McIntyre has gained in years of tournament experience, the veteran came through with a 73 while the runner-up posted a card of 77 for today's third overtime round.

McIntyre's smooth sharpshooting throughout the four regulation rounds of the tournament, which ended last Wednesday, and in the three extra matches it took to determine the championship, is illustrated by his cards—76—73—73—74—73—74—73.

Stonehouse, on the other hand, set a strong pace in the first 36 holes with par cards of 71—71 and had a lead of five strokes on the field at the regulation halfway point. But in the last two rounds of the scheduled tournament he carded 76 and 73 for a 296 total that gave him a tie with McIntyre. He played stroke for stroke with McIntyre Thursday and Friday in the playoff matches, but today he seemed unable to stand the long grind.

VON ELM TAKES EXHIBITION FROM OPEN CHAMPION

Cleveland, O., Aug. 10.—(AP)—George Von Elm, who recently lost the national open golf title to Billy Burke, today turned the tables on his conqueror in an 18 hole exhibition match at Beechmont Country club here.

Von Elm cut three strokes from par 36 on the incoming nine to beat Burke by a medal score of 72 to 75. Burke had a two stroke advantage on the outgoing nine, carding 37 to 39, but slipped to 38 coming home while Von Elm made three birdies and six pars for a 33.

CHEATER BREAKS GRAND CIRCUIT PACING RECORD

Wright 2 Year Old Runs Heat in 2:03¼.

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Setting a new 2 year old pacing record, Calumet Cheater today won the Hedgemere stake as the Grand Circuit meeting opened at Good Time park.

The speedy 2 year old from William M. Wright's Calumet farm of Lexington, Ky., stepped the second heat in 2:03¼ for the new mark after winning the opening mile in 2:03½. The expected opposition from William H. Nelson's Quite Sure of Mount Kisco, N. Y., failed to materialize when the Nelson colt broke several times in both heats. In the second heat, Harry Brusie made up considerable ground with Quite Sure, but his efforts to catch the Calumet pacer in the stretch failed.

Honors for the opening day were evenly divided between the Calumet farm and the Newbrook farm, owned by P. Stacey Smith of Newark, N. J.

Calumet Aster made it a double for the Wright silks by accounting for the 2:19 trot. The 2:25 trot went to the Newbrook farm's Short Hills, with Happy the Great scoring in the Governor's cup—a free for all trotters event driven by amateur drivers. William Hodson of Hartford, Conn., had the reins in Short Hill's triumph and William Strang of Brooklyn was in the sulky for Happy the Great victory. Summaries:

FOLLOW ON IS FIRST IN $3,300 SENECA STAKES

Amory Entry Wins by a Head at Saratoga.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Mrs. Charles Mimot Amory's Follow On won the Seneca claiming stakes feature here today and made it two in a row for the Sagamore stable in the stake, which dates back to 1901. A year ago Mrs. Amory's Al Orose was placed first after a disqualification. Follow On needed no such help today, for he was clearly the best of the 13 that ran, although he won by only a head at the end of the six furlongs.

Close quarters and difficulty in getting through almost cost Follow On his winning chance, but Jockey Jean Bejshak persisted and found racing room to drive Follow On past the judges a winner over E. R. Bradley's Bathorse. Blue Day, carrying the Newtondale stable silks, was a fast going third, just edging Lullaby II. out of show money.

Winner Carried 116 Pounds.

Follow On carried 116 pounds and ran the distance in 1:12 to earn $9,300.

There was no determined support for any of the starters but Follow On went to the post the choice at 7 to 2, while George D. Widener's Condescend went up in the betting from 3 to 1 to 4 to 1.

The break found the two well played horses of none too well. Follow On was not long behind the leaders, but Condescend showed dull speed throughout and eventually brought up seventh.

Masked Ball Leads at Start.

M. R. Coe's Masked Ball was the early leader with Lullaby II. and Little America right with her. On the bend, Bejshak had Follow On right behind them but could not get through, as Bathorse moved up and added to his troubles. Masked Ball faded in the stretch with Lullaby II. holding on better to stay in the lead momentarily.

Follow On and Bathorse were still full of run and they went past Lullaby II. easily to fight it out for the victory.

Jefford Wins Two Races.

The first owner's double of the meeting was scored when Walter M. Jefford's Ironclad won the Genesee and his Alles Vite took the Columbia. Ironclad is a gelded son of Man O'War from Violet Mahoney, while Alles Vite is a Man O'War filly from May Alley. The gelding went to the post favorite but Alles Vite was a long shot.

Jockey Frank Coltiletti, who was beaten on General Lejaune, the hot favorite in the curtain raiser, was up on Ironclad, and, after a delay at the start, got him on top quickly. Once in front, Ironclad stayed there, although he had to be ridden out to beat Knowlton by half a length.

HOWDIZ, also carrying a heavy weight, $117, was in the early running, but finished fast. TADDYWAY raced wide and was never dangerous. CADAWEWIYA was in the inside in the early running and was in close quarters on the far turn.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $1,500. Allowances. Two year olds. Net value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50.

MISS MARK took a short lead soon after the start and, racing gamely, held on long enough to win. UNENCUMBERED came fast on the inside in the stretch and was gaining at the end. FRENCH HONEY was a forward factor throughout. LEGGY was never a threat. MAD WIND could not keep up.

CHIEF JOHN outran early, came strongly on the outside in the stretch and, closing with a rush, got the front in the last sixteenth to win going away. MORSEL moved up gamely to catch IRONSIDES and take a short lead in the run home, but could not last. LINCHEN was allowed to drop too far back of IRONSIDES in the early running and, finishing well, might have been dangerous under more energetic handling. IRONSIDES was hustled into a good lead on the back stretch and had little left for the final drive. WHO WIN swerved to the inside in the stretch run and was in close quarters.

STREET SINGER went to the front at once and, saving ground where possible, raced gamely after being headed by ISLAM in the stretch to catch the latter again in the final furlong and score a driving victory. ISLAM, showing much improvement over his last effort, saved ground in the last quarter and finished a certain winner after getting to the front at midstretch, but could not withstand the gameness of the winner. JIM ORMONT raced wide at the stretch turn, finished well, but was never dangerous. JOE PARRISH was never a factor. RIDE A WEE and JOHN MACKLER tired.

MADCAP MARVIN was in close quarters around the first turn and was forced to take back, but made up ground steadily during the back stretch run and, coming fast on the outside in the run home, got to the last fifty yards and won going away. ELLEN N. raced well up from the start and took a short lead when BLUSHING MAIDEN began to tire in the last eighth, but could not last. FLO O'NEIL finished well to get third place in the last stride. BLUSHING MAIDEN took a good lead after turning for home, but tired badly. PAL TO PAL made up ground. TRANSGRESSION and FLYING PLUM backed up when the real racing began.

GLEDHILL BEATEN IN SECOND ROUND OF TENNIS MEET

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The defeat of the American intercollegiate champion, Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, Cal., by Jake Hess Jr., of Austin, Tex., was the only upset registered in the eastern turf court championships here today. Gledhill, who holds the national clay court doubles crown with Ellsworth Vines Jr. of Pasadena, lost, 6-4, 6-1, in a second round match.

British players showed to advantage in both the men's and women's play. While Fred Perry, newly risen star, was idle from singles play, his countryman, George Patrick Hughes, made short work of Harry Moore, youthful White Plains player, 6-1, 6-2, in another second round match.

Joan Ridley and Mrs. Elsie Goldsack Pittman, English women who failed to gain places on the Wightman Cup team which lost to the United States last week, played fine tennis to gain the quarter finals along with six home players. Mrs. Pittman was especially impressive in downing Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere, Boston, 8-6, 6-2, while Miss Ridley was hitting well, though extended, in defeating Barbara Stoddard of Westbury, N. Y., 6-0, 8-6.

$50,000 OFFER NOT ENOUGH FOR BURNING BLAZE

Nash Brothers Reject Bid for 2 Year Old.

The Valley Lake stable, owned by the Nash brothers, Dick and Pat, of Chicago, is reported to have received an offer of $50,000 for the two year old Burning Blaze, which recently won the Post and Paddock stakes at Arlington. The offer was turned down, according to persons in close touch with the Nash brothers' stable affairs. When Burning Blaze won the Post and Paddock he defeated nearly all the best two year olds from the east.

Max Murphy, old time clerk in the Hawthorne racing secretary's office, yesterday was appointed paddock judge to succeed Arthur Blanchard, who died suddenly Sunday morning. Murphy is a native of Milwaukee, but moved to Chicago a dozen years ago.

Sun Beau, the world's money champion in Willis Sharpe Kilmer's stable, yesterday was shipped to Saratoga, where he will try for the Saratoga cup. Sun Beau has not raced at Saratoga since he was a three year old, when he took a couple of sound lickings at the hands of Reigh Count and Chance Play. Several other sons of Sun Briar owned by Kilmer traveled east with him.

Unless old Mike Hall's ailing tendons respond to treatment soon he will be retired from the turf, it was announced yesterday by R. M. Eastman, his Chicago owner.

Few horses have enjoyed a more sensational turf career than Mike Hall. He began racing in a $2,000 claiming affair. It wasn't long before he was beating all the best long distance runners in America. At 5 he was sent to England to compete against the best route travelers in Europe. He failed. He came back to America and performed so badly it looked as if his racing days had ended.

Then he was shipped to Mexico and wound up a campaign there by winning the $100,000 Agua Calients handicap last March. But he hasn't accomplished much since. Maybe he thinks he has done enough for a horse that started out as a selling plater. Most people think he has.

Whizz James, a stablemate of Plucky Play, which conquered Sun Beau last Saturday, finally crashed through and won a race as yesterday's program opened. He was a $19,000 yearling at the Saratoga sales last August. He is a son of St. James-Whizz Bang. But until he met the slow band of maidens in yesterday's opener he didn't know anything about the winner's circle.

DAY AND KLEKO CLASH TONIGHT IN TITLE BOUT

The Central A. A. U. featherweight championship bout between Davey Day and Joey Klako will top Promoter Pep Kerwin's Western stadium eight bout boxing show at Western and Devon avenues, tonight.

Day, the champion, and Kleko, the challenger, will weigh in at 126 pounds at Brown's loop gym 2 o'clock this afternoon. Roy E. Davis of the Central A. A. U. sanctioned the bout as a title affair. If Kleko succeeds in defeating Day he will be awarded Day's championship belt and a championship certificate by Kerwin.

Mike Kamis, who defeated Val Pinko, but lost to Bruce Borrelli, Pinko's recent knockout victim, and Pinko will meet in the semi-windup. Golden Gloves champions will appear in supporting bouts, the first at 8:30 o'clock.

WILBUR SHAW IS FIRST TO ENTER NEXT ROBY RACE

Wilbur Shaw, who won three sprint events at the Roby-Chicago speedway in the last meeting, is the first pilot to enter in the 100 mile event to be run at the south side track Aug. 30.

With Shaw's entry in hand, Promoter Beam expects to induce some of the leading figures in the auto racing world to compete with him. Shaw has long been a favorite with Chicago fans, his handling of his tiny car on the turns always furnishing thrills.

LIQUIDATION OF FOREMAN BANKS HALF FINISHED

Remaining Assets Are $112,000,000.

BY O. A. MATHER.

In the two months since the Foreman-State National and Foreman-State Trust and Savings banks were absorbed by the First National-First Union Trust banking group, the liquidation of the Foreman-State banks has been more than half completed.

When the big deal occurred in June the Foreman-State banks had approximately 220 million dollars of assets and liabilities. In addition the First National-First Union Trust received a subsidy of $10,000,000 from the Chicago clearing house banks and a further guaranty of $2,500,000 from a group of Foreman-State stockholders against loss in liquidation.

Slower Future Rate.

Yesterday the Foreman-State assets, including the guarantees, had been liquidated down to about 112 million dollars and the liabilities had been reduced to around 61 million. In other words, if 73 millions is realised out of the 112 million dollars the banks and Foreman-State stockholders will be free of their guarantees and the stockholders also will be relieved of their liability.

It should be understood, however, that further liquidation will be at a much slower rate. While there appears to be an excess of about 39 million dollars in assets, about 30 million of this is represented by the Foreman-State and State Bank buildings and real estate mortgages. Moreover, these are also other slow and doubtful assets, which are likely to show considerable depreciation.

Depends on Realty Market.

It is likely to be some time before the Foreman-State stockholders can know how they will come out, particularly in view of the present situation of the Chicago real estate market. For at one time it appeared that the big Foreman-State bank building at La Salle and Washington streets might be sold to the Marshall Field estate, which owns the adjoining Conway building. But the decision of the Field estate to go ahead with its big office building project at La Salle, Adams, and Clark streets is understood to have ended the negotiations. Similarly, the State bank building at La Salle and Monroe streets remains to be sold. The two buildings were carried at $12,400,000 on the Foreman-State National bank's books.

It now appears, the liquidation will relieve both the Chicago banks and the Foreman-State stockholders of liability, and there is even a chance that the stockholders eventually may receive a nominal amount on their interest. However, the latter contingency is subject to final liquidation that may take several years to accomplish.

MAY GARFIELD ACTION

A decision on the plan proposed for liquidating the Garfield State bank, at West Madison street, was delayed yesterday by State Auditor Nelson. Following a meeting with a depositors' committee, headed by Fred [illegible]worth, Mr. Nelson said a decision might be reached at a second meeting, scheduled for this afternoon.

The bank had $4,650,458 on deposit when it closed. Its resources were listed at $7,302,435, of which $4,715,326 was represented by real estate. It is understood that the auditor requires $1,500,000 of new capital to be added for reopening of the bank, but he would consider permitting a reopening with half that sum provided the reorganization committee could persuade depositors to waive immediate claim on 50 per cent of their deposits.

In the sixty-five closed state banks of Cook county on which the auditor has reported the amount of deposits is put at $67,909,246, the records show. Of this total deposit liabilities and other items the banks carried on their books in the sum of $130,194,263, a considerable percentage of which is represented by loans secured by real estate.

Omer P. Stelle Organizes Investment Firm of Own

The formation of a new investment firm by Omer P. Stelle was announced today. The new organization will have offices in the Bankers building and will engage in the distribution of investment, corporation, and public utility securities. Mr. Stelle was until recently associate vice president of Albert E. Peirce & Co. He graduated from Northwestern university in 1916 and prior to going with Albert E. Peirce & Co. was engaged in the public utility field with Dawes Bros., and with the Central Public Service corporation.

Asserts Cut in Wage Scales May Be Found Necessary

BY SCRUTATOR.

In November, 1929, after the collapse of the stock market, President Hoover held conferences with business leaders at which it was agreed that a concerted effort would be made to maintain existing wage scales.

This experiment has been under way for nearly two years and its results have so far not been particularly satisfying either to labor or industry.

Prices have been successively reduced, unemployment has increased and corporation earnings have been continuously lower.

The outcome will depend largely on what kind of business depression this is. Julius Barnes, who favors maintaining wage scales, says: "This depression, like all previous ones, is a pause in business progress."

If Business Picks Up.

If the pause is about ended and business is to pick up this fall then the plan may work out. If it is to be a protracted period of readjustment such as that following the panic of 1873 then maintenance of wage rates by fiat or agreement can hardly be hoped for.

The larger economic movements, it has been repeatedly demonstrated, are beyond the control of man. During the war the prices of everything shot skyward. In the ensuing 13 years of peace definite readjustments have been under way.

Figures from the bureau of labor statistics shows that from 1920 to 1929 the cost of living declined 18.1 per cent. To June, 1930, it dropped another 2 per cent and there has since been a further recession.

Temporary success of certain strenuous attempts to check receding commodity prices has only precipitated sharper drops when the inevitable had to be faced. Witness the British attempt to keep up the price of rubber, the Brazilian coffee fiasco and the machinations of our own farm board. After spending many millions of the taxpayers' money to stabilize the price of wheat, quotations are so low that statisticians have to go back to the reign of Queen Elizabeth to find an equal.

Not Welcome "Relief."

Obviously this is not the kind of "relief" that labor wants. And in justice to the laborer as well as the manufacturer it is only fair to seek to determine if it is the kind that he is destined to get.

Maintenance of wage scales is a real thing to the man who has a steady job but it's only a shibboleth to the unemployed or those working part time. In June, 1931, employment was 72.2 per cent of the 1926 level, but total pay roll was only 62.5 per cent. The bureau of labor statistics in its July bulletin figures that the number of workers employed by manufacturing industries in May was only 15.5 per cent below May, 1930, but that the amount of the pay roll had dropped 24 per cent.

The national industrial conference board finds that in 1930 plasterers and bricklayers were averaging $1.70 per hour. Average earnings in the building trades in October last year were $1.47 per hour. Wages were maintained but employment was scarce.

It is hard to believe that all our cities are overbuilt in all types of structures and that no one needs more room. With the prices of materials down may it not be that building is held up by a dam of wages? And if it can be demonstrated that building would be stimulated by a reduction in wage levels would not labor profit more by working five or six days a week at $9 per day than two or three days or less at $12?

Equivalent to a Raise.

With reductions in the cost of living the workers whose wages remain the same have in reality enjoyed an increase in pay provided they have steady employment. At the same time many of their co-workers are without jobs in order that a few may be retained at the old rate.

After painful adjustments are made labor usually profits greatly by a long downswing in prices, for history shows that the decline in wages is always slower and never goes as far as the reduction in the cost of living, just as wages lag behind prices on the upswing.

In the period from 1870 to 1896, although the condition of different types of workers varied greatly, prices fell more than 50 per cent while wages of skilled workers declined on the average less than 10 per cent.

CRUDE RUBBER SELLS AT 5 CENTS A POUND; LOWEST IN HISTORY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—Crude rubber today sold at five cents a pound, the lowest price reached in the history of the rubber trade. Declines in the contracts ranged from 10 to 30 points. The five cent level was established by August old contracts on the call.

Weakness in the market was attributed in part to the demoralized break in cotton prices, which lost heavily on the unexpectedly large crop forecast by the government. This sympathetic weakness appeared first in the London rubber market, where prices were down more than 2 pence to new record lows.

Prices declined here under the weight of liquidation and stop loss selling influenced by the weakness in London and Singapore, the latter market being at the previous record low.

Traders regarded today's declines as a further reflection of a still existing excess supply of crude against current needs.

Stocks of crude rubber in London on Aug. 8 totaled 81,711 tons, an increase of 376 tons over the preceding week. Liverpool stocks were 55,236 tons, an increase of 455 tons.

General Motors Files Suit to Release $909,895

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The General Motors corporation today began action before Judge Hefligman in Common Pleas court to dissolve an attachment by which the Martin-Parry corporation has tied up $909,895 of the motor company's deposits in a bank here. The attachment was the result of a dispute over the sale of the Martin-Parry plants in Indianapolis and twenty other cities. The dispute involves the inventories of the Indianapolis plant and the other branches. The purchase price to General Motors for the inventories was based on the Martin-Parry corporation's book value of $1,298,881.

Shipments of Pneumatic Casings in June Increase

Shipments of pneumatic casings in June amounted to 5,571,886, an increase of 2.9 per cent over May and 5.3 per cent over June last year, the Rubber Manufacturers association reports. June production totaled 5,672,463 units, practically unchanged from May, but an increase of 10.7 per cent over June last year. Pneumatic casings on hand June 30 were 10,447,210 units, an increase of 1.3 per cent over the figure at the end of May, but 21.3 per cent under the total at the end of June, 1930.

Austria Seeking Aid in Selling $21,500,000 Bonds

VIENNA, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The Austrian government has approached the league of nations for aid in selling $21,500,000 worth of treasury bonds, it was officially announced tonight. The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of repaying to the Bank of England the short term loans made to Austria at the time of the collapse of the Creditanstalt, large Austrian bank.

St. Louis, Aug. 10.—(AP)—An injunction to restrain sale of Independent Packing Co. of St. Louis to Swift & Co. was denied today by Circuit Judge Harry A. Hamilton. Stockholders of the local company will vote on the proposal tomorrow.

PEACE REPLACES FORMER DISCORD IN FARM BODIES

Minneapolis, Minn, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Peace and harmony today had replaced discord, temporarily at least, in the relationship between the Farmers National Grain corporation and northwest regional cooperatives with temporary arrangements for handling of the 1931 crop.

Confidence that the working arrangement would ultimately lead to a permanent agreement was expressed in a statement issued by A. L. Berg, Baltic, S. D., president of the Northwest Grain association. The statement was issued after a meeting of Northwest association directors and C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers' National, yesterday, when a plan to accept temporary financial aid from the latter organization was agreed upon.

Grainmen also understood the American Wheat Growers of Aberdeen, S. D., would benefit in the financial assistance of the Farmers National.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS DECLINE IN LIGHT TRADE

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The curb market began the new week with an irregular lower tendency, in desultory trading. Oils and some of the more active utilities and specialties were well supported, but many thinly traded specialties of various descriptions appeared at substantially lower prices.

Electric Bond and Share was traded in lighter volume than usual and moved narrowly, closing up ½. Considerable selling appeared in Niagara Hudson, which declined ½ point to 10¼, which is only a point above the year's low. Associated Gas and Electric common appeared at 11, a new low and off 5 points. This issue is thinly traded, however, and the class "A" stock, enjoying a more active market, lost only a minor fraction. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore sold off 3½. Cities Service was actively traded, closing unchanged at 9¼, after sagging to 9.

Thomas E. Wilson Reports Business Near Last Year's

Thomas E. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co., said the company's business is running pretty close to last year on a tonnage basis, but is somewhat less on a dollar basis. "We are currently showing a profit," he said, "but it would be impossible at this time to undertake to estimate the year's results."

July Is Packard's Best Month Since October, '30

Packard Motor Car company shipped 1,996 cars in July, the biggest month since October, 1930, according to H. W. Peters, vice president in charge of distribution. July shipments would have been greater if the company had been able to give its distributors a full line of body types, he said.

HEAR ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST RAIL RATE BOOST

Easterners', Farmers' Views Conflict.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—Eastern business interests supported while farmers, through the National Grange, opposed the plea of the railroads for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates in the hearing today before Commissioner B. H. Meyer, of the interstate commerce commission and Commissioner W. D. B. Ainey, of the Pennsylvania commission. This marked resumption of a session that probably will last for two weeks.

Eye Railroad Bonds.

Additional evidence supporting the railroads' petition was submitted by Philip A. Benson, an official of the Dime Savings bank of Brooklyn, N. Y., speaking for the committee representing life insurance companies and mutual savings banks. The passing of such institutions as investors in railroad bonds was a probability, said Mr. Benson, unless the railroads earned their fixed charges one and one-half times as required by the law of New York.

Declaring that adequate transportation service by railroad was a vital necessity particularly to congested metropolitan areas, J. M. Davison, vice president of the Commercial Traffic Managers of Philadelphia, Pa., representing more than a hundred commercial houses in the Philadelphia area, said "we are not seeking increases in freight rates on our traffic, but if the commission finds an emergency exists in which the railroads need additional revenue to give service adequate to the needs of commerce, and that additional revenue can be secured by increasing freight rates, we shall accept that decision without question."

Cites Farm Depression.

Inability of the farmer to bear higher freight charges because of his depressed financial condition was urged by Fred Brenckman, representative of the National Grange, as reason why the commission should deny the petition for an increase in rates. L. J. Taber, master of the grange, also testified in support of the grange's position.

Representing the Texas Gulf Sulphur company, Fred Juenger testified 80 per cent of his company's shipments have been diverted from railroad to water routes and added that the rate increase would drive to boats at least 50 per cent of the sulphur now shipped by rail.

P. G. JOHNSON IS ELECTED HEAD OF UNITED AIR LINES

United Air Lines, parent organization of National Air Transport, Boeing Air Transport, Pacific Air Transport and the Varney Air Lines, incorporated in Delaware yesterday and elected new officers, P. G. Johnson, president of National Air Transport, becoming head. United Air Lines' planes fly 12,000,000 miles per year and carry about 60 per cent of the nation's air mail, besides passengers and express, it is reported.

Other officers elected were: B. F. Rentschler of New York, chairman of the board; Lester D. Seymour and Paul Henderson, vice-presidents; C. E. Brink, treasurer, and G. F. McCarthy, secretary. United Air Lines is now operating between forty cities in eighteen states. According to the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce it is now the largest air transport corporation in the world in point of mileage flown.

World Break in Cotton is Sequel to U. S. Crop Report

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—One of the most drastic world-wide declines in the history of cotton took place at the opening today when futures plunged down as much as $7.50 a bale to about $32.50. The move was in sympathy with the discouraging crop estimate of the department of agriculture on Saturday when prices crashed more than $7 a bale in the Chicago cotton market on the Board of Trade after other markets were closed.

The October delivery on the New York cotton exchange sold at one time during the morning at 6.70 cents a pound, a decline of 142 points from the close on Saturday. A brisk covering movement by operators for the decline later brought the month back to 6.80 cents a pound.

Prices held steady near the low levels after the initial decline and the volume of trading was small.

Exceeds Private Forecasts.

The government crop estimate on Saturday gave a probable yield for the United States of 15,584,000 bales for this season, or about 1,500,000 bales higher than the average of forecasts made privately.

Commenting on the crop report, the department of agriculture says: "In interpreting conditions as an indication of probable yield, the board made allowance for crop loss due to boll weevil. Weevil damage will be somewhat higher than last year, but considerably less than the average during past 10 years. In southeastern states weevil damage is about equal to last year, and for western states it appears to be somewhat greater than last year."

Cotton experts said that the huge crop was due to almost perfect weather throughout the belt. As one put it: "It was just like turning hose on and off in a garden," despite the fact that farmers used on an average 25 per cent less fertilizer, the favorable temperature and moisture conditions gave the crop a running start.

Lowest Since 1899.

With the running crop estimated at 15,584,000 bales and a probable world consumption of 11,500,000 bales, 4,000,000 bales would be added to the carryover from last season which is estimated at 9,000,000 bales.

This staggering supply of cotton, traders said, is too much for the market to carry and it was predicted that the price might slide down to the all-time low level of 5 cents a pound, recorded during the panic of 1893.

The price here at 6.7 cents a pound was the lowest since January, 1899, when October sold at 6.66 cents a pound. Heavy selling from southern dealers together with hedge and stop loss selling brought about the decline.

Stabilization Cotton.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Carl Williams, cotton member of the farm board, believes the American cotton surplus is already so large the addition of approximately 1,500,000 bales would not make much difference to traders and growers.

Stocks should be reduced this year, he added, since it is estimated consumption of American cotton will be 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 bales greater than a year ago.

Stabilization cotton, or stocks held by cooperatives, will not be forced on the market by price declines, he said, venturing the opinion there may even be less inclination on the part of the Cotton Stabilization corporation to sell any of its holdings. The farm board has not yet announced its sales policy on stabilization cotton for this crop year.

New Cotton Cloth Business.

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—New business in standard cotton cloths booked during July amounted to 82.2 per cent of production, the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York reported today.

Production during the month amounted to 192,545,000 yards, or at the rate of 48,136,000 yards per week for the four weeks, a decline of 7.5 per cent under output in June.

July shipments totaled 211,321,000 yards, equivalent to 109.8 per cent of production, and new business booked amounted to 158,353,000 yards.

Stocks on hand as of July 31 were 269,449,000 yards, a decrease of 6.5 per cent during the month and a new low figure for stocks since these figures became comparable on Jan. 1, 1928.

Liverpool Prices Crash.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 10—United States cotton forecasts threw the British market in pandemonium today. Prices fell to their lowest level in a generation on the Liverpool exchange while the manufacturers at Manchester who have been praying for cheap cotton ever since business went bad, found levels tumbling so rapidly that business was paralyzed.

STOCK DIVIDEND OF 2½ PCT. PAID BY PARAMOUNT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—Directors of Paramount-Publix corporation today declared a stock dividend of 2½ per cent, or 1-40 of a share, in lieu of the quarterly cash dividend of 62½ cents. The action was not unexpected in Wall street, where it has been felt for some time that the company would provide some substitute for a cash dividend in view of obligations which probably will have to be met within the next six months amounting to $11,500,000 to redeem stock, guaranteed as to price, issued in connection with theater purchases.

ADOLPH ZUKOR.

The change in the method of dividend payment made by the directors is the second which has occurred this year. In the first quarter the company paid $1 in cash continuing the $4 annual rate. In the second quarter, in view of decreased earnings, the annual rate was reduced to $2.50 by the declaration of a quarterly cash dividend of 62½ cents. The stock dividend declared yesterday had a market value, at the closing price last night, of approximately 57 cents.

Adolph Zukor, president, in announcing the stock dividend said that estimated net earnings of the company for the first six months of this year had been approximately $1.82 a share and that as of June 30, the consolidated cash balance of the company had been $8,400,000, against bank loans of $5,000,000. He said that the payment of a cash dividend would have been continued except for the unusual circumstances attendant upon the stock guarantee.

U. S. STEEL REPORTS DROP OF 74,507 TONS IN UNFILLED ORDERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—[Special.]—The United States Steel corporation reported today a decrease of 74,507 tons in unfilled orders in July to a total of 3,404,816 tons as of July 31. In June the decrease was 141,129 and 277,277 in May.

The decrease was just about in line with what Wall street expected. July is usually a month of small changes in United States Steel tonnage. Last year an increase of 53,991 tons was recorded and in 1929 unfilled orders dropped 168,733 tons.

Operations in July were at the lowest rate of the year, averaging about 32 per cent of capacity, and the management endeavored to keep production and business as close as possible to new orders. Demand was small, a normal experience at mid-summer, although the slackness was emphasized by the extreme depression in the industry.

Grants Ford Cut in Tax Valuation on N. J. Plant

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—The Bergen county, New Jersey, board of taxation has granted to the Ford Motor company a reduction of $1,000,000 in the taxable valuation of its Edgewater property. Frederick P. Saum, one of those voting for the reduction, in a prepared statement, said the board had been "guilty of discrimination" in increasing the assessment.

The board has assessed the assembly plant and annexes at $3,285,750. James F. Gannon Jr., former director of revenue and finance of Jersey City, testified as an expert that the land and buildings were worth $2,200,000. Mr. Gannon admitted on cross-examination the cost of construction was between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000, but said the estimate value could be based only on the present market value.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 10.—Adverse news factors in the domestic field today overbalanced favorable reports from Germany regarding yesterday's referendum vote, with the result that prices again inclined toward lower levels.

Continued liquidation of leading railroad shares, combined with battering of cotton futures and a poor report of the United States Steel corporation on unfilled orders, was more than sufficient to unsettle the list. Stocks were slightly firmer in tone at the close and there were some important exceptions to the rule of lower prices, but Wall street could see little cause for rejoicing when the final gong had sounded. Average losses were from one to two points, but ran as high as 7 in the railroad group.

Interest centered to a great extent in the world's cotton marts, causing a further shrinkage in the volume of stock transactions. Only about 800,000 shares changed hands.

Heavy at Start.

Stocks launched themselves today with heaviness, as the keynoters and railroads were under considerable pressure from the outset. Liquidation continued, although in diminished volume, and the close found such leading carriers as Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Erie, Norfolk and Western, Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, and New Haven off from 1 to 7 points. Canadian Pacific, which was hammered down to a new low during the early operations, rallied later and closed with a net gain of 1¾ points.

The industrial list also showed weakness in most sections. The U. S. Steel corporation's tonnage report, showing a decline of 74,507 tons during the month, had only mild effect. It had been discounted to a very large extent, but nevertheless the stock and other steel issues were fractionally lower. International Harvester, Sears Roebuck, Worthington Pump, Eastman Kodak and General American Tank Car were among industrials that gave ground rather easily. Utilities were quiet and dull, as were also the oils and motors.

American Tobacco issues and a few other substantial stocks such as Johns-Manville and Industrial Rayon composed the favorable side of trading. These registered gains of one or two points.

Railway Signal Drops.

General Railway Signal, which for the last week or two has been one of the outstanding weak points in the market's armor, yielded ground again today. It closed off two points after touching a new low at 40. A reduction in the dividend rate, now standing

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES DECLINE; VOLUME LIGHT

Houdaille-Hershey Rumor Denied by Barnes.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Activity on the Chicago exchange yesterday centered in few of the more popular stocks, but the turnover was extremely light and price changes were slight. Final quotations in most instances represented some recession from last week's closing prices.

Houdaille-Hershey B stock was the most active issue on the board. A denial was issued during the day by Claire L. Barnes, president of the company, of the reports that General Motors and Ford were both negotiating for the acquisition of the concern. He stated no negotiations of any kind were being carried on with the companies mentioned in the reports. Trading in the stock continued fairly active, however, and finished slightly higher for the day.

Bendix Holds Firm.

Bendix maintained a firm tone throughout the trading period. Directors of the company will meet today at South Bend. The forthcoming earnings report of the company is expected to show around 70 cents a share for the six months ended June 30. Formal announcement of the three new products which the concern has developed is expected shortly. In addition to a free wheeling device and a chassis lubricating system the company has developed an automatic starting appliance which has been adopted by Hudson and Packard.

North American Light and Power and U. S. Radio were off slightly on the day's trade. Late supporting orders helped each issue to finish above the day's low price. Activity was at low ebb among the specialty shares.

U. S. Gypsum was firm on light trade. According to one estimate this company will show full year dividend requirements covered in its six months earnings statement to be released in the near future.

Bulova Cuts Dividend.

Directors of the Bulova Watch company yesterday reduced the dividend on the common stock from $1.50 to 80 cents annually through the declaration of a quarterly dividend of 20 cents.

Net profit for the quarter ended June 30 was $152,964 which was equivalent after preferred dividends to 40 cents a share on 275,000 no par common shares outstanding. This compares with $193,671 or 54 cents a share on the same basis in the corresponding 1930 period.

GERMAN ISSUES ON GOTHAM BOND MART DO BETTER

New York, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Bonds wavered narrowly today and closed with irregular losses.

Foreign loans, particularly German obligations, benefited from the weekend news of the Prussian election. Various other bonds in this group were strong in the early trading, but reacted before the close. The advance in the German issues appeared first in the 5½s of 1965 and the 7s of 1949, of the national government, but it spread to most of the municipal, provincial, industrial, and public utility loans. Net gains ranged from fractions to 8 points, the extent of the advance in Leipzig 7s; Australian and Norwegian issues were generally higher, but other foreign obligations declined irregularly.

Banking Group Offers Boston Transit Issue

A banking group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. is offering $21,000,000 metropolitan transit district of the commonwealth of Massachusetts 2.75 per cent notes today. The notes are due April 14, 1932. They are for the purpose of purchasing bonds of the Boston Elevated Railway company. The district comprises Boston and environs. These "company bonds" will be 40 year 6 per cent bonds, which are to be issued to provide funds for the retirement of the company's preferred stock. The district is directed to hold the company bonds until their maturity or until the retirement of all bonds and notes of the district issued to obtain funds to purchase the company bonds. The notes are offered at prices to yield 2.10 per cent. Associated with Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in the offering are the following: Kountze Bros., Central Hanover Bank and Trust company, Paine, Webber & Co., Ames, Emerich & Co., E. B. Smith & Co., Phelps, Fenn & Co., Dewey, Bacon & Co., Blanke Bros. & Co., and G. M. P. Murphy & Co.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Financing for the great bridge which is to cross San Francisco bay between San Francisco and Oakland, Cal., is expected to involve an issue of $75,000,000 tax exempt long term bonds. Negotiations for the marketing of the issue are to be started soon, as construction of the bridge is to begin in a few months.

No bids were received yesterday for the $3,000,000 loan which was offered to the highest bidder by the city of Philadelphia.

LAKE PARK AND 55TH HOLDING TO BE REORGANIZED

Preliminary Step Taken Yesterday.

BY AL CHASE.

Transfer of the 400 car garage property at the southwest corner of Lake Park avenue and East 55th street was made yesterday as a preliminary step in reorganization. Most of the bondholders have deposited their securities with the recently formed bondholders' committee. If all are received a request will be made to dismiss foreclosure proceedings. A new loan will then be negotiated and the proceeds distributed to the bondholders, with stock in the project given them for their remaining interest.

Title to the corner was transferred by Gould O'Neill by quitclaim deed to Perry G. Zimmerman of the Chicago Title and Trust company, Walter C. Palmer of the Chicago Title and Trust company is secretary of the bondholders' committee.

Once Oldtime Theater.

The Jefferson theater stood on this corner for many years. H. P. Reger, building contractor, who owned the 60x118 lot on the corner in September, 1923, giving him a total of 120x154. At that time he contemplated erecting an eight story office building, but instead sold the property to the Ritz-55th Garage company, which was controlled by the Milton J. Collier interests.

They erected the present garage building at a reported cost of $700,000 in 1923. A bond issue of $450,000 was underwritten at that time by Lackner, Butz & Co.

Buys Apartment Hotel.

Jesse F. DeTamble of Wilmette, real estate and hotel man, yesterday purchased the four story Dearborn type apartment hotel at 1447-51 North Dearborn street, containing 115 rooms. It stands on a lot 100x132. The seller was the First Union Trust and Savings bank, trustee.

Mr. DeTamble also has taken title, through a quitclaim deed, to the three story apartment hotel at 1510-12 North Dearborn parkway from Rufus F. Cook, Thompson, Tyrell & Chambers, his attorneys.

The twelve apartment building at 4236 North Francisco avenue, lot 66x125, has been sold by Joseph H. Omer of 4239 North Sacramento avenue to Elizabeth Crothers of Memphis, Tenn., for an undisclosed consideration.

GRAIN MARKETS FIRMER; PRICES AVERAGE HIGHER

Wheat at Minneapolis in Sharp Advance.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

While conflicting influences had considerable influence on the wheat market and resulted in rather erratic fluctuations, the market as a whole yesterday showed a strong undertone and prices averaged higher, the finish being at net gains of 1¼@1⅝c, with the September closing at 50@50¼c; December, 53⅜c, and May at 58¾ to 58¾c.

Spreaders were active in wheat, buying at Winnipeg against sales in Chicago, and there was also aggressive buying in the Canadian market which was regarded as against export sales, with the result that the close there was 2¼@2⅝c higher, October finishing at 56¾c. The Minneapolis market furnished a surprise, advancing 4¾@5c from Saturday's finish, with stop loss orders uncovered on the way. Expectations of a sensationally bullish government report on spring wheat was a factor in the latter market, as winter wheat cannot be delivered on future contracts there.

Millers Buy Wheat.

Pit observers said they saw evidence of free buying of futures by millers who were presumably hedging against liberal sales of flour. While there was little said regarding export business in hard winter wheat, sales of over 250,000 bu Manitobas were known to have been made, and it develops that Chinese purchases of American grain at the Pacific coast have amounted to 2,500,000, the quantity not being given. The wheat is wanted for relief of the population in the section visited by the recent record breaking floods.

Taken as a whole, the general run of reports from Europe was somewhat more favorable to holders, as Russian and Danubian offers to the united kingdom were somewhat firmer, and Liverpool failed to follow the sharp drop in North American markets on Saturday, closing ⅝@1¼d lower, with October at 55¾c. So far this season Russia has chartered room for 70,000,000 bu of all grain, against 23,000,000 bu for the same period last year, according to private cables.

Accumulation of wheat at terminal markets continues on a liberal scale, and the visible supply increased 2,289,000 bu for the week and now aggregates 220,943,000 bu, the largest total in the history of the country, compared with 165,501,000 bu last year.

Corn Breaks and Rallies.

Weather conditions over the belt were more favorable for the new corn crop, heavy rains being reported in many sections. The March and May sold at a new low for the season, but there was sufficient buying by locals and commission houses to absorb the offerings and the close was at the top. Net gains were ⅛@1c, with December showing the most strength. September finished at 50⅝c; December, 46⅝@46¾c, and May, 44⅛@44¾c. Evening up for the government report and the strength in wheat were largely responsible for the late upturn.

December corn seems to be receiving good support under 40c, according to pit brokers, and some resting orders to take the nearby new crop month were in evidence on the early break which carried the price off to 38¾c, equaling the inside figure of the season. Shipping sales were only 64,000 bu. An increase of 571,000 bu in the visible supply made the total 8,754,000 bu, against 3,046,000 bu last year.

May Oats Sell at 26c.

May oats sold at 26c early, a new low on the crop, with hedging pressure and liquidation a factor. Later there was buying by cash interests, and with the late strength in corn a rally came that carried prices up 1@1⅛c from the low and the close was about the top, with net gains of ⅝@¾c; September, finishing at 22⅝c; December, 24½c, and May, 26¼c.
